‘करकंडचरित’ के दर्शन मुझे प्रथम बार सन् १९२४ में कारंजा के सेन गण भंडार में हुए थे। तदनुसार ग्रंथ का कुछ परिचय सन् १९२६ में मध्यप्रांतीय सरकार द्वारा प्रकाशित संस्कृत-प्राकृत हस्तलिखित ग्रंथों की सूची में दिया गया था। खोज करने पर इसी ग्रंथ की पांच और भी प्रतियां मुझे देखने को मिलीं। इन सब प्रतियों का सूक्ष्म अवलोकन कर प्रस्तुत संस्करण तैयार किया गया है।

ग्रन्थकार

इस ग्रंथ के कर्ता मुनि कनकामर हैं। उन्होंने अपना नाम ग्रन्थ की प्रत्येक सन्धि के अन्त में अंकित कर दिया है। प्रारम्भ में उन्होंने अपने गुरु का पंडित मंगलदेव नाम बनलाया है और अन्तिम प्रशस्ति में उन्हें ही बुध मंगलदेव कहा है। विशेष हाल तो इन मंगलदेव का ज्ञात नहीं हो सका किन्तु सम्भवतः ये वेही बुध मंगल हैं जिनका बनाया हुआ धर्मरत्नाकार नामक ग्रन्थ मिलता है। इस ग्रंथ की एक प्रति कारंजा के बलात्कार गण मंदिर में है।

अन्तिम प्रशस्ति में कर्ता ने अपना कुछ और भी परिचय देने की कृपा की है। उन्होंने कहा है कि वे ब्राह्मण वंश के चन्द्र ऋषि गोत्र में उत्पन्न हुए थे और वैराग्य लेकर वे दिगम्बर मुनि होगये। तब से उनका नाम कनकामर मुनि प्रसिद्ध हुआ। वे भ्रमण करते हुए ‘आसाइय’ नगरी में पहुंचे और वहीं रहकर उन्होंने प्रस्तुत ग्रंथ की रचना की। इस रचना को उन्होंने जित सज्जन के अनुराग से प्रकाशित किया वे एक बड़े योग्य, व्यवहार-कुशल, धर्मात्मा पुरुष थे। वे विजयपाल नरेश के स्नेहभाजन तथा उनके मुख-दर्पणवत् थे, उन्होंने भुवाल नरेश का मन मोह लिया था, तथा वे कर्ण नरेन्द्र के चित्त का मनोरंजन किया करते थे। उनके तीन पुत्र थे, आहुल, गल्हो और गहुल। ये तीनों कनकामरजी के चरणों में अनुरक्त थे।

सिद्धसेन, समन्तभद्र, अकलंक, जयदेव, स्वयंभू और पुष्पदन्त का उल्लेख किया है। इनमें से समय की अपेक्षा सबसे अन्तिम पुष्पदन्त ही ज्ञात होते हैं। इन्होंने अपना महापुराण सन् ९६५ ई. में समाप्त किया था। अतः इतना तो निश्चय हो गया कि ग्रंथ सन् ९६५ के पश्चात् और १५०२ से पूर्व बना है। जिस 'आसाइय' नगरी में रहकर कवि ने ग्रंथ-रचना की उसका भी निश्चय नहीं होता कि वह कहाँ थी तथा जिन राजाओं का उन्होंने उल्लेख किया है उनका भी कुछ निश्चित इतिहास ज्ञात नहीं है। कारणों की प्रति में 'आसाइय' नगरी पर 'आसापुरी' ऐसा टिप्पण है। इसमें जान पड़ता है कि उस नगरी को आसापुरी भी कहते थे। खोज करने पर इस नाम के अनेक स्थानों का पता लगा। एक तो 'आसाई' नाम का इतिहास-प्रसिद्ध वह स्थान है जहाँ सन् १८०३ में मराठों और अंग्रेजों का युद्ध हुआ था। यह हैदराबाद राज्य के औरंगाबाद जिले के अन्तर्गत है। यह अब एक छोटासा ग्राम है। उसका पूर्व इतिहास कुछ विदित नहीं है। दूसरा खानदेश में आसीरगढ़ नाम का किला है जिसका यह नाम वहाँ स्थापित आमादेवी परसे पड़ा। कहा जाता है कि इस किले को मांसरी वंश (लगभग सन् ६००) के एक नरेश ने अपनी पुत्रप्राप्ति की आशा पूर्ण होने के उपलक्ष्य में बनवाया था। किले के पास का एक छोटासा ग्राम अब भी 'आसी' कहलाता है। एक तीसरा आसी नाम का स्थान राजपुताने के बृन्दी राज्य में है। यह भी एक किला है। पंजाब के कांगड़ा जिले के अन्तर्गत कीरग्राम से बारह मील दूरी पर एक पहाड़ी है जिसकी चोटी पर आमापुरी देवी की स्थापना है और जिसके कारण वह स्थान आमापुरी कहलाता है। इस मंदिर को एक राजा चंदमान के पुत्र विजयराम ने बनवाया था। पाठक नाम पर से विजयराम को इस ग्रंथ के विजयपाल ठहराने का इरादा न करें क्योंकि ये विजयराम सत्रहवीं शताब्दी में हुए हैं और प्रस्तुत ग्रंथ जैसा ऊपर बतला आये हैं, इससे पूर्वही बन चुका था। इत्यादि। किन्तु इन नाम मात्र की समानताओं से हमें हमारे ग्रंथ की रचना के स्थान का निर्णय करने में विशेष सहायता नहीं मिलती, जब तक किसी स्थान के साथ उपर्युक्त राजाओं का भी कुछ इतिहास न पाया जावे। यदि नाम मात्र पर से स्थान का निर्णय करने को जी चाहे तो अंग्रेज-मराठा युद्ध वाली 'आसाई' अधिक उपयुक्त जँचती है। एक तो ग्रंथ में निर्दिष्ट 'आसाइय' से इसमें विशेष शब्द-साम्य है और दूसरे वह आगे चलकर बतलाई हुई करकंदू की गुफाओं के, और स्थानों की अपेक्षा, अधिक समीप है। यह सम्भव है कि मुनि कानकासर इन गुफाओं का दर्शन करके ही वहाँ आये हों और उसी प्रभाव में उन्होंने इस करकंदू-चरित की रचना की हो। सम्भव है विजयपाल और उनके पुत्र यही राष्ट्रकूट नरेश कृष्ण के आधीन राज्य करते हों। कृष्ण पुष्पदन्त के समय में थे। पुष्पदन्त ने उनका उल्लेख 'कण्ह' नाम से किया है। उसका अपभ्रंश रूप कण्ण भी हो सकता है।

इस ग्रंथ में करकण्ड (अपभ्रंश-करकण्ड) महाराज का चरित्र दश संधियों में वर्णन किया गया है। संक्षेप में यह कथा इस प्रकार है। अंगदेश की चम्पापुरी में धाडीवाहन राजा राज्य करते थे। एकवार वे कुसुमपुर को गये और वहां पद्मावती नाम की एक युवती को देखकर उसपर मोहित हो गये। युवती का संरक्षक एक माली था जिसे वातचीत करने आदि से पता लगा कि वह युवती यथार्थ में कौशाभ्यी के राजा वसुपाल की पुत्री थी। जन्म-समय के अपशकुन के कारण पिता ने उसे जमना नदी में बहा दिया था। राजपुत्रा जानकर धाडीवाहन ने उसका पाणिग्रहण कर लिया और उसे चम्पापुरी ले आये। कुछ काल पश्चात् वह गर्भवती हुई और उसे यह दोहला उत्पन्न हुआ कि मन्द मन्द बरसात में मैं तरुण धारणकरके, अपने पति के साथ, एक हाथी पर सवार होकर, नगर का परिभ्रमण करूं। ऐसा ही प्रबन्ध किया गया। किन्तु दुष्ट हाथी राजागनी को लेकर जंगल की ओर भाग निकला। रानी ने समझा बुझा कर राजा को एक वृक्ष की डाली पकड़ कर अपने प्राण बचाने पर राजी कर लिया और आप उस हाथी पर सवार रहकर जंगल में पहुंची। वह हाथी एक जलाशय में घुसा। उन्ही समय रानी ने क्रुद कर वन में प्रवेश किया। उनके प्रवेश से वह सूखा हुआ वन हरा भरा हो गया। इस खबर को सुन कर वनमाली वहां आया और रानी को बहिन मान कर अपने घर लिवा ले गया। कुछ दिनों के बाद ही मालिन को पद्मावती के रूप पर ईर्ष्या उत्पन्न हो गई और किसी बहाने से उसने उसे अपने घर से निकाल दिया। निराश होकर रानी स्मशान भूमि में आई और वहीं उन्हे एक पुत्र उत्पन्न हुआ जिसे एक मातंग [चाण्डाल] उठा कर ले चला। रानी के विरोध करने पर उसने कहा कि वह यथार्थ में एक विद्याधर था। एक मुनि की शाप से मानेन होगया। उस शाप का प्रतीकार मुनि ने इस प्रकार से किया था कि जब करकण्ड का दन्तिपुर के स्मशान में जन्म हो तब उसे बालक को ले जाकर उसका लालन पालन करना चाहिये। बड़ा होने पर जब उसे उस नगर का राज्य मिल जायेगा तब वह मातंग पुनः विद्याधर हो जायेगा। उसके इस प्रकार कहने पर तथा बालक का यथोचित रूप से लालन पालन करने की प्रतिज्ञा करने पर रानी ने अपना पुत्र उसे सौंप दिया। उस मातंग ने बालक को अच्छी तरह रक्खा और स्वयं खूब पढ़ाया लिखाया। उस के हाथ में कण्डू (सूखी खुजली) होने से उसका नाम

करकंडु पड़ गया। जब वह युवावस्था को प्राप्त हुआ तब एक दिन दन्तीपुर के राजा का परलोकवास हो गया। उसके कोई पुत्र नहीं था इससे राजमंत्रियों ने यह व्यवस्था की कि एक हाथी को एक भगवा घड़ा दिया जावे, और उससे वह जिस व्यक्ति का अभिषेक कर दे वही राजा बना लिया जाय। इस विधान में करकंडु का भाग्य चमक उठा। किन्तु उसे मातंग-पुत्र जानकर मंत्री और नगर-निवासी अपना राजा स्वीकार करने में हिचकिचाये। इसी समय उस मातंग को अपनी विद्याधर-ऋद्धि प्राप्त होगई और उसने सबका समन्वय करके करकंडु को राजा बनवा दिया। कुछ समय पश्चात् ही उनका विवाह गिरिनगर की राजकुमारी मदनचली से होगया।

अपने विस्तीर्ण राज्य को पूरा जमाकर करकंडु ने एक बार मंत्री से पूछा 'हे मंत्री ! क्या कोई ऐसा राजा है जो अभी भी मुझे मस्तक न नमता हो ? मंत्री ने उत्तर दिया, महाराज ! अगर तो सब राजे आपकी अधीनता स्वीकार करते हैं परंतु द्रविड देश के चोल, चेर और पाण्ड्य नरेश आपको नहीं मानते। राजा ने उनके पास दूत भेजा जिसको उन्होंने यह कह कर विमुख कर दिया कि हम जिन भगवान् को छोड़ और किसी को भी सिर नहीं झुका सकते। यह उत्तर पाकर करकंडु ने यह प्रण किया कि यदि मैं इन राजाओं के मस्तक पर अपना पैर न रखूँ तो सब राजपाट का त्याग करदूँ। उन्होंने तुरंत ही उनपर चढ़ाई कर दी। मार्ग में वे तैरापुर नगर में पहुंचे। वहां के राजा 'शिव' ने आकर उनसे भेंट की और बताया कि वहां से पास ही एक पहाड़ी के चढ़ाव पर एक गुफा है, तथा उसी पहाड़ी के ऊपर एक बड़ी भारी वामी है जिसकी पूजा प्रतिदिन एक हाथी किया करता है। यह सुनकर करकंडु शिवराजा के साथ उस पहाड़ी पर गये। उन्होंने गुफा में श्री पार्श्वनाथ भगवान् का दर्शन किया और ऊपर चढ़कर उस वामी को भी देखा। उनके समक्ष ही हाथी ने आकर और पासही के एक तालाब से कमल तोड़कर उस वामी की पूजा की। करकंडु ने यह जानकर कि अवश्य वहां कोई देवमूर्ति होगी, उस वामी को खुदवाया। उनका अनुमान यथार्थ निकला। वहां पार्श्वनाथ भगवान् की मूर्ति निकली जिसे वे बड़ी भक्ति से उन्नी गुफा में ले आये।

इस बार करकंडु ने पुरानी प्रतिमा का अच्छी तरह अवलोकन किया। सिंहासन पर उन्हें एक गांठ सी दिखी जो शोभा को बिगाड़ रही थी। एक पुराने शिल्पकार से पूछने पर उसने कहा कि जब वह गुफा बनाई गई थी तब वहां एक जलवाहिनी निकल पड़ी थी।

विद्याधर ने कहा कि एक समय दक्षिण विजयार्थ के रथनपुर नगर में नील और महानील नाम के दो विद्याधर भाई राज्य करते थे, किन्तु शत्रु से परास्त होकर वे वहां से भाग निकले और तेरापुर में आकर रहे। धीरे धीरे उन्होंने वहां राज्य स्थापित कर लिया। एक मुनि के उपदेश से उन्होंने जैनधर्म ग्रहण कर लिया और वह गुफा मंदिर बनवाया। इसी समय दूसरे दो विद्याधर भ्राता लंका की तरफ यात्रा को जा रहे थे। मलयदेश के पृथ्वी पर्वत पर उन्होंने एक रावण के वंशज द्वारा बनवाये हुए जिनमंदिर में एक सुन्दर जिनमूर्ति देखी। उन्होंने विचार किया कि ऐसी ही मूर्ति हम अपने यहां बनवावेंगे, इस हेतु वे उस मूर्ति को उठा कर ले चले। तेरापुर पहुंचने पर वे उस मूर्ति को पहाड़ी पर रख कर जिन मंदिर की वन्दना को गये। लौटकर आने पर जब वे उस मूर्ति को उठाने लगे तब वह नहीं उठी। निदान एक मुनि के उपदेश से उन्होंने उसे वहीं छोड़ा और वैराग्य धारण कर लिया। इनमें से एक भाई तो शुद्ध तपस्या करके स्वर्ग को गया और दूसरा मायाचारी के कारण मर कर हाथी हुआ। स्वर्गवासी भाई अवधिज्ञान से अपने भाई की दुर्गति को जान कर वहां आया और उसे जाति-स्मरण कराया जिसके कारण वह उस बामी की मूर्ति को पूजने लगा। ये समाचार सुनाकर विद्याधर ने करकण्डु को एक और गुफा बनवाने की सलाह दी। करकण्डु ने वहां दो गुफायें और बनवाईं।

इसके पश्चात् एक बड़े दुःख की घटना हुई। एक विद्याधर, हाथी का रूप धारण कर, आया और करकंडु को भुलाकर मदनवली को हर ले गया। करकंडु शोक में बहुत ही विह्वल हुए, किन्तु एक पूर्व जन्म के संयोगी विद्याधर के समझाने, तथा पुनः संयोग का आश्वासन देने पर समाधान हुए और आगे बढे। वे सिंहल द्वीप पहुँचे और वहां की राज-पुत्री रतिवेगा का पाणिग्रहण किया। उसके साथ जब वे जलमार्ग से लौट रहे थे तब एक भीम-काय मच्छ ने उनकी लौका पर धावा किया। उसे भागने के लिये वे शस्त्र लेकर और मल्ल-गांठ बांध कर समुद्र में कूद पड़े। मच्छ को तो उन्होंने मार डाला, पर वे लौटकर नाव पर न आ सके। उन्हें एक विद्याधरपुत्री हर ले गई। रतिवेगा के शोक का परावार न रहा। मंत्री झटपट बड़े को किनारे पर लाया। रतिवेगा ने पूजापाठ प्रारम्भ किया जिससे पद्मावती देवी ने प्रकट होकर उसे आश्वासन दिया। रतिवेगा के दिन वहीं पर धर्म कर्म में बीतने लगे। उधर करकंडु को वह विद्याधरी अपने घर ले गई और अपने पिता की आज्ञा

लेकर उसने उन्हे अपना पति बना लिया। वहां की ऋद्धि का उपभोग करके अपनी नवल वधू सहित करकण्ड पुनः रतिवेगा से आ मिले। अब उन्होंने चोल, चेर और पाण्ड्य नरेशों की सम्मिलित सेना का मुकाबला किया और उन्हे हराकर अपना प्रण पूरा किया। अपना पैर उनके मस्तकपर रखते समय राजा को उनके मुकटों पर जिन प्रतीमा के दर्शन हुये। यह देखकर राजा को भारी पश्चात्ताप हुआ। उन्होंने उन्हे पुनः राज्य देना चाहा, पर वे स्वाभिमानी द्रविडाधिपति यह कह कर तपस्या को चले गये कि अब हमारे पुत्रपौत्रादि ही आपकी सेवा करेंगे। वहां से लौटते हुए करकण्ड पुनः तेरापुर आये। यहां उसी कुटिल विद्याधर ने पश्चात्ताप पूर्वक मदनावली को लाकर उन्हे सौंप दी। वे फिर चम्पानगरी को लौट आये और वहां राज्य-सुख भोगने लगे।

एक दिन वनमाली ने आकर खबर दी कि नगर के उपवन में शीलगुप्त मुनिराज का शुभागमन हुआ है। राजा ने नगर में भेरी पिटवाई और भक्तिभाव सहित, पुरजनों के साथ, दर्शन को प्रस्थान किया। मार्ग में उन्होंने एक पुत्रशोक से व्याकुल, हा हा कार में मग्न अबला को देखा जिसमें उनके चित्त में संसार की अनित्यता, जीवन की असारता आदि भावनाएँ उठते लगीं। मुनि के पास पहुंच कर उन्होंने धर्मोपदेश श्रवण किया जिससे उनके चित्त में वैराग्य उत्पन्न होने लगा। फिर उन्होंने मुनिराज से तीन प्रश्न किये, उनके सुंदर शरीर होने पर भी उनके हाथ में कण्डू क्यों हुई, उनके माता पिता में अनिश्चय होने पर भी उनका धियोग क्यों हुआ, तथा उनकी प्रिया मर्याण्ठी को उस खेचार ने क्यों हरा? मुनिराज ने इन प्रश्नों के उत्तर इस प्रकार दिये। पूर्वजन्म में करकण्ड एक सेठ के यहां धनदत्त नामक खाल थे। एक दिन वह खाल भैंसे चराने गया था। उसे एक मरोगधर में बड़ा सुंदर कमल दिवा जिसे उसने तोड़ लिया। तब एक देव ने आकर उससे कहा कि तूने यह बड़े खादस का काम कर डाला। अब तेरी खैर इसमें है कि तू इसे जो विभुवन में बड़ा हो उसे चढ़ा देना, नहीं तो मैं तूसे मार डालूंगा। खाल ने विचारा कि मेरा स्वामी ही सब संसार में बड़ा है, उसकी अच्छे अच्छे मनुष्य सेवा करते हैं। इससे उसे ही यह पुण्य चढ़ाना चाहिये यह विचार कर वह सेठ के सम्मुख उपस्थित हुआ और अपना मन्तव्य प्रकट किया। सेठ ने कहा निश्चयतः मुझ से बड़ा राजा है, इसलिये तू यह फूल राजा को चढ़ा। जब राजा के समीप वह उपस्थित हुआ तब राजा ने मुनिराज को अपने से बड़ा बताकर उसे उनके पास भेजा और मुनिराज ने जितेन्द्र भगवान् के। अन्ततः उसने उस फूल से भगवान् की पूजा की जिसके फल स्वरूप उसे करकण्ड का उत्तम स्वरूप और अतुल वैभव प्राप्त हुआ, और क्योंकि उसने कीचड़ से लिपट हुए हाथ से वह कमल चढ़ाया, इससे उसके हाथ में कण्डू हुई।

दूसरे प्रश्न के उत्तर में मुनिराज ने कहा कि पूर्व जन्म में पद्मावती श्रावस्ती नगर के एक सेठ की स्त्री थी। उसने एक ब्राह्मण युवक के साथ दुराचार किया जिससे उसके पति ने विरक्त होकर तपस्या की और वह मरकर चम्पा का धाडीवाहन राजा हुआ। वह ब्राह्मण

मर कर हाथी हुआ। और सेठानी मर कर पुनः स्त्री हुई, उसने पतिवियोग का दुःख भोगा, किन्तु अपनी एक पुत्री के प्रयत्न से अन्त में धर्मध्यान से मरकर वह कौशाम्बी के वसुपाल राजा की पुत्री हुई, अशुभ जन्म के कारण जन्म में बहाई गई, पूर्वकर्मनुबंध से धाड़ीवाहन-द्वारा व्याही गई, उस हाथी द्वारा हरण की गई और अन्ततः करकण्डु की जननी हुई।

तीसरे प्रश्न का उत्तर मुनिराज ने इस प्रकार दिया कि पूर्व जन्म में करकण्डु के पास एक सुधा था जिसे वे एक पिंजड़े में बड़े प्यार से रखते थे। एक दिन उस सुए पर एक सर्प ने धावा किया जिससे करकण्डु ने उसकी रक्षा की और उसे नवकार मंत्र दिया। उस सर्प को भी मरते समय नवकार मंत्र का सुयोग मिल गया जिसके प्रभाव से वह एक विद्याधर हुआ और पूर्व वैरानुबन्ध के कारण उसने मदनावली का हरण किया।

यह वृत्तान्त सुनकर करकण्डु का वैराग्य और भी बढ़ गया और वे अपने पुत्र वसुपाल को राज्य देकर मुनि होगये। उनकी माता पद्मावती भी अर्जिका हो गई और उनकी गनियों ने भी उन्हीं का अनुकरण किया। करकण्डु ने घोर तपस्या करके केवलज्ञान और मोक्ष प्राप्त किया।

करकण्डुचरित की मूल कथा ऊपर कही जा चुकी है। इस कथा के अन्तर्गत नौ और छोटी बड़ी कथाएँ हैं जो करकण्डु की नीति सिखाने तथा मूल कथा की किसी बात को समझाने के लिये कही गई हैं। प्रथम चार कथाएँ दूसरी सन्धि में आई हैं और वे उस मातङ्ग-विद्याधर द्वारा करकण्डु की शिक्षा के लिये कही गई हैं। प्रथम कथा (२, १०-१२) में मंत्र-शक्ति का प्रभाव बताया गया है। एक राजा की पुत्री को एक राक्षस हर ले गया था। बहुत समय तक उसे बचाने का कोई उपाय नहीं निकला। निदान कञ्चौज के एक ब्राह्मण और एक वैश्य, दो पथिकों ने मंत्र शक्ति से उस राक्षस को वश में किया, राजपुत्री की रक्षा की और राजा से भारी सम्मान पाया। दूसरी कथा (२, १३) में अज्ञान से विपत्ति का उदाहरण है। दो मित्र धन कमाने घर से बाहर गये थे। मार्ग में एक राक्षस ने उन्हें धर पकड़ा। उनकी बहुत दुर्गति हुई होती किन्तु उसी मार्ग से एक ज्ञानी पुरुष आ निकला जिसने दया कर के उन्हें उस राक्षस के हाथ से बचाया। तीसरी कथा (२, १४-१५) में नीच संगति का कुपरिणाम समझाया गया है। एक होशियार सेठ था। राजा ने उससे कहा कि यदि तुम एक गाथा ऐसी पढ़ दो जिसमें ओंठ न मिलें तो मैं तुम्हें एक जागीर दे डालूँ। सेठ ने एक ऐसी गाथा पढ़ दी। राजा को बड़े संताप के साथ अपना वचन पूरा करना पड़ा। उस सेठ की एक चेटी से प्रीति होगई। चेटी ने एक बार राजा के मोर का मांस खाने की लालसा प्रकट की। सेठ ने राजा का मोर पकड़कर तो छिपा दिया और किसी दूसरे प्राणी का मांस लाकर उस चेटी को खिला दिया। फिर राजा के प्यारे मोर की तलाश हुई। उस पर इनाम थोला गया। तब उम्र चेटी ने सेठ का सब हाल राजा को कह सुनाया। राजा ने

नरवहन सेठ को फांसी का हुकम सुना दिया । किन्तु उस होशियार सेठ ने राजा का मोर ला उपस्थित किया और इस प्रकार उस नीच चेटी और भुद्र राजा से अपना पिंड छुड़ाया । चौथी कथा (२, १५-१८) में, इसके विपरीत, उच्च संगति का सुफल बताया गया है । एक बार एक राजा शिकार के लिये वन में गया था । भटकते भटकते उसे खूब भूख-प्यास लग आई, पर पास में कुछ न था । निदान उसकी भेंट एक बनिये से होगई जिसने उसे तीन फल खिलाये और पानी पिलाया । राजधानी को लौटकर राजा ने उस बनिये का बड़ा सम्मान किया, उसे अपना मंत्री बना लिया । बनिये की प्रीति एक वेश्या से थी । एकवार उसने राजकुमार को कहीं छिपा दिया, और उसके आभूषण लेजाकर उस वेश्या को दे दिये, और कहा कि इन्हे मैं राजकुमार को मार कर लाया हूँ । वेश्या ने अपने प्रेमी के हित की अभिलाषा से कहा, यह बात मुझसे कही सो कही, और किसी से नहीं कहना । निदान राजकुमार की खोजबीन हुई और किसी ने राजा को यह खबर दे दी कि मंत्री ने उसके प्राण हरण किये हैं । इस पर राजा ने उस मंत्री को बुलाकर कहा—मैं प्रसन्न हुआ । आज तुम्हारे खिलाये हुए उन तीन फलों में से एक का ऋण चुक गया । अब दो फलों का ऋण और वाकी रहा । राजा के ये वचन सुनकर मंत्री ने राजकुमार को ला उपस्थित किया और वे पुनः बड़े प्रेम से रहने लगे ।

पाँचवीं कथा कुछ बड़ी है । वह पूरी छठवीं सन्धि में समाप्त हुई है । इसे तेरापुर में एक विद्याधर ने मदनमञ्जरी के हरण से विह्वल करकंडू को यह समझाने के लिये सुनाई थी कि पति-पत्नी के निराशजनक वियोग के पश्चात् भी उनका पुनः संयोग हो जाता है । नरवाहनदत्त वत्सदेश का राजा था । एकवार उसकी रानी मदनमञ्जरी को एक विद्याधर हर ले गया । शोक से विह्वल होकर राजा ने आत्मघात करने की ठान ली और वह पास ही के वन में गया । वहाँ उसकी भेंट एक विद्याधरी से हुई जिसका प्रेमी विद्याधर एक ऋषिकन्या के शाप से सुआ बन गया था । उस ऋषिकन्या ने दयालु होकर यह भी बतला दिया था कि जब नरवाहनदत्त का विवाह रतिविभ्रमा नामकी विद्याधरपुत्री से हो जायगा तब वह पुनः विद्याधर रूप पा जावेगा । यह सुनकर नरवाहन बड़े विस्मय में पड़ गये । इतने में ही वहाँ एक और विद्याधरी आई जो रतिविभ्रमा का चित्रपट लिये थी । उसने कहा कि रतिविभ्रमा ने अपने पिता द्वारा हरकर लाई हुई एक स्त्री से नरवाहनदत्त का नाम सुना है तभी से वह उनके लिये छटपटा रही है । फिर वह विद्याधरी नरवाहन को विजयार्ध पर्वत पर ले गई । वहाँ नरवाहन ने अपनी हरी गई पत्नी को भी पा लिया और रतिविभ्रमा तथा उसकी अनेक सखी सहेलियों के साथ विवाह कर लिया । फिर धीरे धीरे वे समस्त विद्याधरों के अधिपति बन गये ।

नरवाहनदत्त की कथा संस्कृत साहित्य में प्रसिद्ध है। सोमदेवकृत कथासरित्सागर, क्षेमेन्द्रकृत बृहत्कथामञ्जरी और बुद्धस्वामीकृत बृहत्कथा-श्लोकसंग्रह में यही कथा बड़े विस्तार से पाई जाती है। इसी कथा को सबसे पहले गुणाढ्य कवि ने पैंशाची भाषा में अपनी बृहत्कथा में रचा था। यह पैंशाची भाषा की बृहत्कथा अब नहीं मिलती। सम्भव है हमारे कवि के समय तक वह बृहत्कथा लुप्त न हुई हो और उसी के आधार पर उन्होंने अपनी कथा लिखी हो, क्योंकि उपर्युक्त प्राप्य ग्रंथों की कथा से करकण्डचरित में लिखी गई कथा में कुछ भेद पड़ता है। इस कथा में मदोन्मत्त मदनामर विद्याधर के, एक ऋषिकन्या के शाप से, सुआ बन जान की जो वार्ता कही गई है उससे हमें बाण कवि कृत कादम्बरी में महाश्वेता की कथा का स्मरण आये बिना नहीं रहता। बाण ने भी अपनी कथा बृहत्कथा के आधार पर ही लिखी थी।

नरवाहनदत्त की कथा के अन्तर्गत ही हमारी छठवीं अवान्तर कथा है [६, ४-७] जिस के द्वारा अपने पिता की मृत्यु के शोक से व्याकुल नरवाहनदत्त का एक मुनिराज ने सम्बोधन किया है। माधव और मधुसूदन भाई भाई थे, पर उनमें बड़ा वैर था। दिनों के फेर से माधव यहां तक दरिद्री हो गया कि उसे भोजन-वस्त्र का भी कष्ट होने लगा। माधव की स्त्री ने उसे मधुसूदन का आश्रय लेने की सलाह दी। पहले तो माधव ने अपने स्वाभिमान का ख्याल करके इन्कार कर दिया किन्तु पीछे स्त्री के समझाने पर और अपनी दुर्दशा से विह्वल होकर वह मान गया। मधुसूदन ने उनका बड़ा आदर सत्कार किया और उन्हें प्रेम से रक्खा, किन्तु माधव के हृदय की इर्ष्या शान्त न हुई। एक दिन वह घर से निकल भागा और प्रयाग में जाकर उसने यह निदान बांध कर, अनशन द्वारा, अपना प्राणान्त कर डाला कि मर कर मैं मधुसूदन के यहाँ पुत्र होऊँ और फिर उसका प्रेम बढ़ाकर मर जाऊँ जिससे उसे घोर क्रोध हो। हुआ भी ऐसा ही। मधुसूदन पुत्रशोक में मरने को तत्पर हो गया तब उसे एक विद्याधर ने माधव के पूर्वभव का हाल सुनाकर उसके चित्त को शान्त किया। इस प्रकार ये पितापुत्रादि सम्बंध सब निदान के कारण हैं इनमें हर्ष या शोक नहीं मानना चाहिये।

सातवीं अवान्तर कथा (७, १-४) शुभ शकुन की है जिस विद्याधर ने करकण्ड को सुनाई थी। एक दरिद्री ब्राह्मण को मार्ग में एक मुनि के दर्शन हुए जिससे वह खुशी के मोरे नाचने लगा। एक क्षत्रिय कुमार घोड़े पर सवार वहां से निकला और उस ब्राह्मण को नाचते देख उसने हाल पूछा। ब्राह्मण ने कहा मुझे वन में मुनि-दर्शन का शुभ शकुन हुआ है जिसके फल स्वरूप मुझे राज्य मिलेगा। क्षत्रिय कुमार ने ब्राह्मण से कह सुन कर उस शकुन का फल आप ले लिया और बदले में अपना घोड़ा और आभूषण दे डाले। ब्राह्मण चला गया और क्षत्रिय कुमार ने वन में प्रवेश किया। वहां सुदर्शना देवी, स्त्री का रूप धर के, साथ हो गईं। उन्होंने एक अन्धकूप देखा जिसमें एक सांप और मेंढक लड़ रहे थे। युवक ने अपनी देह से एक मांस का टुकड़ा काटकर उनके

आठवीं अवान्तर कथा अरिदमन की है, जिसे पद्मावती देवी ने करकंड के समुद्र में विद्याधरी द्वारा हरण किये जाने के शोक से व्याकुल रत्नलेखा को सुनाया था (८, १-१६)। अरिदमन उज्जैन का राजा था। एक विद्याधर ने सुआ का रूप धरकर अपने को एक ग्वाल द्वारा उस राजा के हाथ बिकवा दिया। सुआ ने राजा को बताया कि उसके मंत्री के पास एक बड़ा सुंदर और प्रतापी घोड़ा है। राजा ने मंत्री से इसे प्राप्त किया और सुआ सहित उसपर सवार हुआ। एक चाबुक मारी कि घोड़ा उड़कर समुद्रपार एक द्वीप पर जा पहुंचा। वहां राजा ने बहुतसी कन्याओं को जलक्रीड़ा करते हुए देखा और उनमें प्रधान रत्नलेखा से उसने विवाह कर लिया। एक दिन रत्नलेखा ने कहा कि मैं आपका पितृगृह देखना चाहती हूं। तब राजा ने एक नौका निर्माण कराई और राजा-रानी, सुआ और घोड़ा सहित, उस पर बैठ कर चल दिये। विपरीत वायु के कारण नाव एक उजाड़ द्वीप पर जा पहुंची। वहां उन्हें रात-बसरा करना पड़ा। रात्रि को ही नाव को कोई चुरा ले गया। तब सुए की सलाह से राजा ने लकड़ी काट और उन्हें बांधकर एक डोंगी बनाई और वे चारों उसपर बैठकर चले। समुद्र की लहरों से डोंगी के बन्धन टूट गये और वे चारों बिछुड़ गये। सुआ उड़ गया घोड़ा कहीं गया, राजा कोकन पहुंचे और गनी खंवायत बन्दर पर पहुंची। वहां उसे एक कुट्टिनी के यहां आश्रय मिला। उसने यह प्रण किया कि जो कोई मुझे सार-पांसे जेलने में हरा देगा उससे ही मैं प्रेम करूंगी। किन्तु उससे कोई भी पुरुष नहीं जीत पाया। एक दिन वह सुआ उड़कर उसके घर आगया और उनकी पहिचान हो गई। उसकी दूतक्रीड़ा की कीर्ति चारों ओर फैल गई। कोकन में अरिदमन ने भी समाचार सुने। वे आये। खेल हुआ और उन्होंने रत्नलेखा को हरा दिया। रत्नलेखा बहुत व्याकुल हुई, किन्तु इसी क्षण उनकी परस्पर पहचान हो गई और वे मिलकर बहुत खुशी हुए। एक दिन एक ठक वहां घोड़े बेचने लाया। उनमें अरिदमन ने अपना घोड़ा पहचान कर खरीद लिया। इस प्रकार वे सब बिछुड़े प्रेमी एक बार फिर मिलकर अपने घर आनन्द से आगये।

इस कथा के प्रारम्भ में जो सुए की कहानी है वह एक प्रकार से स्वतंत्र ही है (८, ३-८)। एक विद्याधर सुए का रूप धर कर उज्जैन के पास पर्वत पर रहता था। उसने राजा के मंत्री की घोड़ी को पर्वतपर चरते व उसे गर्भवती होती हुई देखा था। एक दिन उसने एक ग्वाल से कहा कि मुझे ले चल और पांच सौ सुवर्ण मुद्राओं में राजा को बेच दे।

ग्वाल उसे लेकर उज्जैनी में आया। नगर के मार्ग में एक और बात देखने में आई। एक वेश्या एक सेठ को पकड़े पकड़े फिरती थी और कहती थी कि मैंने तुम्हारे जेठे लड़के को स्वप्न में अपनी लड़की के साथ देखा है, इस लिये तुम मुझे धन दो। सेठ वेश्या बड़ी विपत्ति में पड़ा था। सब लोग तमाशा देख रहे थे, पर किसी कि कुछ अशुभ काम नहीं करती थी कि क्या किया जाये। भिदान सुण ने इस झगड़े का निपटारा किया। उसने सेठ से धन मंगाया। और एक दर्पण में उसकी छाया डालकर कुट्टिनी से कहा, ले बहिन, तेरा धन लेले। कुट्टिनी ने कहा, रे नगोड़ सुण ! कहीं दर्पण का प्रतिबिम्ब भी लिया जा सकता है ? सुण ने तुरंत उत्तर दिया, कहीं स्वप्न की बात प्रत्यक्ष हुई है ? इस प्रकार सेठ को उस झगड़ से लड़ाकर यह सुआ राज दरबार में पहुंचा। उसने पांच उठाकर राजा को आशीर्वाद दिया और अपनी यह कपटकहानी सुनाई कि हम पांच सौ सुण एक सेमर के झाड़ में रहते थे। एक बार एक भीलों के समूह ने आकर हम सब को जाल में फंसा लिया। तब मैंने अपने सब साथियों को यह सलाह दी कि मृतवत् होकर पड़ जावो। उनके ऐसाही करने पर भीलों ने उन्हें मरा जानकर अपना फंदा हटा लिया और सब सुण उड़ गये। मैं उड़कर एक तपस्वियों के वाड़े में पहुंचा और वहां मैंने सब शास्त्रपुराण सीखे।

इस कथा को पढ़कर भी बाण-कृत कादम्बरी के सुण का ध्यान आता है, जो ऐसा ही विद्वान् था और जिसे एक चाण्डाल कन्या, उज्जैनी में ही, राजा शूद्रक के दरबार में लाई थी। वही सेमर का झाड़, वही भीलों का जत्था, वही सुओं पर आपत्ति और इस सुण का तापसों के वाड़े में पहुंचने की घाती, दोनों में विद्यमान है। यह कथा भी कथासरित्सागर में है और बृहत्कथा में भी रही होगी। किन्तु हमारी कथा में सुण के बचने का उपाय भिन्न है। इस उपाय में वह हिनोपदेश की काक और हरिण वाली कहानी से समानता रखती है। लिखते समय सम्भवतः कवि के ध्यान में उक्त दोनों कथाओं का सम्मिश्रण हांगया है।

अन्तिम अवान्तर कथा मुनिराज ने करकंड की माता पद्मावती को यह बतलाने के लिये सुनाई है कि भवान्तर में स्त्रीलिंग का परिवर्तन भी हो सकता है। [१०, १८-२२] उज्जैन के राजा की सुमित्रा नाम की पुत्री थी। उसने उपवास के फल से मर कर एक ब्राह्मण के घर में लड़के का जन्म पाया, किन्तु पिता की मृत्यु उसके गर्भकाल में ही होगई। विधवा स्त्रियों के छोटे लड़के अक्सर बड़े नटखटी हो जाते हैं। ऐसा यह भी हुआ। एक बार अपनी माता से लड़कर वह घर से भाग गया और वन में एक पुरानी मढिया में गत-वनेरा किया। वहां रात्रि को विद्याधरियों आईं जिनमें से एक का चीर उसने उड़ा दिया। उसे लेकर वह घर आया। माता ने उसे एक सेठ को बेच दिया और सेठ ने उसे राजा को भेंट किया। राजा को उसके जोड़ मिलाने की अभिलाषा हुई और अन्त में उसी ब्राह्मण पुत्र को यह काम सौंपा गया। इस बार वह एक डंडा लेकर वन में गया और एक राक्षसी को वश में कर लाया। उससे उसके जोड़ का कपडा लेकर उसने राजा को दिया। राजा की

उस पर प्रसन्नता बढ गई। यह बात मंत्री को सहन न हुई। उसने रानी को उभाड़ा और उस ब्राह्मण के प्राण लेने की दृष्टि से कहीं शेरनी का दूध और कहीं बोलता हुआ पानी लाने के लिये उसे भिजवाया। पर राक्षसी की सहायता से ब्राह्मण ने सब कुछ ला दिखाया। निदान राजा को मंत्री का कपटजाल ज्ञात होगया। उसने उसे मंत्री-पद से निकाल दिया और उस ब्राह्मण को मंत्री बनाया। अन्त में उस ब्राह्मण ने वैराग्य धारण कर लिया, और अगले भव में वह अर्जुन हुआ। इस प्रकार उपवास के प्रभाव से सुमित्रा अर्जुन होगई।

ये नौ अवान्तर कथाएँ करकण्डचरित के लगभग चौथाई भाग में आई हैं।

इस ग्रंथ में यह बतलाया गया है कि पञ्च-कल्याण-विधान के प्रभाव से किस प्रकार एक ग्वाला अगले भव में राज्य-सुख को पाकर मोक्षगामी हुआ। इस ग्रंथ के कथानायक का स्थान बड़ा अद्वितीय है। वे दिगम्बर सम्प्रदाय में ही नहीं, श्वेताम्बर सम्प्रदाय में भी माने गये हैं। यही नहीं, किन्तु बौद्धों ने भी उन्हें अपना एक महात्मा माना है। बौद्धों के जातक साहित्य में वे करण्डू या करकण्डू के नाम से प्रसिद्ध हैं। उन्हें वे प्रत्येकबुद्ध मानते हैं। प्रत्येकबुद्ध उन्हें कहते हैं जो स्वयं केवलज्ञान प्राप्त कर लें, किन्तु बिना धर्मोपदेश किये ही, शरीरान्त कर, मोक्ष चले जावें। इस प्रकार के चार प्रत्येकबुद्ध बौद्धों ने माने हैं, करकण्डू, नगर्गई, नमि और दुर्मुख, और इन चारों की कथाएँ पाली साहित्य में पाई जाती हैं। किन्तु बौद्धों की करकण्डू-कथा और वर्तमान कथा में उनके जन्मस्थान व मातापिता के नाम तथा स्वयंबुद्धत्व के अतिरिक्त और कोई साम्य नहीं है। श्वेताम्बर सम्प्रदाय में भी वे चारों प्रत्येकबुद्ध माने गये हैं और उनकी कथाओं पर बहुतसा साहित्य निर्माण हुआ है। उनका सब से पुराना उल्लेख उत्तराध्ययन सूत्र में है, और, कथाएँ उसकी टीकाओं में पाई जाती हैं। इन कथाओं से वर्तमान ग्रंथ की मूल कथा का बहुत कुछ साम्य है, केवल उन कथाओं में करकण्डू की दक्षिण विजययात्रा का हाल नहीं पाया जाता। छोटी मोटी बातों में कई जगह भेद भी है। उदाहरणार्थ, जब हाथी राजा दधिवाहन और रानी पद्मावती को लिये भागा जा रहा था तब, देवेन्द्र कृत श्वेताम्बर कथा के अनुसार, राजारानी दोनों ने यह निश्चय किया था कि वे एक वृक्ष की डाली पकड़कर बच जावेंगे। किन्तु जब अवसर आया तब राजा तो डाल पकड़ सके, पर रानी स्वभावतः इस काम में फुर्ती न दिखा सकी, और हाथी की पीठ पर ही रह गई। किन्तु हमारे ग्रंथ में कहा गया है कि रानी के समझाने पर राजा अपनी गर्भवती प्रिय स्त्री को भाग्य के भरोसे छोड़कर केवल अपने प्राण बचाने पर राजी होगया। यह सबे धीरोदत्त नायक का लक्षण नहीं है। मेरा ख्याल है कि कनकामर ने अपना ग्रंथ

पहले लिखा है और श्वेताम्बर कथाकारों ने पीछे। यदि कनकामर को उपर्युक्त वर्णन ज्ञान होता तो वे निश्चय उसे ही स्वीकार करते। श्वेताम्बर कथा में पद्मावती एक मुनि की सहायता से दन्तीपुर में पहुँची थी, वहाँ वह एक अर्जिकाश्रम में रही, उसने गुप्त रूप से पुत्र प्रसव किया और उसे श्मशान में जा डाला जहाँ एक चांडाल ने उसकी रक्षा की। कनकामर के वर्णन में, पद्मावती को वन से माली अपने घर ले गया था। वहाँ से निकाली जाकर उसने श्मशान में ही प्रसव किया था। पुनः, श्वेताम्बर कथा में करकण्ड के वाटधानक निवासी चांडालों को ब्राह्मण बनाने तथा एक अपने प्यार सांड की वृद्धावस्था देखकर वैराग्य धारण करने का उल्लेख है जो कनकामर के वर्णन में नहीं है। पाली जानक में एक वृद्ध की दुरवस्था देखकर करण्ड को वैराग्य हुआ कहा गया है। कनकामर के अनुसार उन्हें एक पुत्रवियोग से विह्वल स्त्री को देखकर वैराग्य हुआ।

इस बात की खोज करने की आवश्यकता है कि दिगम्बर जैनियों ने उपर्युक्त चार प्रत्येक बुद्ध माने हैं या नहीं, तथा बौद्धों और श्वेताम्बरों, दोनों ने उन्हें ठीक उसी प्रकार कब और क्यों मान लिये ।

करकण्डु की इस अपूर्व मानता परसे मुझे उनके समय के सम्बन्ध में कुछ अनुमान होता है । बौद्ध उन्हें महत्मा बुद्ध से पूर्व हुए स्वीकार करते हैं, और जैन उन्हें भगवान् पार्श्वनाथ के तीर्थ में अर्थात् महावीर स्वामी से पूर्व हुए मानते हैं । जिस महात्मा के सम्बन्ध में दो तीन भिन्न भिन्न धार्मिक सम्प्रदायों में समान आस्था हो उसे यह समझना आवश्यक है कि वह उन साम्प्रदायिक भेदों के उत्पन्न होने से पूर्व ही हुए होंगे । अतः करकण्डु महाराज को हम यदि पार्श्वनाथ के तीर्थ में अर्थात् लगभग ईस्वी पूर्व ८०० से ५०० के बीच हुए मान लें तो अयुक्तिसंगत न होगा ।

ग्रंथ की चौथी और पांचवीं सन्धियों में करकण्डु महाराज के तेरापुर पहुँचने, वहां की पहाड़ी में एक गुफा और उसमें विराजमान पार्श्वनाथ भगवान् का दर्शन करने, गुफा में एक जलवाहिनी प्रकट कराने, तथा वहां तीन और गुफाओं के बनवाने का विशद वर्णन है । यदि कनकामर का वर्णन सच है तो ये गुफाएँ आज भी किसी न किसी रूप में वर्तमान होना चाहिये ? पर उनका पता लगाने से पूर्व तेरापुर कहां था इसका निश्चय होना चाहिये । करकण्डु अंगदेश की चम्पापुरी से चोल, चेरादि दक्षिण के राज्यों की तरफ जा रहे थे तभी उन्हें तेरापुर मिला था । अतः दक्षिणापथ में ही उसे होना चाहिये । खोज करने से हैदराबाद राज्य के उस्मानाबाद जिले में एक 'तेर' नामका स्थान मिला है । यह उस्मानाबाद शहर, जिसका अभी कुछ ही पूर्व धाराशिव नाम था, से बारह मील उत्तर पूर्व की ओर है । वहां अब चौदह वाडियां (छोटे छोटे ग्राम) बसे हुए हैं । इसी 'तेर' को डाक्टर फ़्रीट ने इतिहास प्रसिद्ध, प्राचीन तगरपुर ठहराया है । मेरा अनुमान है कि यही कनकामर कवि का तेरापुर है । कवि के दिये हुए वर्णन और इस स्थान की परिस्थिति के सूक्ष्म मिलान से इस अनुमान में कोई सन्देह नहीं रहता । कनकामर के अनुसार करकण्डु तेरापुर से दक्षिण की ओर जाकर ठहरे थे । वहां से कुछ दूर पश्चिम की ओर एक पहाड़ी के चढ़ाव पर उन्हें वह गुफा मिली । वहीं एक तालाब के होने का भी उल्लेख है । आज भी ये सब बातें उसी प्रकार विद्यमान हैं । तेर के पास पहाड़ी भी है । उसकी बाजू में गुफाएँ भी हैं । एक तालाब भी मौजूद है । इस तालाब में कमल भी होते थे जो कुछ वर्षों से नष्ट होगये हैं । अब वहां की गुफाओं का वर्णन देखिये । करकण्डु ने जिस गुफा के दर्शन किये उसे कवि ने 'सहस्रखंभलयन' कहा है । कविता में सहस्र का अर्थ साधारणतः अनेक, बहुत से जिनकी संख्या बिना सावधानी से गिने न जानी जा सके, लेना चाहिये । वर्तमान प्रधान गुफा बड़ी विशाल है । इसका वरामदा

७८ फुट लम्बा और १०१ फुट चौड़ा है जिसमें पुराने ७-८ खंभे रहे होंगे । एक बाजू में कुण्ड वाला कमरा है जिसमें दो खंभे हैं । पांच दरवाजे भीतर शाला में जाने के लिये हैं । यह शाला ८५ फुट लम्बी और लगभग उतनी ही चौड़ी चौकोर आकार की है । यहां ३२ खंभे दोहरे चौकोर आकार में हैं, १२ भीतरी चौकोर में और २० बाहरी । इस बृहत् शाला की प्रत्येक बाजू में आठ आठ कमरे हैं जो प्रत्येक ९ फुट चौकोर है । फिर गर्भगृह कोई २० फुट लम्बा और १५ फुट चौड़ा है । यहां पांच फुट की पार्श्वनाथ भगवान् की काले पाषाण की पद्मासन मूर्ति विराजमान है । इस गुफा को यदि कवि सहस्रम्भ कहे तो कोई बड़े आश्चर्य की बात नहीं है ।

कवि ने गुफा के भीतर एक जलवाहिनी प्रकट होने का वर्णन किया है । जब करकण्डु ने गुफा की मूर्ति के दर्शन किये तो सिंहासन पर उन्हें एक गांठ दिखी । उस गांठ को उठाने तुड़वाई और वहां से एक भारी जल का फव्वारा निकल पड़ा । गुफा के भीतर अब भी जलकुंड है । जिस कमरे में जलकुंड है वह १७ फुट लम्बा और १२ फुट चौड़ा है । इसी कमरे में एक सप्तफणी नाग सहित पार्श्वनाथ भगवान् की प्रतिमा है । दो पाषाण और भी हैं जिनपर भी जिनप्रतिमाएँ खुदी हैं । कमरे के भूतल में दो छिद्र भी हैं जिनका सम्बन्ध कुंड से है । जान पड़ता है, करकण्डु के समय में यही गर्भगृह था । वर्तमान गर्भगृह में जो मूर्ति है सम्भवतः वही करकण्डु को पहाड़ी के ऊपर वामी में गड़ी हुई मिली थी । बड़ी शाला की बाजू के एक कमरे में भी जर्मन में एक छिद्र है जो सदैव पानी से भरा रहता है । इससे कनकामर द्वारा वर्णित जलवाहिनी के प्रकट होने की बात भी सत्य प्रतीत होती है ।

कवि ने कहा है कि जलवाहिनी प्रकट कराने से पूर्व करकण्डु ने एक लयन बिनवाई और फिर विद्याधर के कहने से दो और लयन बनवाई । मैंने लयन बिनवाने का तात्पर्य मूल के प्रसङ्गानुसार 'पुरानी लयन की मरम्मत करवाई' ऐसा लिया है । किन्तु यह भी सम्भव है कि जलवाहिनी से समस्त गुफा के नष्ट होजाने के भय से करकण्डु ने पहले भी एक नई ही गुफा निर्माण कराई हो और दो फिर पश्चात् । इस प्रकार पुरानी गुफा सहित चार गुफाएँ हुई । ये ही चार गुफाएँ पहाड़ी के इस भाग में आजतक विद्यमान हैं । यदि करकण्डु द्वारा बनवाई दो ही नई गुफाएँ मानी जायें तो तीसरी गुफा किसी ने और पीछे बनवाई होगी । इन सब गुफाओं में जहां प्रतिमाएँ हैं वहां अधिकतः पार्श्वनाथ भगवान् की ही हैं, महावीर भगवान् की तो एक भी प्रतिमा नहीं है । इससे भी इस संस्थान के पार्श्वनाथ भगवान् के तीर्थ में निर्माण किये जान की बात पुष्ट होती है ।

इस प्रकार सिद्ध होता है कि कनकामर द्वारा उल्लिखित तेरापुर यही 'तेर' है तथा करकण्डु की निर्माण कराई हुई गुफाएँ वर्तमान गुफाएँ ही हैं । इनके समीप जो धाराशिव नाम का नगर बसा है, सम्भवतः उसका नाम इसी जलधारा के कारण पड़ा । करकण्डु ने

२. देरापुर की गुफा नं. १

तेरापुर के राजा का नाम शिव सुना था। शुभचन्द्र ने तेरापुर के दो भिन्न 'धारा' और 'शिव' नामधारियों का उल्लेख किया है। यह भी सम्भव है कि वहां कोई शिव का मंदिर बनने से वह नाम पड़ा। मूल गुफा के साम्हने जो आजकल शिव का मंदिर है वह बहुत प्राचीन नहीं है।

अब प्रश्न यह उपस्थित होता है कि जिस प्राचीन गुफा को करकण्डु ने तेरापुर में बनी पाई वह किस ने बनवाई होगी। यह प्रश्न करकण्डु को भी उपस्थित हुआ था और उन्हें एक विद्याधर ने इसका उत्तर दिया था। सौभाग्य से कनकामर ने उस का वर्णन अपने ग्रंथ में किया है। विद्याधर ने करकण्डु से कहा था कि दक्षिण विजयार्ध में नील और महानील नामके दो विद्याधर भ्राता राज्य करते थे। शत्रुओं से पराजित होकर वे वहां से भागे और तेरापुर आये। यहां उन्होंने धीरे धीरे एक राज्य स्थापित कर लिया। एक मुनि ने उन्हें जैन धर्म का उपदेश दिया और उन्होंने फिर वह गुफा-मंदिर बनवाया। है तो यह पौराणिक कथा, किन्तु खोज करने से इसमें कुछ ऐतिहासिक तथ्य प्रतीत होता है : आठवीं शताब्दि और उसके पश्चात् के कई शिलालेखों में एक शिलाहार नाम के राजवंश का उल्लेख मिलता है। इनकी तीन शाखाओं ने क्रमशः उत्तर कोकण, दक्षिण कोकण तथा कोल्हापुर के आसपास राज्य किया। तीनों शाखाओं के राजाओं ने अपने शिलालेखों में अपने को 'जीमूतवाहन विद्याधर के वंशज' तथा 'तगरपुर के अधीश्वर' कहा है। इससे विदित होता है कि उनके पूर्वजों ने कभी तगरपुर में राज्य किया होगा। तगरपुर वही 'तेर' व कनकामर का तेरापुर सिद्ध हो चुका है। अतएव शिलाहार वंश के सम्बन्ध की उक्त दो बातों पर से ऐसा प्रतीत होता है कि यह वंश सम्भवतः कनकामर द्वारा कायित नील महानील से ही चला। कथासरित्सागर में वर्णन है कि जीमूतवाहन विद्याधरों का राजा था। उसने एक बार अपने दान और त्याग की बड़ी प्रशंसा की इसी से वह पदभ्रष्ट हो गया। वहीं पर दक्षिण विजयार्ध या वेद्यार्ध का भी वर्णन है, और बताया गया है कि हिमाचल पर्वत की दो श्रेणियां हैं, कैलाश से उत्तर की श्रेणी उत्तर वेद्यार्ध और दक्षिण की दक्षिण वेद्यार्ध कहलाती है। कथासरित्सागर से यह भी पता चलता है कि एक बार वत्सदेश के नरवाहनदत्त और विजयार्ध के विद्याधरों के बीच बड़ा घोर युद्ध हुआ था जिसके अन्त में विद्याधर हार गये और नरवाहनदत्त के अधीन हो गये। सम्भवतः यही शत्रुबल था जिससे पराजित होकर नील और महानील विद्याधर दक्षिण को गये। पद्मगुप्त-कृत नवसाहस्रंशकचरित नामक संस्कृत काव्य में नर्मदा के दक्षिण में एक विद्याधर राजकुल का उल्लेख है। इन विद्याधरों ने मालवा के सिन्धुराज की सहायता की थी। इस प्रकार कनकामर की कही हुई बातों की अन्य ग्रंथों तथा शिलालेखों से भी पुष्टि होती है। इससे अनुमान होता है कि सम्भवतः नील महानील के वंशज ही शिलाहार वंश के नाम से

प्रसिद्ध हुए, और या तो स्वयं नील महानील ने ही या उनके किसी वंशज ने तेरापुर की प्राचीन गुफा बनवाई। इतिहास में पता नहीं चलता कि इस वंश का राज्य तेरापुर में कब रहा। वह बहुत प्राचीन काल में रहा होगा। इससे भी उन गुफाओं के पार्श्वनाथ के तीर्थ में बनने की बात अयुक्ति-संगत सिद्ध नहीं होती।

जिस पार्श्वनाथ की मूर्ति को करकण्डु ने पहाड़ी के ऊपर वामी में से निकालकर गुफा में स्थापित की उस के सम्बंध में कहा गया है कि दो अन्य विद्याधर उसे मलयदेश में पूदी पर्वत पर रावण के एक वंशजद्वारा बनवाये हुए जिन मंदिर से लाये थे। यह पूदी पर्वत सम्भवतः वर्तमान मलाबार के अन्तर्गत पोदियल नाम की पहाड़ी ही होगी।

CRITICAL APPARATUS

In preparing the present edition of Karakandacariu the editor has fully collated four MSS. (D J N S) and has consulted one recent MS (J2). They are as follows:—

MS. D

This ms. is deposited in Bābū Dulichand's Bhandār in the Terāpanthi Digambara Jaina temple of Jaipur. It was collated on the spot. Leaves 61; size $10\frac{1}{2}'' \times 4\frac{3}{4}''$; lines per page 12; letters per line about 37; margin right and left $1\frac{1}{4}''$, top and bottom $\frac{3}{4}''$. Leaves No. 12 and 60 as well as 62 on which the colophon was obviously continued are missing. The incomplete colophon is as follows:—

॥ छ ॥ समाप्तमिदं करकंडचरित्रं ॥ छ ॥ छ ॥

From this we learn that the ms. was completely copied on Sunday the 12th of the dark fortnight of the month Phālguna in samvat 1597 equivalent to A. D. 1540, for a layman of the Khandelwal caste and Godhā gotra whose spiritual genealogy was as follows:—

Dharmacandra (A. D. 1540)

This ms. belongs to the Pātodi Digambara Jaina temple of Jaipur. Leaves 68; size 10" x 4½"; lines per page 11; letters per line about 36; margin right and left 1", top and the bottom ½". Leaf No. 19 which contained Kaḍavakas 18, 19, 20 and a part of 21 of Sandhi 3 is missing. It bears the following colophon:—

From this colophon we learn that the ms. was copied on Wednesday the 3rd of the dark fortnight of the month of Kārttika in Samvat 1558 equivalent to 1502 A. D., by a pupil of Bhaṭṭāraka Simhakīrti for whom the following genealogy is given:—

This is a ms. acquired by the editor during one of his tours in search of mss. Leaves 87; size 10" x 4½"; lines per page 9; letters per line about 32; margin right and left 1½", top and bottom ¾". The first and the last leaves are missing as also leaves Nos. 15, 73 and 75. Leaves Nos. 25, 26 and 60 are written in a different hand on different paper. These seem to have been substituted later in place of the leaves worn out or lost. It is an important ms. as it has supplied many variant readings and a few additional lines which have been given in the present edition in foot-notes. No colophon is available as the ms. goes only upto almost the end of Kaḍavaka 28 of the 10th Sandhi. But in appearance it seems to be of the same age as mss. J. and J

MS. S.

This ms. belongs to the Senagapa Bhandār of Kāranjā. It was the earliest to be discovered by the editor and forms the basis of the present edition. Leaves 103; size 11" × 5"; lines per page 8; letters per line about 35; margin right and left 1½", top and bottom 1". It is written in a bold and beautiful hand and is well preserved. It bears Sanskrit and vernacular glosses on the margin. Unfortunately, it gives no information about its date or place of copying. But it appears to me to be some what later in age than the mss. D and J. It ends as follows: -

समाप्तमिदं करकंडूचरित्रं । छ ॥ छ ॥ श्री ॥ श्री ॥

समाप्तमिदं करकंडूचरित्रं । श्लोक संख्या १७०० ॥ हस्ताक्षराणि अजमेरागोत्रोत्पन्न फूलचन्द्रेण जयनगरमध्ये लिखितमिदमस्ति संवत् १९७८ मिति कार्तिक कृष्णाऽष्टमी चन्द्रवासरे लिखितम् ॥ शुभं भूयात् । कल्याणमस्तु ।

From this we learn that the copy was completed by Phoolchand Ajmera on Monday the 8th of the dark fortnight of Kartika in Samvat 1978 equivalent to 1921 A. D. at Jaipur. Thus, it is only thirteen years old. On examination I found out that it was copied from ms. J with which it agrees throughout and omits the portion contained in the missing leaf of the former. The copy is a very poor performance being full of mistakes and omissions. It is a telling example of how old literature can not now be well preserved by means of copies made by persons who have absolutely no knowledge of the language. I did not think it worth while to take down variants from such a second hand, recent and ill-executed ms. though I went through it and tried to check the readings of ms J. from it.

SUMMARY OF KARAKAṆḌACARIU.

I

The poet begins the work by proclaiming victory to Jina and expressing his own humility and memory of the writers of yore like Siddhasena, Samantabhadra, Akalanika, Jayadeva, Svayambhu and Pushpadanta. Then the story begins. In the Jambudvīpa and Bharata kṣetra there was the beautiful country of Anga in which was situated the prosperous city of Campā. Its powerful and righteous king Dhādivāhana once went to Kusumapura and saw there a beautiful girl brought up by a gardener who told him that he recovered her from a box found floating in the Ganges by his wife. The king examined the box closely and learnt from the inscription on the seal that she was the daughter of Vasupāla king of Kausambi and that her name was Padmavati. He then married her and returned with her to his capital. In due course she became pregnant and entertained a desire to dress herself like a man, and ride about the town on an elephant in drizzling rain in the company of her husband. It was summer but arrangements to satisfy her longing were made by the aid of the rain-deity (Meghakumāra). Unluckily, the elephant on which the royal couple was riding suddenly became restive and ran away towards the forest. The queen prevailed upon the king to save himself by catching hold of the branch of a tree and leave her to her own fate. The elephant, with the queen on its back, reached a deep lake where the queen jumped off and entered the forest which was dry and deserted. Suddenly, however, the forest became green and full of blossom. This extraordinary event was reported to the forest-guard in Dantipura, who instantly came there and met the queen resting under a tree. He addressed her as his sister and induced her to accompany him home. But there the gardener's wife Kusumadattā became jealous and apprehensive of her beauty and soon found out an excuse to drive her away. The queen bent her way to the cemetery where she gave birth to a son.

II

No sooner was the child born than a certain Mātanga appeared there and attempted to take the child away. Being challenged by the mother he told her that he was in reality a Vidyādhara of the Vijayārdha mountain. Once he was out for a joy-ride in his aerial car with his wife, when his car suddenly stopped. While investigating the cause of the interruption, he saw below him a sage absorbed in meditation. Taking him to be the cause, he got very angry and drew out his sword to kill him. But the sage cursed him as a result of which he lost his Vidyā. Being softened by his importunities, however, the sage modified his curse by the rider that he would regain his Vidyā when Padmāvatī's son, born in the cemetery and brought up by himself, will acquire the throne of Dantipura. This, he said, was the reason why he was taking the child away with him. The queen consented and the Mātanga brought the child home and handed it over to his wife saying that it was her child. Padmāvatī, in her double bereavement, joined a nunnery and took vows from sage Samādhi Gupta. The child grew in the home of the Mātanga who, having observed dry scab on his hand, gave him the name of Karakaṇḍa. He instructed him in all arts and sciences and illustrated to him the benefits and evils of good and bad company by means of stories. One day the king of Dantipura died leaving no natural heir to the throne behind. The ministers of the state applied a divine method for selecting the king. They released an elephant with a jar full of water in its trunk and charged it to empty the jar over him who may be destined to be the king. The elephant passed through the town, came to the cemetery and emptied it over the head of Karakaṇḍa. When the citizens were bewailing their lot and the ministers were hesitating to acknowledge a Mātanga as their prince, the guardian of Karakaṇḍa, having regained his Vidyā, appeared on the scene in all his glory and assured them all about the high parentage of the lucky boy who was then hailed with joy by all.

III

Karakaṇḍa was then led into the capital on an elephant with all the paraphernalia of royalty and was installed king. One day, while passing through the town, he saw a man carrying a female portrait in his hand. At its sight Karakaṇḍa became enamoured. He learnt from the man that the portrait was of the daughter of Ajavarmā, king of Girinagara, in the Soratha country, and that her name was Madanāvali. She had heard the glories of king Karakaṇḍa sung by the Khecaras and had become love-sick. Her father had sent him in search of the object of her love. On hearing this the king revealed his identity and despatched reliable persons to bring Madanāvali whom he subsequently married. During the marriage-celebrations his mother paid a visit to him.

Soon after the marriage, there arrived a messenger from the king of Campā who claimed homage from Karakaṇḍa. In wrath, the latter dismissed the ambassador and led an invasion against Campā. He crossed the Ganges and besieged the capital of his enemy. A fierce battle ensued during which victory swung now to one side and now to another, till the forces of Karakaṇḍa were completely routed.

Karakanda then recalled the Vidya which was imparted to him by his god-father, the Mātanga-Vidyādhara, and began to deal personally with his powerful opponent. At a critical stage of the combat his mother Padmāvati suddenly appeared and turned the battle-field into a scene of family affections. The father embraced the son and led him into his capital with rejoicings. He subsequently renounced the kingdom in favour of his son in order to lead an ascetic life and attain salvation.

Having consolidated all his dominions Karakanda once asked his minister whether there was any person who did not acknowledge his suzerainty, and on being told that the Coda, Cera and Pandya kings of the South did not pay homage to him, he sent an ambassador to those kings. He was, however, dismissed with scant courtesy by them. In wrath, Karakanda took a vow that either he would place his foot on their heads or renounce the world. He then marched out with a vast army and reached Terapura. He halted in the vicinity of the town. The king of the place called Siva came to pay him a friendly visit. From him Karakanda learnt that on a hill to the west of that place there was a cave-temple of a thousand pillars and on the top of the hill there was a huge anthill which was regularly worshipped by an elephant. Being struck with curiosity, Karakanda, accompanied by Siva, mounted the hill on the slopes of which he found the cave containing a Jina image. Climbing further to the top he saw the anthill and in his very presence an elephant came which fetched water and lotuses from the neighbouring lake and worshipped the anthill. Karakanda amused himself by the scenery of the beautiful lake and then caused the anthill to be excavated. Exactly as he had anticipated, an image of Pārśvanātha flashed forth from the deep. The king conveyed it to the cave where, on the lion-seat, he noticed a patch. On inquiry from an old artisan of the town he learnt that it was the mouth of a fountain of water. His curiosity was aroused. He caused the patch to be scraped off and, lo! water gushed forth with great force, and filled the whole cave. The king became repentant fearing the destruction of the cave-temple. The guardian Vidyādhara of the cave, however, appeared and consoled the king.

On inquiry by the king as to who built the cave-temple, the Vidyādhara informed him as follows. In the city of Rathnepura situated in the Southern Vijayārḍha there ruled two brothers Nila and Mahānila. Being pressed by enemies they fled and came to Terapura where they gradually built a kingdom. They were converted to Jainism by a Muni and excavated the cave-temple dedicated to Pārśvanātha. At this time, another two Vidyādhara brothers from the Northern Vijayardha made a religious trip to Lankā. On their way, they saw a beautiful Jina temple on the Pudi hill in the Malaya country and from there they picked up a fine Jina image. While returning home they temporarily deposited the image on the Terapura hill and went for worship into the Jina temple. On their return they tried to lift up the image but it would not move. Seeing no other way, they buried the image in a box at the very spot. Later, they learnt from a sage that the place where they had left the image was destined to become a holy spot and that one of the brothers in his next birth will gain enlightenment there. At this information the brothers renounced the world and became ascetics. Amitavega, the elder, by his holy practices, died and attained heaven, while the younger, Suvega, spoiled his religious austerities by hypocrisy, as a result of which he was born an elephant in the next birth. Amitavega came to know of the misfortune of his younger brother, reminded him of his fate and preached religion to him. Thus the elephant became a worshipper of the holy spot where they had buried the image. Later, when he found that the image was removed from there he took sanyasa and went to heaven after death. The Vidyādhara then advised Karakaṇḍa to construct one more cave on the upper side of the previous cave. Karakaṇḍa more than fulfilled this pious wish of the Vidyādhara by excavating two more caves.

While Karakaṇḍa was yet encamping there, a wild elephant came to drink water from the lake. Catching the smell of the army-elephants, it advanced towards the camp which was at once thrown into a tumult. The king came out with his arms but the elephant suddenly vanished out of sight. Returning to his camp he found, to his utter amazement, Madanāvali missing. The search that followed proved futile. In his overwhelming sorrow, he was consoled by a Sura who told him the story of his former birth. He had a pet parrot which was once attacked in its cage by a snake. That snake was reborn as a Vidyādhara who had now assumed the form of an elephant and stolen his wife from him. He, however, assured the king that he would regain her when he returned from his victorious campaign. The Sura revealed his own identity as no other than the king's parrot in his former birth. The king doubted the possibility of his ever regaining Madanāvali and to remove his doubts the Vidyādhara cited the example of Naravahanadatta whose story is told in the next chapter.

VI

This chapter is entirely taken up by the story of Naravahanadatta told by the Vidyādhara to Karakaṇḍa.

VII

The Vidyādhara then advised Karakaṇḍa to march away immediately as he had observed a good omen. Accordingly, the king marched away and reached the Simhala island. He encamped in the vicinity of the capital and went into the neighbouring woods for sport. He saw a big banyan tree of which he pierced all the leaves by means of his shots. This fact was reported to the king of the place who thereupon desired to see him. But Karakaṇḍa would not care to visit his palace unless the king came personally to invite him. So the king himself came out and conducted Karakaṇḍa to his palace where he met princess Rativagā who instantly fell in love with him. They were then married. Taking leave of his father-in-law Karakaṇḍa, with his new wife and large dowries, sailed off. During the voyage, they encountered a sea-monster which threatened their boat. The king drew forth his sword and jumped into the sea. He succeeded in killing the monster but was himself carried away by a Vidyādhari. His disappearance caused a great commotion in the boats. To the young bride it was a great shock and she burst forth into heart-rending lamentations. The minister who was on board consoled all and brought them to the shore where they all encamped. Rativagā devoted herself to the worship of goddess Padmavati who appeared in person and informed her of the fate of her lord who had been taken by the Vidyādhari to Tilakadvipa and had been married by her. He had also shown great valour in killing the enemy of the Vidyādhari's father and in recognition of this achievement all the Vidyādharas had accepted him as their master. The goddess then assured Rativagā that her lord will return to her with a large fortune. On Rativagā's expressing her doubts about the truth of the forecast the goddess set forth to illustrate her prophecy.

Rativagā asked the goddess to tell her whether any person who had gone away like her husband had ever come back. On this the goddess narrated to her the story of king Aridamaṇa, and saying that, like him, her husband will also soon return, she went away. Rativagā, thence forward, passed her time in the practice of religious vows and alms-giving, till, one day, Karakaṇḍa arrived there with his new wife. After passing a few days there in merry-making, he resumed his course of conquest of the Draviḍa country. He defeated the Coda, Cera and Pandya kings in an open fight, took them prisoners, and, as promised, touched their crowns with his foot. But when he saw Jina-images on the tops of the crowns, he felt remorseful, released the prisoners and offered to reinstate them in their kingdoms. But the latter replied that their sons would, thence forward, serve him, and retired to forest for penance. Karakaṇḍa, then turned his way back and came to Terāpura where Madanavali had been abducted. There, the Vidyādhara brought her back to him and recounted to him the events of his past life- how he, as a serpent, had attacked his pet parrot, but was warded off by him, and how he, being subsequently crushed under the hoof of a horse, was imparted the Navakaramantra by a sage as a result of which he became a Vidyādhara and avenged himself by abducting his past enemy's wife. He then bowed down to the king and asked for pardon. The Vidyadhara then went his way and the king returned to Campā where he ruled happily for many days.

IX

One day when the king was sitting in the assembly, the forest-guard came and reported the arrival of sage Śilagupta. Hearing this, the king rose from his seat to honour the auspicious report, and then caused the happy news to be proclaimed in the capital by beat of drum. He then marched out in a procession for paying homage to the holy guest. On his way, he saw a woman piteously weeping and woefully beating her breasts. On inquiry, he learnt that the sorrow for her child which was snatched away by the hand of Death had brought about the wretched condition in the woman who was once so happy. This account aroused feelings of renunciation in the mind of the king who then began to brood over the frailty of the mortal world, the miseries of existence, the helplessness of man and such other problems of life. In this contemplative and pious mood, he reached the sage whom he honoured and from whom he received a religious sermon.

At the end of the sermon, the king asked the sage the reason why his hand had dry scab when the rest of his body was so comely, why his mother was carried away by the elephant and thus separated from his father who loved her so deeply, and why his own wife Madanavali was abducted by the Vidyādhara. In answer to the first question the sage said that in Terāpattana there once lived a pious merchant Dhanamitra. His cow-boy, while looking out for the buffaloes one night, saw an extraordinarily big and beautiful lotus in a lake. He plucked it, but while walking away with it, he was interrupted by a Surā who told him that since he had plucked a flower which was inaccessible even to gods, he should offer it at the feet of one who may be the highest and most worshipable being on earth, failing which he would be killed. Dhanadatta agreed to this and thought his master who was respected by all people to be worthy of the flower. But when he approached his master and told him about his intentions, the latter took him to the king thinking him to be more worthy. But when the king was approached, he thought sage Yasodhara to be worthier. The latter himself, when approached, directed them to Lord Jina as the worthiest of all. Dhamadatta then worshipped the Jina with that flower as a result of which he was born the son of the king of Campa in Karakaṇḍa's person, and since he performed the worship without washing off the slime from his hands, he had inherited the dry scab.

As to his second question, the sage said that in the city of Srāvastī there once lived a merchant named Nāgadatta whose wife Nāgadattā became faithless to him and seduced a Brāhmaṇa boy, who was brought up in the family, to make love with her. The merchant came to know of her faithlessness and retired to forest in sheer disgust. He practised penance, attained heaven and was reborn as the son of king Vasupāla of Campā and was named Dhālivāhana. In the mean-while, the Brāhmaṇa boy, having lead the life of a debauch, died and was reborn as an elephant in the country of Kalinga. Nāgadattā, through her faithlessness, was reborn in Tāmraliptī and, in due course, became the wife of a merchant named Vasumitra. She got two daughters Dhamavati and Dhanaśrī who were married to two merchants in Nālanda and Kausāmbī respectively. Vasumitra died and the widowed Nāgadattā went to live with her younger daughter who induced her to take the vow of not dining at night. Subsequently she went to her elder daughter who caused her to break the vow. In this way she took the vow thrice and thrice was it broken. However, she visited her younger daughter the fourth time, died there and was reborn as the daughter of king Vasupāla of Kausāmbī, who, considering her birth to be inauspicious, put her in a box and threw her into the Jumna, whence it was carried into the Ganges and recovered by the gardener of Kusurapura. She grew up and became Padmāvati the mother of Karakaṇḍa.

In reply to the third question of the king, the sage repeated the story of the parrot and the snake which has already occurred twice before (V, 18; VIII, 20).

On hearing all this Karakaṇḍa became disgusted with the world. At this stage, his mother Padmavati also arrived there and the sage gave her a discourse on the religious efficacy of fasting during the course of which he narrated the story of Sumitra who subsequently became Arjuna. Padmāvati took the vow and, in due course, attained heaven. Karakaṇḍa also relinquished the throne for his son Vasupāla and became an ascetic. His many wives followed suit and attained heaven. Karakaṇḍa toured through many countries, practised severe penances, acquired omniscience and shaking off the mortal coils attained ever lasting bliss.

THE INTERVENING STORIES AND THEIR SOURCES

The bulk of the present work is considerably increased by no less than nine independent stories, short and long, introduced to illustrate some point in the main story. Four of these are recited by the god-father of Karakandā in order to explain to him the fruits of magic skill,¹ the penalty of ignorance,² the evil consequences of low company³ and the advantage of noble company.⁴ These stories are brief and occupy no more than four kaṭavakas each. They seem to have been taken from folklore. The story of the appearance of the elephant in Sandhi V, 14, and its onslaught on Karakandā's forces reminds us of the story of Priyamvada who, in the form of an elephant, rushed upon the army of Aja on the bank of the Narmada in the Raghuvamśa of Kālidasa, canto V. The story of Naravāhanadatta, recited by a Vidyādhara in order to assure Karakandā how he might still hope to get back his lost wife, occupies the whole of the sixth Sandhi. Naravāhanadatta, as we know, is the hero of the Katha sarit-sagara of Somadeva, the Brihat katha-manjirī of Kshemendra and the Brihat katha-sloka samgraha of Buddhaswami. Our story is in substantial agreement with the account found in those works, though it varies in detail from them about as much as they differ among themselves. It appears, our author had used some version of the Brihat katha of Guṇadhya. The episode of Madamamara of this story being turned into a parrot by the curse of a sage's daughter⁵ reminds us of a similar incident occurring in the Kādambarī of Bāṇa, which is itself based on the Brihat katha, where Mahāśveta turned Vaisampayana into a parrot for a similar indiscretion due to the madness of love. Within the framework of the story of Naravāhanadatta we have the interesting story of Madhava and Madhusudana⁶ recited by a sage to the hero in order to illustrate the evil results of revengeful feelings. Current fiction seems to be the source of this story, as well as of the story of a good omen⁷ which follows the story of Naravāhanadatta from the mouth of the same Vidyādhara. Another long story is that of Aridamana⁸ which is told by goddess Padmāvatī to Rativega in her separation from her husband. It occupies almost the whole of the eighth Sandhi. It is an interesting legend of a sea voyage, fondering, separation, and ultimate reunion. The account of the parrot at the beginning of this story at once reminds us of the parrot which was introduced to king Sūdraka in Bāṇa's Kādambarī. The big Salmali tree full of nests, the party of hunters and the parrot's reaching the residence of ascetics and acquiring knowledge of the Sāstras, strike one as similarly described in both. The story also occurs in the Kathā-sarit-sāgara X, 3 and must have been present in Guṇāḍhya's Bṛhat-Kathā from where Bāṇa borrowed his theme. The method of escape of the parrot, however, is different in the present work. While the parrot in Kādambarī was yet very young and escaped by the oversight of the fowlers, our parrot was more grown up and wise and showed a great skill in planning not only its own escape but of the whole pack. For this part of his story the author probably drew his inspiration from the story of the deer and the crow in the Hitopadeśa where the latter saved the former by a similar plan. The author also seems to have had in his mind the story of the pigeon-king Citragriva in the Pancatantra. The story of Sumitrā¹ told by the sage to the mother of Karakanda is a fanciful fairy tale very much similar to the story of Vatsarāja occurring in Phāva-candra Suri's Sāntinātha-carita which belongs to a much later date.² These nine stories together constitute about one-fourth of the whole book.

POPULARITY OF THE HERO

The hero of this work has the unique distinction of being recognized as a saint in the hierarchy of Buddhism as well as Jainism.³ He is the first of the four Pratyekabuddhas, the other three being Durmukha, Nami and Naggi. To the Bauddhas, a Pratyeka-buddha (Pali: Pacceka-buddha) meant one enlightened by himself, who attains supreme insight, but dies without proclaiming the truth to the world. He has his hair and beard shaved, is dressed in yellow robes, is detached from all family and tribal connections and dwells in the Nandamula cave on the Himālayas.⁴ The same four Pratyeka-buddhas are recognized by the Svetāmbara Jainas in their canonical books.⁵ The Digambaras have also recognized them as worshipful beings who attained perfection in conduct without being instructed by anybody else.¹ But neither their number is specified nor their names given and we do not find much literature on them. At one place, however, they are attributed with the compilation of a part of the Jaina canon.²

3. Dr. Jarl Charpentier, in his book Pacceka-buddhageschichten, Upsala, 1908, has collected many references to Karakanda and other names associated with him. Besides the Karanda Jataka (see Appendix A), he mentions the Dadhivahana Jataka (No. 186) which is only vaguely connected with Karakanda through the name of his father. In his attempt to find some Brahmanic parallel also, the author, following up the clue furnished by Devendra's story (see Appendix B), collects many epic and Pauranic mentions of the Candalas of Vatadhana who became Brahmanas. But he has failed to find out any real recognition of Karakanda in the Brahmanic literature.

Comparing our story with the Buddhist Jātaka, we find the hero in the latter work named Karanda and his parents and his capital are given the same names as in our work. The father is named Dhivāhana and the Sanskrit translators of our story have translated Dhādivāhana of our work by Dadhivāhana. The hero is said to have ultimately resigned the kingdom and become a saint. The comparison ends here and there is nothing that is common in the details of the narrative of the two stories. The story given by Devendra in Prakrit agrees better with our story and the first part of it up to the coronation of the hero on his paternal throne of Campā is more or less similarly described in both. The southern campaign of Karakaṇḍa is, however, entirely wanting in Devendra's account. Besides a few differences in detail in the two narratives,³ there is one remarkable improvement in Devendra's version. The manner of Dhādivāhana's escape from the runaway elephant, leaving his wife to her fate, strikes one as very unchivalrous in the present work, but Devendra's account is free from the fault. Had this version been known to our author he would certainly have adopted it.

If Karakaṇḍa is to be regarded as a historical person, and, as we shall, see, he ought to be so recognized, the only period to which he can be assigned is prior to the 5th century B. C. The Jainas say that he flourished between the period of lord Pārsvanāth and of Mahāvira, and the Bauddhas put him prior to the advent of Buddha. In as much as he is recognized as a saint by the Bauddhas as well as the

The old literature which I have been able to find out on Karakaṇḍa is as follows:—

1. The story of Karakaṇḍu forming part of the Kumbhakara Jātaka (Jātaka No. 408).¹

SVETĀMBARA

2. Uttarādhyayana Sūtra XVIII, 46, mentions Karakaṇḍu as the king of Kalinga who, like Durmukha of Pañcāla, Nami of Videha and Naggai of Gandhāra, renounced his kingdom in favour of his son and became a sage.²

3. Śāntisūri, in his commentary called Sishyabhitā on the Uttarādhyayana Sūtra, gives the story of Karakaṇḍu, like Devendra. He is said to have died in Samvat 1096 = 1040 A. D.³

4. Devendra in his commentary called Sukhabodha on the Uttarādhyayana-Sūtra gives the story of Karakaṇḍu. This work, according to the praśasti, was completed at Anhila-ṣaṭana in Samvat 1129 = 1073 A. D.⁴

8. Sricandra, in his Kathākosha written in Apabhramśa, has included the story of Karakaṇḍa. He wrote about the time of Mūlarāja of Anhilavād of either the 10th or the 12th century.¹ The story is in substantial agreement with our version.

9. Subhacandra, helped by Sakalabhūṣaṇa, wrote Karakaṇḍucaritra in Sanskrit verse in Samvat 1611 = 1555 A. D. This work is a translation of Kanakā-mara's work which it follows quite closely not omitting even the intervening stories. The author has, however, nowhere recognized the debt. I have used a manuscript of this work in writing the notes.²

10. Raidhu is said to have written Karakaṇḍucarita in Prakrit.³ Probably this work was also written in Apabhramśa as most of the known works of Raidhu are in Apabhramśa. He flourished in the 15th century.⁴

11. Jinendrabhūṣaṇa Bhaṭṭāraka is said to have written Karakaṇḍucarita in Prakrit about 1676 A. D.⁵

12. Sridatta Pandit is attributed with the authorship of a Karakaṇḍucarita.⁶

13. Rāmacandra Mumukshu wrote a collection of stories in Sanskrit called Puṇyāśrava-kathā-kosha in which he has included the story of Karakaṇḍa. One of the Mss. of this work is dated in Samvat 1558 = 1501 A. D.⁷

AUTHORSHIP, TIME AND PLACE OF COMPOSITION OF THE WORK.

In the colophon at the end of each of the nine sandhis of the work we are told that the Karakanda-Mahārāja-carita was the composition of Muni Kanayāmara (Sk. Kanakāmara). The name also occurs in the ending verse of each Sandhi where, however, it also gives a sense suitable to the context. From these mentions we know that the author's name was Kanakāmara and that he was a Muni i. e. an ascetic. A few more particulars about the author are obtained from the second introductory stanza of the work and the last two stanzas which form the author's praśasti. Here we are told that the author Kanakāmara was born in a Brāhmaṇa family of the Candā-rishi-gotra. This gotra may be identical with the Candrakula which is said to have been a division of the Vairi Sākhā sprung from the Kotika gana. Sāntisuri the author of a commentary on Uttarādhyayana (11th century), and Devendra's teacher Amaradeva (12th century) belonged to different subdivisions of this kula.¹ It is, however, noteworthy that these authors were Svetāmbara while Kanakāmara was avowedly a Digambara monk. In the introductory stanza as well as the praśasti, the author mentions the name of his teacher as the learned Mangaladeva (Budha Mangaladeva or Pandit Mangaladeva) who may be identical with the author of Dharma-ratnākara a compilatory work on Jain religion and philosophy.²

Our work does not mention the time of its composition, nor have I been able to discover any mention of the author in other works. Thus we are thrown upon the internal evidence of the work to determine its date. Of the four old manuscripts used for preparing the text of this edition, the two from Jaipur are dated in Vikrama samvat 1558 and 1597 respectively. Therefore V. S. 1558 i. e. A. D. 1502 is the terminus ad quem for the date of the work. For fixing the upper limit we have the mention of Siddhasena, Samantabhadra, Akalamkadeva, Jayadeva, Svayambhu and Puspadanta at the beginning of the work.³ The first of these is the celebrated author of the Nyāyāvatāra and other works. There has been a large amount of controversy about his date which fluctuates between the first century B. C. and the 7th century A. D.¹ Five works of Samantabhadra have so far come to light. His date has also been a subject of controversy and he has been assigned to various dates between the 2nd and the 7th cent. A. D. What we are absolutely certain of, is that he lived prior to 705 A. D. when the Harivaṃśa purāṇa of Jinasena which mentions him, was completed.² Akalamkadeva is the author of many works. His date is also uncertain though some inscriptional and literary records connect him with the court of Sāhasatunga who is generally identified with the Rashtrakūṭa king Krishna I, and therefore he is assigned to the middle of the 7th century A. D.³ No work of Jayadeva has so far come to my knowledge but he is mentioned by a later day author Mallibhushaṇa in his Nāgākumāracarita, as the first of those who wrote a life of Nāgākumāra.⁴ Svayambhu is known to be the author of two large Apabhramsa works. He flourished between the 7th and the 10th century A. D.⁵ Pushpadanta has now become well known by his three Apabhramsa works two of which, Jasaharacarita and Nāyākumāracarita have already been published. His Mahāpurāṇa is proved to have been completed in A. D. 965.

Thus, of the six authors mentioned by Kanakāmara the latest to have lived is Pushpadanta. In fact, the author seems to have mentioned them in their chronological order. Therefore A. D. 965 proves to be the terminus-a-quo for the date of our author.

In the author's praśasti mentioned above, there is some information of historical value which may ultimately help to determine precisely the date of our author. Here the author says that he produced the work at Asaiya town, out of regard for the minister to whom king Vijavāla was attached, who was a veritable mirror to the face of king Vijavāla, who attracted the mind of king Bhūvāla and who amused the heart of king Karna. Thus, the kings mentioned seem to be named Vijayapāla, Bhūpāla and Karna who lived within the life time of a single minister and who actually ruled at Asaiya or had it included in their kingdom.

After a long search, I feel inclined to identify these kings with those mentioned in a few obscure inscriptions which have not yet been assigned their proper place in the royal dynastic lists. The first of these inscriptions is the Damoh Stone Inscription which was discovered in the Hatta Tahsil of Damoh in C. P., and is now deposited in the Nagpur Museum.¹ It is written in Apabhramsa with a free translation in Sanskrit. It recites that one Vijayapāla Kshatriya was born in the Viśvāmitra Gotra. He conquered a hero named Kai. His son was Bhuvanapāla who defeated the Kalacuris, the Gujaras and the Deccan kings.² Rai Bahadur Hiralal thinks that this inscription probably belongs to the 12th century and that the persons named in the record were, perhaps, commanders of armies and possibly, related to the Guhila princes of Mevād in which dynasty there was one Vijayasimha who married Śyāmaladevi daughter of Udayāditya of Malwā by whom he had a daughter Alhnapadevi who married Gayākarna of Dāhala.³ The second record is a fragmentary inscription found at Kalinjar which speaks of a king named Bhūmipala the son of Vijayapāla, and goes on to say, after a lacuna, that the son had made himself the ornament of the southern direction and had vanquished the ocean-like Karna.⁴ Bhūmipāla is found mentioned in a third fragmentary inscription found at Tewar.⁵ All the three inscriptions, on palaeographic grounds, are assigned to the 12th century A. D. My idea is that the Vijayapāla of the Damoh inscription is identical with the Vijayapāla of the Nilakantha inscription of Kalinjar and that the Bhuvanapāla of the first inscription is identical with the Bhūmipāla of the other two inscriptions, and further that the Vijayapāla and Bhuvanpāla or Bhūmipāla of these inscriptions are identical with kings Vijavāla and Bhūvāla mentioned by Kanakāmara.

It is not quite easy to fit in these kings in any of the known dynastic lists, but the locality of the inscriptions as well as their contents tempt one to look for their identification amongst the rulers of Bundelkhand of the 11th or 12th century. In the Candela dynasty of Kalinjar we find mention of a king named Vijayapāla who succeeded Vidyādhara, a contemporary of king Bhojadeva of Malwa. One of the sons of this Vijayapāla proved very illustrious. He scored a victory over the mighty Karnaḍa Kalacuri and annexed his southern dominions.¹ This event was commemorated by the production of a drama Prabodhacandrodaya in Sanskrit. Can we not take this son of Vijayapāla as identical with our Bhuvanapāla, Bhūmipāla or Bhūvāla who in one inscription is said to have defeated the Kalacuris and in another king Karna? The only difficulty is that in the Prabodhacandrodaya as well as in a few inscriptions this king's name has been mentioned as Kirtivarma. But this may have been his other name, probably assumed after his victory over Karna. Prior to this victory, Karna had raided the Candela kingdom. It was, probably, during this period of Karna's ascendancy that Kanakāmara wrote his Karakandacarita and mentioned his patron minister as the delighter of the heart of Karna narinda.

If these identifications are accepted, there is no difficulty in fixing the time of the composition of the work. From several inscriptions it is known that Karna must have ruled from about 1043 to 1068 and Kirtivarma alias Bhuvanapāla, Bhūmipāla or Bhūvāla from about 1063 to 1098 A. D. Our work, therefore, may have been composed about 1065 A. D. Āsāya where the work was produced must have existed some where in Bundelkhand.

A brief account of some of my inconclusive attempts at the identification of the kings mentioned by Kanakāmara and the place where he wrote, may, now, be given here for the benefit of those who might make a further attempt in the field. At the very outset of my inquiry I came across the following note in the Archaeological Survey Report for 1872-73 by Alexander Cunningham, p. 183, on Āsāpuri:

"Twelve miles to the south-west of Baijanāth (in the Punjab) there is a lofty hill crowned with a temple dedicated to Āsāpuri Devi. It was built, according to an inscription, by Vijayarāma the eldest son of Raja Candrabhāna." So far it was very encouraging, for Āsāpuri might be our Āsāya and Vijayarāma may be the same as Vijayapāla. But the note went on to mention yet another two inscriptions of the same king dated in samvat 1744 and 1721 which showed that this Vijayarāma could never be the Same as our Vijayapāla, who, as we have seen, must have lived prior to Samvat 1558. In the same work, however, I found another reference which definitely connected the locality with Jainism. We are told that in the temple of Baijnath there is placed, in one corner, a stone with a Jaina inscription. This I found published in Epigraphia Indica Vol. I page 118. The first part of it runs thus:

ओं० संवत् १२९६ वर्षे कात्थुण वदि ५ रवौ कीरग्रामे ब्रह्मक्षत्रगोत्रोत्पन्न व्यय० मानूपुत्राभ्यां व्य०
दोल्हण आल्हणाभ्यां स्वकारित श्री महावीरदेवचित्ये श्री महावीरजिनमूलबिंबं आत्मश्रेयोर्थे कारितं

This means that in samvat 1296 = 1240 A. D. two merchants Dolhana and Alhana, sons of merchant Mānu of Brahma-kshatra Gotra built a temple at Kiragrāma and installed therein the image of Mahāvira. Kiragrāma is in the Kangra district of the Punjab where the Baijnath temple exists. The names of the two merchants mentioned here are similar to those of the three sons of the minister who patronised our poet. But such names are frequent amongst the Rajputs. This was all and nothing further could be discovered about the locality.

The names of the kings, and more particularly, those of the minister's sons, suggested to me Rajputana as a possibly hopeful field. Looking into the 'Annals and antiquities of Rajputāna' by James Tod¹ I found mention of Āsi a fortress which was assigned to Anuraj by his father Bisaldeo who reigned about A. D. 1064 as the ruler of Bundi State. It was, most probably, this very Āsi which was mentioned by Alberuni when he says "Marching from Kanoj towards the South-west, you come to Āsi eighteen parsakhas from Kanoj."² Āsi, I thought, may do for Āsāya. The son of Anuraj was Ishatpal which showed that the kings of this dynasty did bear names ending in Pāla, and in the Chauhan genealogy we find two names Kan Rae and Vijayaraj which resemble our Kanna and Vijavāla. The latter i. e. Vijayaraj is said to have been the adopted successor to Prithiraj³ and they appear to have lived about 1100 or 1200 A. D. But, firstly, there is no direct connection between Kan Rae and Vijayaraj as would be necessary if they were to be accepted as those mentioned by our author. Secondly, they are separated from each other by nearly two generations. Thirdly, they were junior members of the family and are not shown to have reigned any where; and, lastly, the list is compiled from the accounts of bards without much corroborative evidence. Therefore they are mere names to us and no emphasis could be laid upon their identity.

Passing on to other Rajput dynasties I found the mention of Vijayachandra in the Gaharwal dynasty of Kannauj. Two copper plates of his dated A. D. 1168 and 1169 respectively, and two stone inscriptions both of A. D. 1169 have come to light.¹ Probably this same king is mentioned as Vijayapāla in Prithvirāja-raso.²

In the Solanki dynasty of Gujrat there was one Karna who ruled from A. D. 1064 to 1094. He was the son of Bhīma. He had three ministers Munjal, Santu, and Udaya, the last two of whom built Jain temples. Udaya had five sons Āhaḍa, Chāhaḍa, Bāhaḍa, Ambaḍa and Solla. Karna's son was Siddharaj Jayasimha.³

Amongst the Ranas of Chittor is mentioned one Karansimha who was the son of Samarsi, whom he succeeded in A. D. 1193. His son was Mahup.⁴

In the same dynasty, a little earlier, we find mention of Vijayasimha the son and successor of Vairisimha. One of his inscriptions is dated in A. D. 1116.⁵ His daughter Allhanadevi was married to Gayākarna of the Kalacuri dynasty of Cedi for whom we have epigraphical records of A. D. 1122 and 1151. Kings that succeeded Vijayasimha in order, were Arisimha, Chodasimha and Vikramasimha; but nothing, in particular, is known about them. The last was succeeded by Ranasimha who is also called Karnsimha, Karanasimha or Karna.⁶

These mentions, by themselves, do not justify any identification with any of the kings mentioned by Kanakāmara because any identification must not only suit the time of our author but must also explain the mention of the town and of the other two princes. A variant reading in place of 'शिवभूबालहो' is found in Ms. J. which reads it as 'गिय भूबालहो'. If we accept this reading then भूबाल no longer remains a proper name and there remain only two names Vijavāla and Kanna to be identified and the town Āsaiya. It was on this basis that I once felt inclined to identify our Vijavāla with Vijayasimha of Udaipur and Kanna with his son-in-law Gayakarna who might have been staying with his father-in-law and felt friendly with the former's minister at the time when Kanakāmara wrote his work at Āsi which though far away from Udaipur and even Chittor, is on the borders of the state.

This, however, did not seem very satisfactory as it had obvious weak points. So, in order to strengthen the identifications further or to discover a more satisfactory solution, I turned to the history of the Kalacuris of whom Gayākarnadeva was already thought as probably identical with our Kanna. Their genealogy showed two other kings who could be thought of as equivalent to our Karna. These were Karnadeva son of Gangayadeva, who conquered many neighbouring kings and for whom we have an epigraphical record of 1042 A. D.¹ and his son Yas'ahkarnadeva of whom one copper plate is dated A. D. 1122. His son was Gayakarnadeva of whom we have already spoken. We also find in this genealogy one Vijayasimhadeva of whom two copper plates are dated A. D. 1180 and 1196.²

Besides these, we have an account of a Kalacuri prince called Vijjala or Vijjana who was at first the minister of war³ under Tailapa II of the Cālukya dynasty from whom he usurped the throne of Kalyana and extended his dominions further. The earliest epigraphical record for him is of A. D. 1157 and the latest of A. D. 1165. One of the titles used by him was 'Kalinjarapura-varādhisvara' or lord of the best city of Kalinjar. From the account given of him in Bāsava purāṇa, a Lingūyat work and Vijjalarājacarita, a Jain work, he appears to have been a great patron of Jainism and to have been assassinated in A. D. 1167, as a result of a Lingayat confederacy led by Basava.³ Thus, in the Kalacuri dynasty there have been kings who could be thought of as identical with Vijavāla and Kanna of Kanakāmara.

The place where the work was composed at once reminds a student of modern history of the battlefield where Sir Arthur Wellesley defeated the Marathas in 1803. It is Assaye now a small village in the Bhokardan Taluka of the Aurangabad district of the Hyderabad State. No previous history of the place is known, but it was certainly included in the kingdom of the Rastrakutas. Could it, then, be that the Kaṇṇa narinda of Kanakāmāra was the Rashtrakuta king Krishna III who has been mentioned by Pushpadanta as Kaṇṇa¹ ? If it be so, then Vijayapāla and Bhuvanapāla may have been his deputies ruling at Assaye. Krishna III is known to have conquered the Cera, Cola, Pandya and Simhala,² and Kanakāmāra may have been led to attribute these conquests to his hero by this example of his time. In that case he would be a contemporary of Pushpadanta whom he has mentioned. This Assaye is not very far away from the Terapura caves which the author must have visited and which probably inspired him to write this work while returning from there and staying at Assaye.

Another possible conjecture identifies the Āsaiya with Āsiragarh in Khandesh which was named after Āśādevi enshrined there. A small village near the fortress is still called Āsi. In our text there is a marginal note Āsāpuri on the word Āsaiya. Before the building of the existing fortress, the place may have been called Āsāpuri. It is wellknown to have been a seat of government during the pre-Muhammadan period.

TERĀPURA AND ITS CAVE-TEMPLES

Chapters IV and V of Karakandacarī are taken up by the description and previous history of Terāpura and a cave-temple in its vicinity. The Terāpura mentioned in the work is identifiable with Tera a village in the Osmanabad district of Hyderabad State, situated in 18-19 N and 76-9 E on the Tirna river, twelve miles north-east of Osmanabad. It was known to the ancients as Tagara which name had baffled the attempts of scholars at identification for more than a century. Sir R. G. Bhandarkar, writing about it in his Early History of the Deccan, said " Tagara is placed by the author of the Periplus at a distance of ten days journey to the east of Paithan. It is mentioned in a copper-plate grant of the first half of the seventh century and the princes of the Silāhāra dynasty call themselves sovereigns of Tagara, the best of towns, in all their grants. Some have identified it with Devagiri and others with Junnar, but in both cases its bearing from Paithan as given by the Greek geographers has not been taken into account. I have elsewhere discussed the question and have proposed Dharur in the Nizam's territory as the site of the ancient city".¹ It was only in 1901 that Dr. Fleet was finally able to show that the ancient and famous Tagara exists to this day known by the natural modern form of its former name as Tera in the Nizam's dominions.² The town is so ancient that it was 'possibly known in the Buddha's time. A teacher of olden times named Tagara-sikhin is several times mentioned. Sikhin is otherwise known as a name and the distinctive epithet Tagara may possibly be local and mean 'of Tagara' the modern Tera'.³

According to Kanakāmara, Karakāṇḍa was encamping to the south of Terāpura. The king of the place known as Siva visited him and told him about the existence of a large cave containing a Jina image at the foot of a hill in deep forest. Karakāṇḍa visited the cave and worshipped the Jina. He renewed the temple (or built a fresh cave), installed in it another image of Pārśvanātha which he discovered on the top of the mountain, buried in an ant hill, and built two more caves on the upper side of the existing cave. He also discovered a fountain of water in the old cave. Now, I give below a summary of the description of the existing caves of Dhārāśiva as noticed by Burgess—⁴

Dhārāśiva is about twelve miles north of Tuljāpura and twenty-four west by south from Bārsi standing just above the brow of the Bālāghat which forms the watershed between the Sina on the west and the Terna, a large feeder of the Manjirā, on the East. It is the chief town of a Talukā or district of the same name, and, like Tuljāpura, is fully 2000 feet above the sea-level.

About two miles north-east from the town, in a ravine facing the west, is a group of caves known as the Dābar Lenā or Torlā Lenā. Four of them are in the north side of the ravine and three on the opposite side facing the north-east. The former are Jaina excavations but some of the latter are probably Vaishnava. They are cut in a soft conglomerate rock, of very unequal texture, containing much haematite, and which is easily abraded. By the decay of the rock they are much dilapidated.

In front of the principal cave on the north side has been erected a Saiva temple surrounded by a small court enclosed by a high wall with a Dharmaśālā on one side and a platform on the other. A few yards to its west, on a lower level, is the cave No. 1 which is only subsidiary to the principal cave No. 2. Its front verandah measures 26 feet by 7 feet with two pillars each about 2 feet 10 inches square. It has three doors leading into as many separate apartments which were never finished and hence present an irregular size. The central room was intended for a shrine but the dividing walls have given way.

To the east of the principal cave is cave No. 3. It is better preserved but has been long occupied and divided by stone and mud walls. The hall of it is about 59 ft. square and 11 ft. 3 inches high, the room being supported by twenty columns leaving an open area of 35 ft. square in the centre. Two of the columns in each side are round, standing on thin square plinths, the other columns being square and all have capitals and a neat collar of carving, a foot deep, round the head of the shaft. The shafts taper from about 2 ft. 10 inches to 2 ft. 7½ inches square. The six octagonal columns in the verandah have a beautiful frieze over them which has mostly fallen. At the east end is an apartment 19 ft. by 8½ ft. and another inside the verandah about 13 ft. square with a large rough mass left in the middle about 5 ft. by 5½ ft. as if intended to be fastened into an image. The verandah measures 60 ft. by 8 ft. 8 inches and five doors enter from it into the hall. In each of the sidewalls are five cells and four in the back, besides the shrine 19 ft. by 8 ft. containing an image somewhat similar to the one in the principal cave. In the cell to the west of the shrine also there is a figure of a Jina seated on a high seat with figures behind similar to those in the principal cave, only, instead of the snake hoods there is a plain nimbus.

Cave No. 4 is close to the east side of this and consists of a hall 28 ft by 26 to 27 ft. with four round columns supporting the roof, surmounted by a sort of architrave 13½ inches deep. But the shafts of the columns have all disappeared. It seems never to have had a verandah, properly so called, but only a projecting drip over the front wall which is pierced for one large central and two smaller side doors. There is one cell at each side of the hall, near the front, one of them unfinished, and there were two more in the back wall, but the partition between the east one and the shrine has been broken through. The shrine is about 9 ft. 6 inches by 12 ft. and contained a Jina similar to those in other caves but very much disfigured by the crumbling away of the rock and the soot of ages as it has long been used as a dwelling. The central door is surrounded by the plain fascias, a roll moulding and a border of leaves. Over the main door is a shallow arched recess.

The principal cave, i. e. cave No. 2, is the largest of the group. Unfortunately, the rock has split down from above and the whole front, with the exception of a small fragment, had fallen down. It has, however, been recently repaired. The verandah, 78 ft. by 10 ft. 4 inches, in all probability, had six or eight pillars with massive bracket capitals supporting its front. Five doors through the back wall lead into the great hall of the cave. The court in front of the verandah is now quite filled up, but its entrance is still visible its pediment being carved with a sitting figure of a Jina with a nimbus behind the head and Nāga figures on either side and other indistinct figures.

In the west end of the verandah has been a door into a small adjoining excavation containing a cistern, and in front of it a boiler-shaped cistern has been built which can be filled by pouring the water into a channel that passes through the wall from the apartment where the cistern is. In the room of the cistern there are three loose blocks of very hard stone, sculptured with figures of nude Jinas. One of them is on a slab and represents Pārśvanātha with the snake behind him and its seven hoods spread out over his head. Another is a square block, apparently, part of a pillar, on each side of which a standing nude Jina is represented with a triple chhatra or umbrellas, over their heads. A third is a slab with a Jina seated cross-legged under a chhatra and having a worshipper at each knee, and four small figures below, some apparently worshipping and others engaged, perhaps, discoursing music. The chamber, in which these figures are, measures about 17 ft. by 12 ft. with two square pillars in front and two openings in the floor into the cistern, which probably extends far back under the rock.

The great Sālā or hall of the cave is not quite square, being wider at the back than in front, the former width being 85 feet, the latter only 79 feet, while the depth is about 80 feet. In this area are thirtytwo pillars, arranged in two concentric squares: the inner square has twelve pillars, and encloses an area 23 ft. 9 inch. square, and 10 ft. 2 inch. high; the outer, about 9½ ft. from the walls, has twenty pillars and encloses an area about 55 ft. deep by 58 wide, leaving an aisle round the central square about 13 ft. wide in front and back while along the sides it is 14 ft. wide. The roofs of the aisles on each side of this outer square vary in height, with a tendency to increase towards the back, the back aisle being 12 ft. 6 inch. high and the one in front of it 11 ft. 7 inch. at the back, and slightly less in front, while the aisles are about 10 ft. 4 inch. in height.

In each sidewall are eight cells, each about 9 ft. square and in the back are six, three on each side of the shrine which occupies the centre. The cells are all plain, and exactly of the character of those usually found in Baud̐tha caves. In the floor of one cell, in the north-west corner, is a small hole which is constantly filled with water, and may possibly have some connection with the cistern; in one of the cells in the back is an image now worshipped as Hari Narayana, but this has, probably, been imported into its present position; and in a recess in the next cell to the left of the shrine, is a black statue of a nude Jina, 6 ft. 1 inch high with a triple chhatra over his head. The recess and figure have all been carefully done up with plaster some ten or twelve years ago and without breaking this coating it was impossible to say whether the image had been carved in situ or not. There seems no reason, however, to doubt that it belonged originally to the cave.

The shrine is 19 ft. 3 inches wide by fully 15 ft. deep and 13 ft. high, the threshold being raised by two steps considerably above the level of the floor of the cave. It is occupied by a large, black image, seated on a simhāsana or lion-throne 4 ft. high and 6 ft. 10 inch. wide with a passage or pradakṣhinā 5 ft. wide quite round it. This image has also been carefully repaired with plaster and represents Pārśvanātha, the 23rd Tirthamkara, seated crosslegged in the ascetic attitude or Dhyāna Mudrā with his hands in his lap, the palms being turned up. The ends of the seat are represented as supported by lions, one of them, however, much damaged. In front are two deer one on each side of an object now quite obliterated, but which from other examples, I have no doubt, was a wheel much like those on the fronts of the thrones in the Baud̐tha caves at Ajanta and Ellora and on the large Pārśvanātha image of the 13th century at the latter place. Behind the image are represented the ends of a pillow against which he rests; from behind it issue the heads of sātrichūlas (mythological animals allied to the lion, but usually with a head some what resembling a goat's), and behind them again two chauri bearers with high, jewelled headdresses and necklaces over the heads of whom are fat Vidyādhara, flying in the air, each of which holds one end of a garland which is supposed to hang behind the head of the Jina. The great snake, with its seven hoods, shades his head, forming a sort of aureole round it, while on each snake-head is a small crown. These figures are all covered over with plaster and painted in a variety of colours. The image itself is perfectly black, and, in the darkness, looks grim enough. It measures 6 ft. from knee to knee, 4 ft. 2½ inch. across the shoulders, 3 ft. 6 inch. from the palm of the hand to the chin, the face is 2 ft. 5½ inch. from ear to ear over the eyes, and 1 ft. 5 inch. in length upto the hair which is in curled folds with a top-knot, and the ears are 7 inches in length.

The description of the temple hall with its double row of pillars and twenty two cells besides the central shrine and other chambers affords enough justification for purana ādhivara or lords of Tagara, the best of cities, which fact has a historical significance. It shows that the Silāhāras belonged to a family that once possessed supreme sovereignty and reigned at Tagara. In one Silāhāra grant it is expressly stated that the race known by the name of Silāhāra was that of the kings who were masters of Tagara " (शिलाहारः स्ववंशोऽयं तगरेश्वरभूताम्), As mentioned in a former section, Tagara was a famous town in the early centuries of the Christian era, and retained its importance till a very late period, but, unfortunately, the town has not yet been identified, nor have we found any trace of the Silāhāra kingdom with Tagara as its capital. Perhaps it existed between the close of the Āndhrabhritya period and the foundation of the Cālukya power."

From this account, two facts emerge very prominently; firstly, that the Silāhāra princes, according to their own statement, were the descendants of a Vidyādhara, and secondly, that they once had their capital at Tagara which, as already shown, is the same as our Terapura. I, therefore, conclude that the first Jaina cave at Tera was excavated by one of the early Silāhāra princes who also installed the image of Pārśvanātha. Kanakāmara has also incidentally given to us the origin of the Silāhāras which substantially corroborates and amplifies the information gathered from inscriptions. He tells us that the Vidyādharas, Nila and Mahānila came from the Southern Vijayārdha. In Somadeva's Kathāsaritsāgara † we are told that on the Himācala mountain there were two Vedyardhas of Vidyādharas, the Northern and the Southern. On the upper side of Kailasa is the Northern Vedyardha and on the lower side is the southern Vedyardha.

From this we might conclude that the ancestors of the Silāhāra princes originally came from the Southern Himalayas. Kanakāmara tells us that they had to leave their ancestral home and fly away from Rathnupura (Rahaneura) in Vedyardha on account of the pressure of the enemies. On this point also the Kathāsaritsāgara throws some light. In Lambaka XIV of that work we have an account of a protracted war between Naravāhanadatta and the Vidyādharas of the Southern Vedyardha in which the latter were completely vanquished and Naravāhanadatta was crowned king of the Vidyādharas. The coronation is described in Lambaka XV. We also find its being called a temple of a thousand pillars by our poet, while the description of the chief image agrees in substance with that which we find in our work of the image discovered by Karakaṇḍa and imported into the temple (iv, 9). The chamber connected with the cistern and having two holes in the floor is probably the old shrine where Karakaṇḍa discovered the fountain of water. As said above, there is yet another cell where we have a hole in the floor constantly filled with water. On comparing the old and the new description of the cave closely, one can not help feeling that in Kanakāmara's narrative has been preserved, for about a thousand years, a substantially correct account of this monument of great antiquity and interest.

The name Dhārāśiva is probably derived from the fact that there was a spring of water (Dhārā) and that one ancient king of the place was named ' Siva '. In the sanskrit version of the story by Subhachandra we are told that the persons who called upon Karakaṇḍa when the latter encamped near Terapura, were two forest guards named Dhārā and śiva. §

WHO EXCAVATED THE FIRST CAVE ?

We have seen above that according to Kanakāmara Karakaṇḍa built two new caves and either renewed the first cave or built yet another cave before causing the fountain to be opened. The question naturally arises ' Who excavated the first cave ? '. This question occurred to Karakaṇḍa himself as it does to us, and he got some one to tell him the story of its origin. † A Vidyādhara told Karakaṇḍa that two Vidyādhara brothers Nila and Mahānila, originally ruling in Southern Vedyardha (Veyaddha or Vijayaddha) came and settled down at Terapura, became converted to Jainism and excavated the cave.

While investigating whether any historical basis could be found for this origin of the cave, I came upon the following statement about the Silāhāra princes in the Early History of the Deccan by Sir R. G. Bhandarkar. ¶

"The Silāhāra princes trace their origin to Jimūtavāhana the son of Jimūtakeṭu who was the king of a certain class of demigods called Vidyādharas, and who saved the life of a serpent named Sankhaśūda by offering himself as a victim to Garuda in his place. One of the titles borne by the princes of all the three families was Tagarapuravanādhisvara or lords of Tagara, the best of cities, which fact has a historical significance. It shows that the Silāhāras belonged to a family that once possessed supreme sovereignty and reigned at Tagara. In one Silāhāra grant it is expressly stated that the race known by the name of Silāhāra was that of the kings who were masters of Tagara " (शिलाहाराह्यवंशोऽयं तगरेश्वरभूषताम्), As mentioned in a former section, Tagara was a famous town in the early centuries of the Christian era, and retained its importance till a very late period, but, unfortunately, the town has not yet been identified, nor have we found any trace of the Silāhāra kingdom with Tagara as its capital. METRE

The prevailing metre of Karakaṇḍacariu of Kanakāmara is पञ्चटिका intercepted by a few lines or single Kaḍavakas here and there in अलिल्लह or पादाकुलक, besides the Dhruvakas. The variations in complete stanzas are as follows: —

Sandhi	Kaḍavaka	Name of metre	Nature of the metre.
I	7- 8 } 12-13 }	समानिका	A vritta metre with the scheme र ज ग ल in each foot.
	17	समानिका & तूणक	Half of the stanza is तूणक which is double of समानिका.
III	14	स्रग्विणी	Consisting of four र.
	15 & 18	दीपक	Has 10 matras ending in a short.

mention of Jimūtavāhana (XVI, 3, 7) as the king of the Vidyādhara who lost his overlordship because he belauded his charity and sacrifice before Nārada. X

The existence of a ruling dynasty of Vidyādhara to the south of the Narmada is also vouchsafed by Padmagupta in his Navasāhasāṅkacarita where his contemporary hero Sindhurāja is said to have been helped by a Vidyādhara chief Sankhacūda the son of Sikhandaketu, against the Asura king Vajrāṅkuśa of Ratnavati. §

I may appear to be making history out of fables and fairytales, but the pieces of information culled here fit in so well with what we know from epigraphical records and literary traditions that the temptation to regard them as historical is irrefrangible. At any rate, the conclusion can safely be drawn that the ancestors of the Silāhāras, came from the border of the Himalayas, that they founded the city of great fame and antiquity, Tagara, and that they early became converts to Jainism and built the large cave-temple near their capital. Perhaps the name ' Silāhāra ' also points to their mountain origin.

Burgess has assigned the caves roughly to the period between 500 and 650 A.D. But this is only a conjecture. As we have seen, all of them may not be of the same period. The Silāhāras are known to have been reigning near the coast in the Thana district from 810 to 1260 having their capital at Puri (Elephanta). They were the governors of Konkan under the Rashtrakuta kings. Their three branches ruled in the Deccan in different parts, but the period of their supremacy at Terapura or Tagara is quite unknown. As we have already seen, Karakanda seems to have lived some time between 800 B. C. and 500 B. C. No wonder if that was the period of the Silāhāra ascendancy at Terapura.

As to the image of Pārśvanātha which Karakanda found buried in an anthill on the top of the hill, and which he then installed in the first cave, Kanakāmara tells us, as Karakanda was told by the Vidyādhara, that another two Vidyādhara who were brothers and friends of Nila, while on a religious tour from their home in the Northern Vedyardha to Lankā, picked it up from a hill called ' Siripudi ' in Malaya country (Malabar), and deposited it on the present hill. It is also said that the Jaina temple, at Siripudi was built by Suraprabha the king of Lankā who was a descendant of Rāvaṇa.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is now my pleasant duty to acknowledge the help that I received in the preparation of this volume. To Swami Virasena Bhaṭṭāraka of Karanja I am indebted for the first, and, by far, the most beautiful manuscript of the work that I saw. I am obliged to master Motilal Sanghi of Jaipur, and Dr. Tarachand Gangwal, palace surgeon, Jaipur, for securing me the facilities to collate the Jaipur MSS. of the work. To Mr. Nemichand Walchand Gandhi, pleader, Osmanabad, I am very highly obliged for his valuable help in taking the photos of the Terapur caves. He also sent me some local information about Terapur and its caves. To my colleague and esteemed friend Mr. J. W. Kulkarni, M. Sc., King Edward College, Amraoti, I am indebted for the reproduction of seven smaller pictures from the Western India Survey Report. It was his expert and scientific handling of the camera and his keen interest in the matter that enabled me to reproduce those pictures exactly in their original size and beauty. I received a loan of some books and pieces of information from my personal friends Dr. Baburam Saksena M. A., Ph. D., Allahabad University, Dr. Ludwig Alsdorf of Germany and Mr. V. V. Mirashi M. A. of Morris College Nagpur. My hearty thanks are due to all these gentlemen and to all other authors whose books I have consulted and quoted from.

TRANSLATION OF KARAKANDACARIU

CHAPTER I

1. I recall to mind the feet of the most gracious Jina, the destroyer of Cupid, dweller of the city of salvation, the sun that removes the darkness of sin, who rests in the highest abode and is absolved from death. Victory, oh God, the giver of the matchless happiness of salvation, and served by the rulers of gods, serpents and men. Victory, oh seer of the other end 5 of the ocean of knowledge, who has brought the most deserving to the path of salvation. Victory, oh charm for overpowering the snake of Karma, the root of all incantations, the allayer of the ghost, the mind. Victory, oh sole asylum of people lying in the four forms of life and remover of the mass of miseries of the good men who are warless. Victory, oh royal 10 swan of the lake of restraint, praised by the swanlike wise men. Victory, oh ample water to the fire of wrath, dispeller of darkness and holder of supreme knowledge. Victory, oh dweller of the heart of eternal bliss, waited upon by a hundred Indras, and abode of happiness. Victory, oh sun (lit.-friend of the lotuses) to the lotuses in the form of the deserving, 15 having lovable virtues, and the rich ocean of the nectar of self. Victory, oh God, the stainless, destroyer of the fear of worldly existence, ornament of the great mansion, the world. May the desired fruit be of the man who bows to your feet or recalls them to mind.

2. Bearing in mind Saraswati of divine speech, as well as the feet of the learned Mangaladeca, I narrate the life of king Karakanda pleasing to the ears of men, sweet, graceful, endowed with the gem of prosperous acts, well-known and brimmed with multitudinous excellences. Though the wicked are exceedingly perverse, though the people are tasteless and 5 sullied in their mind, though I know no grammar or metre and am dull in crossing the ocean of scriptures, though graceful speech does in no way flow forth, though I fight shy of the learned, though I did not sit at the feet of poets and though I sullied my fame by the company of the stupid, still, whatever fruit has accrued to me by recalling to my heart Siddhasena, worthy Samantabhadra, Akalankadeva the ocean of the water of scriptures, Jayadeva, the large-minded Srayambhū and the honourable Puspadanta, the abode of the goddess of speech, and by paying my respects to them, from that I express the theme of my heart full of interest and devoid of unpleasantness. Here there is no simulation. 10 15

3. In this Jambudvīpa, the foremost of the continents, the lamp of the islands, marked by the Jambu tree, girt up with the surrounding briny ocean and measuring a hundred thousand Yojanas, there is the vast and prosperous Bharata country shining with the rivers Gangā and Sindhu, the depositary of the jewels of the earth consisting of six parts and beautiful like the mine of gems (i. e. the ocean). Here is the pleasant Anga country as if the lady earth had put on a divine apparel; where lotuses have blossomed in lakes like eyes on the face of the earth; where the divine-bodied Yakshas having their affection fixed on the beauty of the farmers' wives, do not move off; where fields of paddy are protected by girls by enchanting the flocks of deer with their music, where travellers rid themselves of the fatigue by feasting upon grapes and sleep happily on earth lotuses and where the row of lotuses in the waters of canals looks extremely beautiful as if the earth were smiling. In that pleasant country, full of corn and gold, there is the attractive city by name Campā lovely to the eyes of people, the best on the surface of the earth and abounding in all excellences. 5 10 15

4. It is surrounded by a moat full of water like the earth looking beautiful with the ocean. With lofty and white (mansions painted with) Kāśisa, it is as it were, touching the sky with hundreds of arms; where lofty Jina-temples look beautiful as if they were pure, unbroken heaps of merit; where silk-banners are shaking on every house as if white serpents were gliding; which is resplendent with the rays of five-coloured gems as if a handful of flowers had been offered by Cupid; which is beautiful with picture-houses like fascinating aerial cars of gods; and which looks beautiful with streaks of saffron as if declaring itself to be the battle-field of Cupid. There are red lotuses on earth as if it declares to be holding hundreds of 5 10 fruits (?). By the divine virtue of the Jina Vasupūjya, the lustful persons were not overpowered by love. There ruled king Dhādivāhana who shattered his enemies and was an elephant to the tree of arrogance, who was endowed with fine arts and virtues and was devoted to his superiors.

5. He bore the yoke of the great car of virtue and was a shelter to the helpless, the poor and the miserable. By his fame the surface of the earth was whitened; by his largess all people were pleased. Gods sing his virtues and the enemies walk about terror-stricken. The goddess of speech adorns his lotus-like mouth, the goddess of wealth resides in his spacious bosom. His hand stretches forth to give wealth*, but never wields the arrow for the destruction of the living. Being struck with his commands the deer become maimed and do not roam about on earth. He was full-faced to the good; terrible, with knitted eyebrows, to the wicked. His mind was dyed in the colour of virtue and was never, for a moment, dipped in sin. His heart was deep like ocean, steady like Meru and wide like the sky. To him his attendants were loyal being pleased by his virtues. He became an ornament of the world. 5 10

6. One day Dhādivāhana made an excursion to Kusumapura. There the king saw a beautiful girl brought up by a gardener. Seeing her so attractive, the good king became stricken with love which aroused his passion. Being afflicted by the heat of the fire of separation, the king inquired of a certain man "Tell me, oh friend, whose daughter she is, a veritable fruited branch of the tree of Cupid". The man then told the facts to the king that the beautiful person was the daughter of the gardener. The gardener Kusumadatta was then summoned and the stoutly built man was asked hesitatingly "Is she your daughter or of somebody else; kindly tell me." He told the king, the moon on earth "My wife Kusumalattā found her in a box in the very deep current of the Ganges." 5 10

7. The very moment, the gardener, bearing the responsibility of virtue, took the box and speedily showed it to the king (saying) "Oh lord, served by men, she was placed in this. It is not known, sir, whose daughter the girl was". The king, who had reached the ocean of knowledge, examined it and found in it a golden finger-ring imprinted. Then he read 5

the beautiful letters " This girl is the daughter of a king, She was born the very mansion of Cupid, the daughter Padmāvatī of Vasupāla the king of Kausāmbī, of spreading glory ". Knowing this the king, who had already felt attached, instantly married her who could shake off his woe.

8. Then the king, having given good wealth to the gardener and being accompanied by her who was endowed with a lustrous body, feeling satisfied, came to his palace with great rejoicings. There the two lovely ones indulged in sports with satisfaction. One night, the wife, in sleep, saw a monstrous, rutting elephant with its trunk raised up. Getting up, she reported to the king " Look, my lord, I have seen, during night, a desirable elephant approaching ". Hearing those words and considering it as an omen, the king told her its bearing " There will be a son born to you, an ornament of the family, a delight to the mind of the people and destroyer of the wicked ". 5 10

9. While she lived in the company of her lord, in the course of the happy days, it so happened that an unprecedented shadow became manifest on her body. The bright cheeks became pale. The pearl-necklace, having its brilliance set at nought by the majesty of the breasts, no more adorned her bosom, but in turning round it made the mouths (nips) of those breasts dark like collyrium as a wicked person becomes prideless towards the best of the qualified when his head is bent down in a combat. The three folds vanished in a moment with shame as if through the fear of the child. Her gait became slow due to the burden of the belly, and weariness increased along with sloth and yawning. Thus (the child) quickened developing these symptoms of pregnancy over the whole body of the mother. A pearl garland was then tastefully strung which surpassed the lustre of the sun and the moon*. Seeing the queen, pre-eminent in the world, like this, the king made rejoicings. At this occasion, on one bright day, a longing arose in her mind. 5 10

10. Afflicted by it the resolute and sportive lady would not talk or indulge in any pastime. " How should I fulfil the longing of my heart "? She fell on the ground at the very moment. Seeing her, the good king

inquired " what is the cause of your affliction ? What ailments are there in your body on account of which you do not make a reply, oh courageous lady " ? Then, putting up with her trouble, she made an answer to the gracious king who had satisfied the gods " What is the good of my telling it to you, oh king, why my ample body has shrunk in half a moment. I have a longing, oh lord of men, which is never attainable by men. In drizzling rains, dressing myself as a man and mounting on the mightiest elephant in your company, oh lord of men, I would go round the city including the principal gateway. This is in my heart. If it is not accomplished, then I die even now ". 5 10

11. " Is it this desire that you have in your heart, oh darling " said the king smilingly; " I thought it was some cause, proceeding from me, that was giving you trouble. How great have you counted it, oh charming lady, do not wear out your body in vain. " Then the resolute lady says " During summer, when terrible forest-conflagrations rise up, where can a cloud be, my lord ? It is not possible, oh illustrious one. " Then the king, considering it in his mind, thought of the deity Megha-kumāra. The latter came because of his long attachment, having assumed the form of a cloud. When the sky became overcast by him, it began to drizzle. Then the king said to the lady who was easy at heart " Look at the dark cloud; quickly put on your dress, suitable for sport, and make your heart courageous, oh maḍam ". 5 10

12. Then the king got ready a fat, brilliant elephant, and having ordered trumpets to be blown and auspicious songs to be sung and having decorated it and presented it before his wife, the gracious king got her mounted on its back. The lord of men, in company of her, shone forth on it as if he was the lord of the gods. Then, sweet wind, blended with sandal, began to blow and the mass of clouds gently sent forth a spray of water. Then the memory came and the Vindhyas flashed forth in its mind; so the vicious elephant, excited at heart, ran off to Kalinjara. People ran after it but it could not be overtaken and it passed out of the town. 5

13. When the elephant was flying, heading for the forest, the queen, being looked at, said to her husband- " My lord, oh lord, get down; do not die for my sake. In your survival the kingdom will survive; in your presence righteous deeds will prevail; in your life all people will live, in your existence the pleasures of life will exist. Return to the city, oh king; 5 let the elephant take me away". Hearing that, the king caught hold of a tree and jumping off, came back instantly to the city with anxiety. In the mean while the irresistible elephant took her away further. The elephant, as it went on, came to a lake where it entered into deep water. Then that wife of the king, resembling a heavenly damsel, jumped in to the water with a trick. 10

14. Bearing deep sorrow in her heart, the highly virtuous lady, leaving the lake, went into the forest. There she saw a garden with decaying trees, deer-less and sapless like salvation devoid of passion and feeling. There, as she rested under a tree, the pleasure-garden blossomed up and became fruitful. Then some one reported the wonderful happening to the gardener incharge, in Dantipur "Listen, oh gardener, to my words; an unprecedented brilliance is visible to-day in the forest. The Bakula the Campaka and the mangoes have blossomed and all creeper-bowers have become green. Even the good trees that bear fruit in different seasons are bending with their crop of fruits. Swarms of bees, greedy of the fragrance, are humming, as if the forest-beauty is enchanting pure notes. Has spring arrived in that forest so that it appears so beautiful to my mind"? Hearing that, the forest-guard went there in a moment where the spring had manifested itself. Then, seeing that forest so lovely, the man was thrilled with joy for a moment and then he argued in his mind "Surely this has blossomed through no good luck of ours." 5 10 15

15. The forest-guard wandered through the forest; he looked for the cause of the affluence of the forest. Then wind, mixed with fragrance, blew as if the richness of the forest was declaring its nature. The guard went by the smell, by the way the wind was coming. He saw the heavenly damsel under the tree as if the forest-deity was shining forth in all her grace. He then thinks "She is not an ordinary woman; of divine body, she is extraordinary in appearance." He then called her out addressing her as his daughter and raised her up by catching hold of the palm of her hand, "Why are you waiting here, sour at heart, oh daughter; come quick to my home." Hearing his words, delightful to the ears, the lady walked up to his house. While she lived in the gardener's house, Kusumadattā thought in her heart, "This woman, seen by him there, is extra-ordinary. Is she a Kinnarī or a Vidyādhari (classes of demigods)? She is lovely to the eyes, the best of women, fair coloured like Campaka and brimmed with virtues. 5 10

16. The richness of her personal beauty is very splendid. The sun and the moon are, as it were, moving in the form of her nails. Her legs are like the plaitain tree which emulates her whole body (?). Thinking its trunk no good the lord of elephants has, as it were, resorted to the high peak of Meru. The mountain of the gods (Sumeru) thought it to be harder and so has followed the tender bodied at her hips. The ampleness of her hips is attractive as if Cupid has made it so, thinking it to be his home. The depth of the navel has, as it were, been given to her by the ocean calling her his daughter. Her large, protruding breasts, with scratches, look like the frontal globes of an elephant with fresh wounds. How can I describe the shapeliness of her creeperlike arms accompanied by the beauty of the leaf-like hands. The line of teeth is resplendent as if imitating the pomegranate seeds. Not tolerating the elevation of the nose, the lip has assumed redness. The pupils in the white and dark eyes look beautiful as if big bees were sitting on Ketaki leaves. The well curved line of eye-brows appears like the bow-stick taken up by Cupid. The forehead, in its great elegance, appears like the half-moon sticking and shining there. The hair, with bee-black locks, shake like darkness gathered there for fear of the face-moon. If by her beauty, matching Cupid, my husband becomes perturbed in mind, then, with a quarrel, he would certainly leave me and honour her".

17. Thus, feeling jealous, she turned her out giving her a bad name. The latter, without any resentment, walked out of the house the very moment. Proceeding on with great trouble, she saw the cemetery where kites were sitting on the pieces of the bodies of thieves and adulterers pierced with spikes; which was thick with the blood of the persons torn; where the animals, greedy of flesh, had commenced a dance; where the bellies of beasts were split by bears with restless tongues; which was haunted by demons rapturously feasting on flesh; which was crowded with tens of thousands of birds sporting and hovering, and beset with multitudes of creatures being consumed in the flames of fire; where masses of hair on the heads were fluttering in the air and where strips of rags, tied to each post, were shaking; which was sickening to people on account of the smell of human bodies and which at one place was overspread with skulls of the fractured. In that dreadful crematory, the terminus of corporeal existence, was born to her an excellent son, like gold or god in appearance, endowed with good signs 15 and delighter of the eyes and minds of people.

SECTION I

CHAPTER II

1. On the bright day the child was born, there occurred many auspicious signs as if the sun had dawned, and the faces of the directions had visibly brightened up. By his birth her misery was forgotten, as if the desire-giving tree had sprung up in the forest, as if the lords of the mountains had shot forth tearing the earth; as if the full moon had risen in the sky of its family. No sooner did she take up the born child than she saw a 5 Mātanga (a man of the lowest caste) in front of her. He was of a dark complexion and his eyes were red. He came close to the child and took it up in his hand like a golden jar lifted up by an excellent elephant. Lying in his hand it exhibited the beauty of the jewel shining on the crest of the serpent-king. When he started for home, taking it away, she raised a cry 10 " Oh sinful vagabond, whence have you come to take away my son. Not one calamity was crossed over when another, greater than the first, had cropped up." Then the Khecara, in the garb of a Matanga, with folded hands, said to Padmāvatī " Do not weep, my lovely sister; listen to my 15 account.

2. Here in this Bhadrata country is the famous and immeasurable Vijayārdha, the foremost of the mountains. It touches the eastern and the western seas, thus looking very beautiful like the beam of a balance. It is the meeting place of the Suras, the Kinnaras and the Khecaras established entirely by Tāra. On its southern range is a town where various travellers go about in conveyances. It is known by the name of Vidyutprabha. It is prosperous and famous for its excellent qualities. There was the renowned king Vidyutprabha profusely endowed with multitudinous lores (Vidyas). His wife was the good Vidyullatā like Gauri of Maheśa assuming beauty as desired. Of her was born a son, an abode of virtues, who became known on earth as Bāladeva; I am he. Hemamālā became my wife ever devoted with affection to me. In her company I went through air to the southern side for amusement. The Vindhya mountain stood before me between Āndhra and Kāśī.

3. Moving and jolting with jingling bells, surpassing in splendour a multitude of suns, my divine car went on through the sky till it would proceed no further. Seeing it standing still, through wrath, I drew forth my long, sharp sword. I stood looking in all directions for a moment; my pleasure was gone and I became dispirited in an instant. When I looked downwards, I saw the great sage, Suvrata, whose fame had grown and who was praised by people. He had his eyes fixed on his nose. His arm was extra-long like (the trunk of) a mighty elephant, a visible, irresistible stick for the chastisement of the senses. He was unshakable like the Meru, pure, all-knowing and absorbed in formless, steadfast meditation. Seeing him, angry as I was, oh sister, I took the sword in my hand and wrathfully got up to kill him where he stood meditating.

4. " He frustrated my purpose as I was going " thinking so, I disturbed him. Getting angry he then pronounced a curse on me " Oh vagabond, you will no more possess your lores. By that curse the lores were gone instantly. I then thought in my mind, oh sister, " This asge is not ordinary; in half a moment it happens as he says ". Thinking so I clung to his feet (saying) " Oh holy sage, why have you destroyed my lores. I am your servant, oh lord of lords; I would never leave your service even in the next birth. Pacify this fire of wrath, my lord; let it not prevail in this forest of grasslike body for ever ". By these words the best of the sage became pacified like the lord of serpents by the might of incantations. 10

Knowing the sage to be pleased at heart, I bowed to his lotus-like feet and said " Oh gracious sage, kindly tell me when the pleasant lores shall be mine again ? ".

5. Hearing that, the best sage, prossessing the highest knowledge, made a divine speech in front of me- " Oh Khecara, of the handsome king of Campā, the gracious Dhādivāhana, the wife Padmāvatī would be carried away by a vicious elephant. She would then be found by a gardener who 5 would instantly take her to Dantīpura. Being turned out by his wife, with a quarrel, she would come here and a son of exceeding lustre would be born to her, and you, an abode of virtues, shall bring him up. He shall obtain the kingship of that extensive city and at that time the lores shall be yours again ". Bearing this in mind, I have been residing at this crematory.
I shall keep him till he attains majority. With this idea I have caught hold 10 of your son. Do not weep; make your heart easy. As has been earned in the previous birth so you have to experience these days, oh highly virtuous lady ! "

6. Considering what was said in his speech by the master of lores, Padmāvatī gave him her son rather painfully (saying) " You shall keep him with wise consideration ". " I shall do all that you say, sister. I shall bring him up graceful in all his person ". Saying this to her, that Khecara went to his home taking the small baby with him. Giving it over to his 5 wife he spoke these words- " Take it, oh Hemamālā, it is your son ".
She took him instantly and kept him addressing him as son. In the meanwhile, Padmāvatī, afflicted in her mind, went at the very moment to the town nearby. Residing there, she took religious practices from an Arjikā (a Jaina nun) who was devoted to peace. Seeing there the 10 emaciated but exalted and noble sage, Samadhi-gupta by name, she instantly took a vow by the side of the great sage, thus relieving herself of all vexations.

7. Through her attachment for the son, she would frequently secure balls of molasses and sugar and send them to the house of the Khecara who was bringing up her son, the terror of his enemies. Seeing a big scar on his hand he gave him the name ' Karakanda ', which became wellknown all over the earth. He, the abode of all fine arts, was growing up day 5

by day like the moon with its digits gradually shining forth. At this juncture, there arrived the great sages Vasobhadra and Virabhadra, the ocean of scriptures. They were lean with the unbearable weight of penances and were accompanied by the excellent fourfold order. Some of them were absorbed in meditation and were very learned, while others had their bodies covered over with a mass of dirt. When they arrived at the dreadful crematory, one of them saw a miracle there. A bamboo-clump had grown from the eyes on the face of a human skull. He then asked " Tell me the cause of this, oh great sage; how has all this happened ? " 10

8. Hearing those words the matter was revealed by Vasobhadra to the younger ascetic. " These three mighty bamboos shall become the staffs of bonner, goading hook and umbrella. In whose so-ever hands these bamboos would fall, he shall obtain the entire earth ". This was heard by a Brahmana Sanmati, who was standing close to the sage. At the close of the day he counselled in his own heart " The words of the sage would never go false ". So, one day he got all the three bamboos cut quickly. But when he was going home with them, Karakanda came up to him and wrested them from the Brahmana. The Brahmana, through fear, allowed him to have them, not being able to withstand his might. But being disappointed 5 he said " Whenever you obtain the kingdom, make me your minister, oh beautiful friend ". Karakanda acceded to all that was said by the lovely Brahmana, and himself went home with those bamboos and reported the matter to his guardian in sweet tones. 10

9. For Karakanda, the affection of the Khecara increased very much. He was taught, along with politics, grammar, logic, hundreds of dramas, poetic compositions abounding in various sentiments, Vātsāyana (erotics), mathematics, the nine sentiments, the Mantras and all the Tantras, the art of winning the hearts of people and of making good machines, 5 Good use of swords, disks, spears and daggers, the science of bows, missiles and strong javelins, wrestling, acrobatic feats, jumping, turning and rolling of the body, and the cutting of various kinds of fruits, flowers and leaves. He was made to know all these pleasant arts and he also acquired dexterity in playing upon drums, tabors, lutes and flutes. Thus, every art that was 10 renowned in the world was taught by the Khecara to him who had a good liking. When any man is vexed by desire, tell me what wonders he may not perform.

10. Feeling very grateful at heart, the Khecara then says to Karakanda " Make company with a master of Vidyās. Go to his house and follow him up regularly ". Karakanda says " what is, oh father, the use of that master of Vidyās ? ". Then the Khecara says " Listen, oh innocent-minded. There were two friends living in the city of Kānyakubja, a merchant and a Brāhmana, endowed with Vidyā. The good men went to the Coda country desirous of wealth. Having acquired some money, they turned back for home. On the way, they met the father-in-law of the Brāhmana. The father-in-law saw them and immediately took them home. Being honoured as they lived there, a sounding-drum went round. Hearing the harsh, unmusical drum they instantly inquired of the father-in-law " For what purpose is this being beaten so harshly in public, oh maternal uncle ? " 5 10

11. He said " Here, the beautiful daughter of the king has forcibly been eloped by a Rākshasa. No body can rescue the poor one; companies of people and kings have been overcome by the Rākshasa. He lives in a deserted town beyond the river. No one can breathe there for his fear. (The king) is looking for a new-comer preeminent in Vidyā; for this purpose this (proclamation) goes round daily". Hearing those words, with smiling faces, they held up the drum as it was being sounded. Immediately, the drum-man returned and reported to the king - " Two men have arrived here, my lord, like pure praiseworthy heaps of virtue. They assert, Your Majesty, with confidence in their mind " We would do all that the king would say ". Then the king went and brought the two persons to his palace with honour, and immediately despatched them to the vicinity of that invincible Rākshasa. 5 10

12. They both went to the abode of the Rākshasa whom no body else would approach. There they saw the maiden with large breasts, a river of beauty, of golden hue. Then they saw the tawny-haired Rākshasa. By the repetition of the incantations he lost his malignity. Incapable of bearing the power of the incantations he said " I, Pavana-vega, am your servant ". Knowing the Rākshasa to be subdued, they went into the presence of the king along with the maiden. Accompanied by the Rākshasa 5 and the maiden they were seen by people coming. The people said " Today peace has been established here when such conjurers arrived ". Seeing them, the king became pleased at heart and gave them ample wealth. Addressing the maid as sister, they restored her to the king and then they, with stout and long arms like elephant-trunks, went joyfully to their own town ". 10

13. " Whoever made company with a man of Vidyas obtains happiness and wealth. Therefore, the company of the man of Vidyas should be courted so that it may be unbreakable. Do not make friends with a man devoid of learning, for, he would change his mind in time of calamity ". What fault has been seen in a man devoid of Vidya, the Khecara, with pleasure, narrated thus-- 5

" Two friends, belonging to the town of Benares, went to another country, ignorant as they were. Having acquired wealth, while returning, they encountered a Rakshasa on their way. Seeing him they fled away terror-stricken like the sinful, swerved from austerities. The fools did not know anything in their mind. They were overtaken by him as they fled. Then, being arrested, the two friends were released by another traveller after an open fight with him. Thus, they subsisted by the help of a stranger ". 5

14. " Similarly, never form company with the mean, oh courageous, handsome hero. Whoever fell in the company of the mean, he reaped a woeful doom. Listen, I tell you the story of the mean; know this moral in your heart, oh lucky one. There was a merchant by name Sudarsana. He was casually told by a mean king " If you can recite a verse without joining the lips, I would grant you lands without encumbrance ". Then the merchant recited a verse of some beauty without allowing his lips to touch each other " The earth, set ablaze in the whole forest by the flames of fire of the enemies' might, has been restored to pacification by being sprinkled over with a current of water in the form of the sharp edge of the sword ". The king, being pleased, gave lands to the good merchant, though with reluctance. Then one day, the good merchant, the ocean of virtues, satisfied the miscreants (by his largess). But then the crooked merchant formed connections with a slave girl who soon became pregnant and entertained all sorts of longings. 10 15

15. Then, instantly, she told the merchant " You must carry out this one word of mine. Give me the flesh of this peacock of the king so that I might live without doubt ". Then the foremost of the merchants went out and found the place of the peacock, in front of him. He hid the peacock and going to her house, gave her another creature. She instantly blessed the merchant and ate it calling it a peacock. Then, not finding the peacock in the whole town the king ordered a proclamation with a drum. Hearing that, the slave girl narrated the whole account of the peacock to the king. The king became very angry with the merchant and handed him over to the executioners for slaying. Thus, having experienced the fruit of the association with the mean, the merchant, through fear, quickly went home and instantly restored to the mean king that trifle of a peacock. 5 10

16. Now listen, oh son, to the story of the noble by which wonderful prosperity is achieved. Being aware in mind of the company of the mean, one man courted the company of a noble man. In the town of Benares there was a delightful king, Arabinda by name. Being content at heart, he once went out ahunting. He fell in to a waterless tract and became afflicted with hunger and thirst. A merchant, however, gave him three fruits very refreshing (as if) made of nectar. The king became pleased with the merchant and showed his favour to him on reaching home. Realising his great service, he appointed him to the office of ministership. Both of them lived there with affection, lustrous like the sun and the moon, the virtuous abode of numerous gems of good qualities like ocean in depth. 5 10

17. Then, one day, the great minister, abducting the son of the king and removing his ornaments, went to the delightful house of a harlot. There the merchant presented those invaluable ornaments, pleasant to the eyes of people, to her. He then told the harlot whose face was like the moon at the advent of the autumn ' I have killed the son of the king '. All this he told her whose love was unshakable. Hearing that, she said affectionately, ' Do not make this known to any body '. In the meanwhile, not finding his son, the king ordered a proclamation with the beating of a drum in the town- " Whoever would give information about the king's son, would be rewarded lands along with money ". Then some rash fellow instantly said in the presence of the king ' I have noticed your son, oh lord; he has been murdered by the new minister '. 5 10

18. Hearing those words the lord of the earth, possessing shapely arms, became pleased with the minister (and said) ‘ I have paid off the debt of one fruit out of the three to the noble-minded; I should be excused for the other two that remain still outstanding ’. In a moment, the lord of the earth became pleased. Having known the affection of the king, the minister 5 restored the son who had a heavenly body, (saying) ‘ You are a great friend of mine, oh lord of men; I had simply tested your mind, my lord ’. Hearing the words of the minister, the king conferred great favour upon him. Whichever person bears company of the great, he obtains fortune after the desire of his heart. I have narrated to you this story of the noble; bear it in 10 mind, my son, as a channel of virtues”. Karakanda was taught by the Khecara all the arts by the wisdom of his heart. “ Whoever person would conduct according to this moral, would certainly rule over the entire globe”.

19. Hearing that speech of the Khecara, Karakanda would not leave his side. When out of home for play, Karakanda would not leave that crematory. While he was amusing playfully like this, one day, in Dantipura, there occurred the death of the king who had shattered the enemies that were roaming about, who had destroyed the forest-fire of 5 immorality, passion and fear, and whose orders people dared not transgress. Cries of woe arose all over the great town; a very great calamity befell the people who said “ There is no prince who, being pre-eminent, might rule here ”. At this time an idea flashed forth in the mind of the minister and he looked at a great elephant with beautiful tusks. Having worshipped the 10 rutting elephant, the wise one entrusted to him a brimful jar having presumed in his mind that he would empty it over one who may be destined to rule.

20. The bast of the twice-born recited the Samas with proper accent and groups of gods were assembled by the excellent (minister). The drum resounded along with the conch, the tabor, the Kakalu and the trumpet that filled the earth. The mighty elephant started from the palace like a paramour from the house of a harlot, shaking its trunk and 5 moving its ears, with eyes rolling, and white in appearance. Holding the brimful jar with its trunk, like the moon following up the peak of a mountain, passing from house to house in the town and still maintaining all its dignity, the elephant, having wandered through the town sportively, went

quickly perceived the prince, an extraordinary Cupid. Bending its head, the elephant emptied the beautiful jar over his head. Observing that, the people beat their foreheads and raised loud cries of sorrow (saying) " What has this elephant done ? It has placed the jar on a low born ".

21. So thinking, the feudatories and the ministers would neither walk forward nor look up. While they stood thus perplexed in mind, the Vidyas that had vanished by the curse of the sage, returned to the Khecara at the very moment. Then, thrilled with joy, the gracious Khecara told the people
" He is not the son of a Matunga; he is the son of a king and has a splendid 5 body. Do not hesitate because he would go and move in the first rank; you put your hand on the forepart of the elephant's trunk ". Then he gave in to the hand of Karakanda the Vidya which people look for in battle. Having done all this, the Khecara, by the power of his Vidyas, went to his home by the aerial path. The proclamation of victory spread through the sky, the 10 immortals made celebrations, and men, like gold and gods in appearance, placed Karakanda on the throne.

Here ends, in the life of the great king Karakanda, composed by Sage Kanakamara, which is an ornament to the ears of the holy and which presents the richness of the fruit of the desire-giving tree of the five auspicious rites, the second chapter, describing the acquisition of the throne by Karakanda.

SECTION II

CHAPTER III

1. Then the new king was thus addressed by the ministers "Get, oh gracious one, on the back of the elephant, come quick and bear the burden of the administration of Dantipur". Then Karakanda got on the mighty elephant whose temples were wet with an incessant flow of ichor. He exhibited a very charming grace as if the lord of gods was adorning the back of Airavata. He proceeded along with the prominent persons being fanned by the moving chowries, being entertained with music by excellent women who were mistresses of sport, elegance and pleasure, being eulogised by bards who threw in to shade the notes of a cuckoo, being attended by the citizens who had set their minds upon him on account of their attachment for noble qualities and being praised by the well-disposed who had bent their foot-steps for the world to come. Being served by other people also, the charming hero went into the town along with all the persons. That repository of virtues was seen entering by the women of the city like the son of Daśaratha, the store-house of lustre, by the heavenly women in Ayodhya. 5 10 15

2. There in the town, the beautiful women that would overpower the minds of sages absorbed in meditation, felt perturbed. One woman pushed on speedily feeling agitated, while another stood at the door being dumbfounded. Another ran being greedy of the affection of the new king, unmindful of her dress got loose. Some one applied collyrium profusely to her lips and lac paste to her eyes. One followed the manner of the dressless and another took her baby upside down on her hips. One young woman put the anklet on her wrist and bore the garland on her waist leaving the head. Another simple woman would not let off a cat thinking it to be her baby. Yet another ran up full of the new king in her mind but fell on the ground overtaken by the illusion of love, while one, rich in pride but overladen with love, with hard and ample breasts, fawn-eyed, bright and lustrous like heated gold, walked straight towards Karakanda. 5 10

3. With his heart delighted by the acquisition of the new kingdom, Karakanda, entering the town riding on an elephant, arrived sportively at the palace. He saw the high, royal mansion, very attractive like a Himalayan peak. With arches of pearl-strings, it was, as if, smiling with its close, bright teeth. It was jingling with small bells and flourishing with banners as if a lovely woman was dancing with the strokes of her palms. It was inlaid with gold, gems and jewels as if a celestial car had dropped from heaven. There the pure-hearted new king entered being preceded by the elder people pure in mind. Then came out a woman with an auspicious golden jar in her hand. The auspicious rites were performed with excellent lamps and he was hailed with words of victory by hundreds of women. With his coronation performed with golden jars, he was made to enter the palace. He, the mine of all virtues and store of good character, endowed with the feeling of modesty, lived in the town and carried on the government, attended by the feudatories and ministers.

4. While ruling there, he ordered to be brought immediately those bamboos which were kept on account of the prophecy, and they were turned in to the staffs of his banner, goading hook and umbrella. He then called the good Brahmana who was waiting there on account of hope, and made him his minister. Then, one day, while roaming through the town for sport, Karakanda saw a man of graceful features who had arrived, in his wanderings, into a foreign country. He also saw in his hand a wonderful portrait which attracted the minds of the people. King Karakanda asked him " Give me the portrait, I shall see it with all my heart ". He handed over to the king the portrait to which people had been attracted through affection. Karakanda saw the grand portrait five-coloured and shining with manifold qualities. There he saw the seemly beauty painted as if the arrow of Cupid was lodged in to his heart. Hot and long sighs proceeded from his lotus-like face and he felt a burning fever that made him uneasy. Karakanda saw the most excellent portrait and stood bewildered for a moment. By his horripilation he told the man about the separation, by it the new king closed his eyes with a depressed heart.

5. The man, holding the portrait, knew the heart of the king " Probably, he will be the husband of the maid ". Thinking so, he said " Oh brother, give me my portrait so that I may go, oh king ". But the latter, feeling excited, would not leave it. With sighs, the king then said " My friend, tell me confidently for what purpose you are wandering about with this portrait? ". Hearing that, he, obeying the words, gave to the king an account of the portrait. " There is, my lord, the Saurashtra country which fully imitates the world of the gods. There is the town called Girinagara pleasant to the eyes of the Suras, Khecaras and men. There rules king Ajavarma, the splitter of the heads of his enemies, with his wife Ajitangī. From the latter, the attractive king got a daughter named Madanāvali, a basket of beauty, of sweet voice, pleasant to the eyes of good men and a store-house of lustre. 5 10

6. Madanāvali, one day, went to the pleasure garden in the company of her friends. There she saw some Khecaras pleasant to the eyes and mind of men, riding on swings and singing pleasing songs about Karakanda to the accompaniment of a low-tuned lute. Listening to the heart-winning songs, she fell on the ground, shaking her body. Perplexed, unconscious, emaciated in body like the digit of the moon in the dark fortnight, and trembling like a plaitain tree struck by the wind, she was brought home, along with sorrow, by her comrades. She was then asked meekly by her friends agreeable in nature and removers of the mental agonies of men, " Why have you become distressed, friend; tell us, oh dear sister ! " Through her affection for her companions, the young girl, in her simplicity, told them about the fire of separation " That song which the Khecaras sang with reference to Karakanda was heard by me. My heart got excited by it and then all the four quarters became full of uneasiness. 5 15

7. I have told you, friend, the circumstances; satisfy me if you can, before my life which is being consumed in the flames of separation, dies out, oh friend ". Then with sorrow, the latter reported the matter, in brief, to the king " Madanāvali has become lovesick by listening to the songs about Karakanda ". Hearing that about the maid, the king got the portrait of the deer-eyed one painted, and handed it over to me, oh lord of men, adorned with victory and the moon in the sky of your family. I then came to your town with the portrait, oh vanquisher of irresistible foes and endowed with the spirit of a warrior. Whoever becomes struck with attachment at its sight, he is going to become her husband, oh lord of men ! I have told it all to you, oh king; agree to it now. Let the maid with 5 10 eyes like a lotus-leaf and face like the moon, hold your palm of the hand in her tender hand ”.

8. Listening to the words of the man who was holding the picture, the king agreed to it all. The excellent king, the moon in the sky of his family, sent suitable persons from his side. On an auspicious day, well attended, they returned, bringing with them Madanāvali. The market places were decorated, arches were flung at every house and a wristlet was fastened on to him. Various kinds of musical instruments were sounded and sentimental songs were sung. Highly emotional dances were performed and lines of horses and elephants were drawn up. The veil on the face of both the persons was opened up like the mass of affection of their hearts. They were made to go round the buttered fire, seven times, by the priests who recited the sacred formulae. The bridegroom offered his hand to the bride and performed the sacred rites by his right hand. A close ‘union of the stars’ took place so that the affection may not be split even in the next birth. The union of the hearts had taken place before hand; the formalities were gone through merely for the satisfaction of the people. Thus, on an auspicious day, the courtiers performed the marriage of the two whose hearts were steeped in love. The marriage of the king took place seeing which even the Suras and the Khecuras became excited and feeling discontented with their own pleasures, became envious of his fortune in their minds.

9. On that occasion, his mother Padmāvatī also came hurrying to see her son. King Karakanda saw her and bowed to her feelingly. Being delighted by the marriage of her son, she instantly pronounced her blessings “ Live long, my son, the lord of the earth, as long as the current of the Jumna and the Ganges lasts ”. With obeisance and respect, she was brought in with the words “ This day is very auspicious to me ”. She was honoured with sweet words and was made to dress herself in bright clothes. Pronouncing her blessing, she soon went out like the brilliant fame of Karakanda. In the meanwhile, the gatekeeper, arousing affection in the hearts of men, came into the presence of Karakanda. Placing his lotus hands on his lotus-head, the gatekeeper said in a loud voice “ The good ambassador from the king of Campā is waiting at the porch, oh lord ”.

10. Hearing those words, Karakanda instantly ordered the gate-keeper to go quickly and bring in his presence the ambassador of the king of Campā. Hearing the words of the king, the gatekeeper brought him in instantly. Seeing him, the king honoured the ambassador with presents and a seat, (and asked) “ Oh ambassador, tell me about the welfare of the king of Campā, all of whose dominions are well settled “. The ambassador said “ Happy is he, oh king, who has persons like you for friends. Being ever served by lords of men, he remembers you, oh lord of lords. As coolness is not separate from water, so are you to the king of Campa, undoubtedly. Accept, oh king Karakanda, the excellent service of the lord of Campa. Thus getting united, may you both enjoy all the pleasures and the earth. 5 10

11. “ Without service, oh friend, even a cubit of earth can not be obtained for enjoyment. If you do not accept his service, then doom will some how make room for itself “. Hearing those words, Karakanda, becoming wrathful in his heart, and stretching his red eyes towards his forehead as if the sun and the moon stood in the sky, (said) “ Go away you ambassador, go where your master is; do not stay here even for a moment. Tell the king of Campā in brief that I was quickly coming to him. If he has the warrior's pride for battle, let him offer me battle immediately “. Hearing this, the ambassador went where Dhādīvāhana was (and reported) “ The king of Dantīpura has said, my lord, that he would not bow to you but would rather fight with you on the battle field. This is what the courageous one has said “. 5 10

12. Hearing those words, the king of Campā made his preparation, seriously setting his mind upon it. In the meanwhile, the king of Dantīpura caused the earth to shake along with the Mandara mountain. The destroyer of the lives of his foes caused dust to rise up in all the ten directions by his marching. The sky was covered up and the sun began to fluctuate by the hurry. In wrath, he ordered a quick march. He came to the region of the Ganges and saw the river Ganges as he proceeded. It looked beautiful with its white and zigzag stream as if the wife of the white serpent was moving. As it flowed from a distance it looked very pretty like the glory of the great mountain Himalaya. By means of the people bathing on both its sides and offering water to the sun with their hands holding 5 10

darbha grass and raised up, the river was, as it were, under these guises, declaring "I am pure and go my own way; do not get angry with me, my lord!". Having observed the river, the king named Karakanda went to the town of his father, the abode of numerous excellences. He who caused fear to the great gods and the Khecuros by means of the arrows discharged from his bow, besieged the town on all the four sides with his irresistible elephants, horses and commanders of men. 15

13. When the siege was laid by the king, the people of the town became immediately perturbed. A certain person informed the king "Oh lord of men who has subdued all the forces of the enemy, the very fire to the forest of the opponent's army, who has satisfied the desires of the panegyrists and good men, elephants having formidable trunks are groaning; excellent horses with curved mouths are neighing; chariots are moving with a rumbling noise and fluttering with shining banners, the lustre of the swords surpasses the rays of the sun; hooked spears are quivering; lances are shining with daggers and are speedily active like wind. Thus the forces of the enemy, very mighty and irresistible like lion, have made an attack on you". Hearing that, the lotus-face of the lord of men came to resemble a red lotus. He bit his lips; his eyes had frowning eyebrows, the fire of wrath increased and delight was at an end. 5 15

14. He then got up. His servants, dreadful even to the gods in battle, ran up. Horses swift like wind, and elephants were got ready. Excellent chariots moved on with rattling wheels. Some rushed forth bearing lances, uttering various notes of challenge, while other excellent persons regardful of the honours received from their master and loyal to the lotus-feet of the king, praiseworthy and irresistible in battle, advanced bow-in-hand and delighted at heart. Some marched forth trembling with rage and others shining with drawn swords. Some were thrilled with horripilation; others put on their bodies their armours. Some, being steeped in the sentiment of the battle-field, went by the path pleasing to the heavenly damsels.* The king of Campa marched out of the town attended by horses, elephants and excellent chariots. Tell me, by whom with formidable, mighty and stout arms, was he not followed? 5 10

* This also indicates that the metre of the Kadaraka is Shagrinī.

15. Then trumpets were blown that filled the entire earth. All musical instruments are sounding, the armies are preparing. At the command, they draw up in ranks and fall upon the forces of the enemy. Lances are breaking; elephants are thundering. They gallop with speed; they cling to the tusks of elephants. Bodies break; skulls crack; headless trunks run about and rush into the enemy's lines; entrails get dislocated and drop out along with blood; bones are twisted and necks are being broken. Cowardly people fled away, others fought the enemy at close quarters, while yet others, drawing up their swords, stood firmly engaged in fight. 5 10

16. Then, with anger, the lord of Campa, riding in a chariot, rushed forth like the lord of gods. He quickly went into the ranks of the enemy's forces and encountered king Karakanda. There was then an uproar in both the armies which covered the sky with showers of arrows. Karakanda who had long arms like the trunk of Airavata, through wrath, suddenly flung a sakti (a kind of missile) at the king of Campa. The chariot with the banner-ensign was, in a moment, shattered and then the charioteer was quickly laid low by him. Angrily, the king of Campa discharged his arrows very quickly. When the arrows were shot by the king of Campa the forces of Karakanda took to their heels in a moment. Karakanda saw his army routed and extreme anger flashed forth in his mind. So, he immediately commissioned the Vidya which was given to him by the Khecara. 5 10

17. Then with irresistible anger, he discharged the Vidya. In an instant, the bold Vidya was seen rushing forth quickly, producing hushing and humming sounds, matching the wind in speed, acting like a demoness, touching the sky with its brilliance, crushing the temples of the elephants and shattering the chariots against one another. Whoever were seen on the battle-field, fled away at her sight. Some were made to fall in to a swoon while others were forced to fight. Some were split with strokes and others were deprived of their lives. Then the king of Campa, getting enraged, quickly grasped the sword in his hand and in half a moment, shook off the power and energy of the Vidya which was devouring hundreds of men. 5 10

18. Karakanda saw his Vidya gone and getting rageful, he took the bow in his hand. He put the string on the bow seeing which people became alarmed. At this time, the gods in heaven who follow virtues, became perturbed. By the terrific and dreadful twang, the globe of the earth tottered and its very base (Kūrma) crashed, the surface of the earth was ruffled and the biggest mountain was shaken, the abode of sharks (i. e. the ocean) became unsteady, the god presiding over the earth (Dhuramindra) trembled, the god of the aerial beings whirled and the king of gods was thrilled. Hearing that twang of the bowstring, chariots broke, the mightiest elephants fled away, the arrogance of the king of Campa melted off and the Khecaras, being horror-stricken, could not move. 5 10

19. Then the hearts of the gods were rent and the enemy's forces stood dumbfounded through terror. He took the shooting position, the pride of the king of Campa was broken, the bow was got ready in a moment and the string was bathed in the water of perspiration. Karakanda fixed the mighty arrow to his bow and the king of Campa discharged another. When that arrow also went fruitless, Padmarati arrived on the battle-field. She was seen by the king and was saluted with the bending of the head from a distance. " Oh, mother, mother, why have you come to this uncontrolled battle in the midst of the multitudes of warriors ? " She replied " Hold back your bow, my son; this Dhadivahana is your father ". " Tell me, noble mother, how this king, the home of virtues, is my father ? " Then she instantly told him " Listen, oh powerful lord of the earth, my son- 5 10

20. I was the wife in the home of the king of the town of Campa, subduing the hearts of people. When you came into my womb, a calamity befell me. I was taken away to the outskirts of the town of Dantipura by an uncontrollable elephant. There you were born at the dreadful crematory. I was delighted to see you ". Hearing those words, king Karakanda, for a moment, stood bewildered. Having said this to her son, she fearlessly went with quickness to her husband. She was seen by the king of Campa like the river Ganges by the ocean. Though he recognised her to be Padmarati, still, through his good nature, he saluted her. Since she bore the weight of the vow, the king praised his wife. She was questioned by the king as to how she escaped from that elephant. The latter told him immediately " Oh king I got free from the elephant on the bank of a lake. 5 10

21. Close to it in the crematory was born this son, the ornament of the family. He was brought up by a certain Khecara and I took a vow then and there through heaviness (of heart). Then the king of Dantipura died and he was made the king. Know this who is fighting against you, to be the same; you have been vexed by the monster wrath. Do not be silly, 5 give up this tenacity; oh king, this king is your own son ". Hearing those words, the king of Campa became pleased at heart instantly " Blessed am I who has such a son long-armed and steadfast in battle ". Leaving aside his bow with the arrow dropped, the great king went near Karakanda. Then Dhadvahana, advancing instantly, embraced his son as prince 10 Pradyumna, the repository of lustre, was embraced by Damodara going to the battle field.

22. Karakanda then addressed his father " That I declared a war on you, do not mind this mischief of mine, oh lord: forgive it all, my sire ". On hearing those words, the king of Campa felt instantly thrilled at heart. He took him to the capital along with all other kings and conducted him in with celebrations. That town looked so beautiful with Karakanda that 5 the city of gods fought shy of it. People, taking jewels, came affectionately to the palace for offering their felicitations. Then the royal fillet was fastened on Karakanda who was a millstone to recalcitrant kings. For his part, the king soon adorned his body with the beautiful ornament of penance. Having practised very difficult, passion-killing austerities that had the 10 power to break the tie of the eight Karmas, he, abandoning his body and cutting off the knot of the heart, became attached to the neck of the damsel salvation. Dhadvahana of goldly and godly appearance and abode of virtues, went to the house of salvation, while Karakanda lived on in the town looking after the government and winning the hearts of proud women. 15

SECTION III

CHAPTER IV

1. Having consolidated all his dominions Karakanda questioned Mativara of pure intellect " Tell me your opinion, oh Mativara; is there any man who, being insolent, does not bend to me even now ? " Then Mativara said " Oh lord of lords, the whole earth serves you. But in the Dravida country there are kings who, being bold and laughty in their heart, do not bow to any one. The kings of the prosperous Cola, Pāndya and Cera do not accept your service, oh lord ! " Hearing this, the king of Campā instantly despatched an ambassador to them. He went and told the Cola and other kings " Pay homage to the feet of Karakanda ". But they rebuked the ambassador saying " We do not bend to any one except the Jina ". He returned and told Karakanda " In brief, they will not serve you ". Hearing those words, king Karakanda took a vow " If I do not place my foot upon their heads then I shall have no concern with any wordly possessions such as territories, children and the pleasures of the senses ". Taking this vow, Karakanda immediately ordered a march in wrath. The king of Campā marched against them. Mounting an elephant he passed out of the town accompanied by the fourfold army, thus exhibiting the grace of the lord of gods ". 5 10 15

2. As he marched, the earth was rent by the hoofs of the horses and smoky dust rose to the sky and enveloped the directions as if a veil was cast on the faces of the quarter-elephants. The earth trembled, the mightiest mountains shook and the lords of gods in the sky fled away quivering. Bending his way to the South, he came to Terāpura. On its southern side in the great forest, he encamped his fourfold army. In a moment, the lions and the Palindas were disturbed. Five-coloured tents were pitched up as if the houses of gods had alighted on earth. The elephant-drivers took the elephants to a watery place and the excited donkeys ran after their mates. The officers of the king unfurled the banners 5 10

as if the earth began to dance with her hands up. While kind Karakanda was halting in camp there with all his mighty forces, the guileless door-keeper came in to his presence and paid his salute from a distance.

3. "Your Majesty, there is in Terapura a king who is known over the globe of the earth by the name of Sima. He has come here to visit you; shall he come in or shall he go back?" Hearing these words of him, Karakanda ordered the gate-keeper "Allow admission to the king of Tera in half a moment; you yourself go and bring him in." The king was brought in 5 by the gatekeeper and was honoured by Karakanda. After doing the formalities the latter asked "You are ever happy, I hope, oh lord of men?" He replied "I am happy in as much as I have been spinkled over by the water of your kindness." By his words the affection of Karakanda was roused for him. He then favoured him immensely and pleased him by 10 presents and by speech. Sima was then asked by Karakanda "My brother! tell me, particularly about some striking wonder that you may have observed during your excursions?"

4. Hearing those words, Sena the king of Terapura told Karakanda "My lord, to the west of this place, close by, there is a cave attractive to the eyes, which is supported by a thousand pillars. Above the cave, on the great hill, like a crest-gem on the crown of its head, there is a large and beautiful ant-hill whose extent no body has found out. A white elephant 5 comes there with water and lotuses and worships it. This the elephant has been doing for a long time. This is all that I have to say, my good master!" Hearing this, king Karakanda, accompanied by Siva, went towards the hill. That hill which was beautiful like the breast of the lady earth and which was, verily, the house of sport for gods, was seen by 10
Karakanda in an instant like Kailāsa by the emperor Bharata.

5. Here, lions wander about having torn the frontal globes of elephants, and drop the pearls from their paws. At places, lions are indulging in roars and elephants do not shed the rut. Here, antelopes always graze and at places monkeys hoop. At places are wandering boars with terrible tusks, offering a front even to lions. Proceeding for some distance 5 over the hill, Karakanda saw the cave as if Indra had found his celestial car. King Karakanda entered it (saying) "Blessed is he, lucky and deceitless, who has built this cave of a thousand pillars ". He, then, saw the Jina free from attachment, and began to sing a hymn with devotion " Be Victorious, oh destroyer of the four forms of existence, remover of 10 impurities. Be victorious, oh thunderbolt to the mighty mountain of pride. You are my shelter, oh lord, stainless, oh sun to vanquish the darkness of ignorance. "

6. Having worshipped Lord Jina, both the kings quickly mounted over the hill. They looked in all directions and the kings became happy in their mind. While they stood in the forest looking around, the very instant the good elephant arrived. The lord of the elephants came into the lake to get lotuses, like a mountain going to the 5 sea. It moved on with the sound of its fanning ears and giving out rut flowing from the temples, having beautiful, tawny eyes, admirable by its tusks, having a prominent backbone like a stringed bow, driving away the swarms of bees and filling the faces of the directions with water from its trunk, plucking lotuses by hundreds with its trunk and bearing a string 10 of good pearls on its head*. The elephant took the lotuses, quickly filled its trunk with water and circumambulating the ant-hill he bathed it and worshipped it devoutly.

7. The devout elephant went away having worshipped the ant-hill. Then king Karakanda went to the lake. He saw the lake full of water producing confidence in him as he approached it, and uttering ' come ', as it were, through the chattering of the birds: holding jars of water in the form of the frontal globes of water-elephants; giving satisfaction to beings 5 afflicted with thirst; flourishing through its lotus plants with uprising stalks; proclaiming its mind through the flying up fish; laughing with its teeth in the form of foamy bubbles; going with very pure and numerous qualities; joyful through blossomed lotuses; dancing through the various kinds of birds: singing through the humming of the bees and running 10 through the water agitated by the wind, as if it was a noble person, agreeable and worthy of a visit. Taking out water, both the kings washed their feet and cleansed their mouths and then they examined the ant-hill which had been worshipped by the elephant with lotuses.

8. Karakanda thought in his mind " This beautiful ant-hill is certainly worshipful. Some great deity is residing here on account of which the elephant has worshipped it and gone away speedily. Surely, it is because of its worshipping this anthill that the elephant has become white in colour. " Thinking so in his mind king Karakanda devoutly stayed there observing a fast. On the next day, Karakanda got the anthill excavated quickly. They levelled up the ground as if a mass of sin had been carried to utter destruction, When they dug a little further, the lustre of the rays of gems flashed forth. That very profuse and bright lustre pervaded the expanse of the sky and roamed in all the four directions as if the brilliant fame of Karakanda was advancing to see the lord of the immortals. 5 10

9. As they dug on getting thrilled, a Jina image was discovered there. A serpent, made of gems and jewels with a large hood, shone over it like an umbrella. The kettle drum, the halo of light and the two Chowries furnished delight to the ears and eyes of all. The lion-seat was inlaid with various jewels as if the king of gods had worked it out himself. When it was brought out, it shone forth like a mass of virtues (come up) rending the earth. The immortals then beat their kettle drum in the sky and a dense shower of flowers fell from heaven. All the directions became clear and sweet wind blew forth. All the ambitions of the king who was a repository of all gems of virtues, became fulfilled. Through devotion, his body became horripilated and through delight the lotus of his face became full blown. Fetching water from the lake, he bathed the Jina who was free of all impurities and worshipped it with many lotuses. 5 10

10. With his head bending low by the weight of excessive devotion, the virtuous king began to sing a hymn. " Be victorious, oh lord, having your feet scratched by the jewels of the crowns of gods, excellent king to protect the entire world like one town, an axe to cut down the tree of Karmas, the best means to cross the ocean of the four forms of existence, the sun to remove the darkness of sin, the utter vanquisher of the warrior-infatuation, a secret charm to subdue the snake of attachment, a good machine to crush the sugarcane of Cupid, shining with the rays of supreme knowledge, the stopper of the flow of Karmas, the ear-ornament of the young goddess of victory, the swan in the lake of the minds of the faithful, eternal, stainless, free from the elements of a physical body and attached to the face 5 10 of the lady salvation. Be victorious, Oh god Jinendra, my lord; I have meditated upon thee in my mind day and night, but to-day my eyes have become cool in a moment by your sight. "

11. The Jina was lifted up by the good king like the Kailāsa by the Lord of Lankā. Held up on his head with both the hands, it shone forth like the Gocardhana wielded by Hari. On that occasion, the gods sent a shower of flowers and delight was caused in his mind. Some of the immortals held up the umbrella while others anointed the body with saffron. 5 Some waved big Chowries and others beat the loud kettle-drum. Some devoutly performed the Tāmbura dance while others paid homage to the feet of the Jina from a distance. As the lord Jina, of felling passions, was bathed by the immortals and was brought back home from the Mandara (mountain), in the same way, the god, the mansion of virtues, was brought to the cave 10 by Karakanda. The king installed the Jina in the cave and having worshipped and anointed it with sandal, he observed, once again, the first image, bearing devotion in his mind.

12. Then at the moment when his sight fell on the Jina, he observed a protuberance on the lion-seat, as if a green-jewel was shining on a crystal slab or the deer was clinging to the lord of the stars (the moon). Seeing it, the king began to think in mind that the protuberance was marring the beauty of the Jina image. He called an artisan who was 5 clever in executing all artistic work " Oh great friend ! tell me, since you know all the best canons of fine arts ", asked the king speaking sweet words, " Why do we see this protuberance on the Jina image ? " Hearing this, the remover of evils, who used to make images of different shapes, said " Whatever you have asked, my lord, I shall tell you, pleasant and 10 pain-removing as the account is. When the Jina image was carved, oh king, a stream of water flowed forth the very moment: for this reason the protruding patch was put up. This is what I have heard and seen by tradition. "

13. Then the lord of men said " My great friend ! how can I see the wonderful stream ? " Hearing that he said " Oh my gracious lord ! if it flows forth some how, it will cause many diseases in the country, oh admirable one, and those who would drink the water, will, for ever, be incapacitated; the stream is so woeful. Knowing this, why should you cause it 5 to be brought forth ? " Hearing this, the king said " I shall check the water, my friend, and shall also rebuild the cave; but you must show me the wonder. " The artisan, hearing it, said again " If I scrape off this protuberance, oh lord, how shall I get away from the consequent flood ? " At those words, the king immediately caused a mound (Dardura) to be raised instantly. Repairing the cave carefully with various kinds of stones with sewers, the king and that artisan, only the two persons, went in front of the image. 10

14. That which was considered ugly by the king was struck with his chisel by the artisan. As the hard strokes fell, sparks of fire were emitted like the marks of the fire of wrath that was about to burst forth. Then, from the mouth of that protuberance rushed forth a profuse and strong current of water. First it came out bubbling as if the earth was vomiting through fear. Coming out, it shone forth like the wife of the lord of serpents come up tearing the earth. Meeting the earth, it looked beautiful like the gurgling Ganges. Spreading about, it instantly filled with water the whole of the beautiful cave like a pool of nectar with the liquid of different kinds of juice, or, as if, the essence of religion stood in the form of water and as if the hill had made its mind manifest " I am gentle and attractive to the heart ", and as if, getting pleased, it gave to the king the store of nectar in a nut-shell. 5 10

15. Seeing that, they, becoming fearful in their minds, moved off from the place. The king went over the mound and stayed there careworn and depressed. Like the lord of the mountains by a stroke of the thunderbolt or the lord of gods with his army fled away, or an elephant torn by the nails of a lion, did the king stand there misery-stricken. He trembled, whirled, shook, constantly rubbed his hands in grief, beat his brow, breathed heavily and said again and again in hoarse voice " Alas! what have I done this, wicked and mischievous as I am. Alas! I shall acquire sin as fruit of this. Alas! due to what action of mine have I been so misled ? " The king stood there covering his face with his hand (and saying) " Who was worshipped by hosts of immortals, of adorable might and the home of righteousness, that same god, the most prominent in the world, alas, alas, where have I brought and abandoned through my sin ? ". 5 10

16. As the king, rent by sorrow, stood there in distress, some blessed Sura arrived from the sky. Abode of virtues, destroyer of sorrows, removing detachment and creating interest, endowed with a crown, with heart set on Jina, greatly lustrous, flying through the sky, beautiful in form, following up the best of the mountains, a Bhujanga prince alighted on earth and bowing with a nod and speaking pure, perfect in all his limbs, came up there. He was seen by the king as delighted in mind, delighter of the king, delighter of men. He said " Oh lord of men ! give up your grief; do not leave off the undertaking through sorrow. Whatever I had thought in my mind, you have done and much more shall you do. 5 10

17. Oh lord of men ! I have been living here for long and am able to check this current of water. If I get enraged, I would knock down the cluster of stars, break the hood of the serpent at the bottom of the earth, crush the eminent mountains and stop the gods advancing in battle. Even a god cannot move about through fear of me, what to say of any man who may be perverse ? I have been staying here as the guard of the image. A great adverse period of time is going to come. Being expected for a very long time, oh sincere hearted, you have come now, my friend. I have guarded it for such a long time, good sir, sixty thousand years have come and gone. You have done well, oh gracious one, that you have installed the great god in the water-cave. Bringing the Jina inlaid with jewels, you have placed him in this splendid, golden and immortal cave. You have accomplished this. I am now free to trip it over the globe of the earth merrily. 5 10

Here ends, in the life of the great king Karakanda, composed by Sage Kanakamara, which is an ornament to the ears of the holy and which presents the richness of the fruit of the desire-giving tree of the five auspicious rites, the fourth chapter describing the discovery of the Jina image by Karakanda.

१०. तैरापुर की गुफा नं. ३.

Cave No. 3 at Terāpura. The main pillars have been newly erected as the old ones had collapsed.

1. Kurakamla asked that immortal "Tell me who caused this cave to be constructed and who made this exquisitely jewelled image which has pleased my mind?" Hearing that, Vāyuvega, the Nāga prince, told instantly what the king had asked "In this Jambūdvīpa and Bharat country, there is the beautiful, measureless Vijayārulla where Khecaras rejoice and elephants trumpet. It has two high peaks that stretch up to the ocean. Their circumference is twice twentyfive Yojanas. Their height is twentyfive Yojanas. At a height of ten Yojanas there is the excellent Southern Range which is inhabited by the Vidyāllhas, and seeing which even the Suras feel covetous. 5 10

2. There is a town abounding in Khecaras, by name Rathanepura the circular. There were two Khecara brothers by name Nīla and Mahānīla. As they lived there ruling, they both were pressed by the enemies. Their Vidyas were done away with and they were cast out of the town. This was during the period of Tirthankara Pārśva when the din of the Suras, Khecaras and Kinnaras rebounded. Being sorely troubled at heart, the brothers, traversing the earth, came to Terānagara. Staying there, they established a good kingdom and acquired all the territory. One day, they heard from a sage, the sin-destroying story of Pārśva Jinendra. Hearing it charming and refreshing (lit. misery-removing) they were thrilled 5 10 with delight and became steadfast in religion, with compassion. With concentrated mind they devoutly thought of the Jina.

3. Out of devotion, this cave was constructed by the Khecara brothers. They built it with a thousand pillars and made the inside so beautiful. For the Jina images made of gems, they built this shrine with gems and jewels. Constantly bathing and worshipping, they lived for a long time following the Jina. There developed, day by day, the pleasing 5 and multifarious power of the Khecaras. This mountain was surrounded by Khecaras like the great mountain Meru by the excellent Suras. Observing that beauty, the lords of the Sura groups stood thoroughly wonder-struck. At this time, oh ye sincere minded, there arrived the great friends of Nila. In the Northern Range of that Vijayārdha there is the lovely town Gaganatala dear to the Suras, Khecaras and Kinnaras as if the city of gods had come and stood there. 10

4. There dwelt two Khecara brothers who had a deep affection for each other. Pleasant like the moon and immensely powerful like the sun, they were called Amitavega and Suvega. Pure in conduct and unconquerable in battle, they had their bodies adorned by the jewel of Right Faith. On one holy day, the mighty ones started for worship. Advancing south wards towards Lankā in the Malaya country, they saw the great and auspicious Pūli mountain where the lord of gods would come for amusement. They descended upon it as if the lords of gods had alighted from heaven. Seeing there a temple of the twenty-four Jinas, white with lime and touching the sky, they went there to see those who had far driven away Cupid. 10

5. With pure thoughts, the king of Lankā, born in the family of Rāvaṇa, renowned by the name of Sūragrabha, husband of Sriśeṇā, while on a pleasure trip, one day, arrived at the Pūli mountain. As he wandered in the Malaya country, he saw that most beautiful site, like Bharata on the Kailāsa. He got the twenty-four images made, out of devotion, and also the temple of the twenty-four Jinas the givers of happiness, bright being made of gems and jewels, and destroying sin in the minds of their devotees. He who was ever adored by the Suras, was worshipped and meditated upon with reverence. They gave pleasure to the eyes of those who looked upon them, removed the dirt of sin of those who meditated upon them, stopped in an instant the worldly cycle of existence and gave all that one might desire. 10

6. They who had removed the great darkness of wrong belief, saw the images of the Jinas. In body, speech and pure mind, they eulogized the excellent god, the unblemished Jinendra. "There is not, in the three worlds, as much speech as would suffice to praise adequately the omniscient.

Oh Ye, who has fathomed the mystery of the three worlds, bow to you, 5 lord of victory, unfathomable, immeasurable. Bow, oh god, the great master of Cupid; bow, oh lord, formless, stainless. Bow, oh passion-less destroyer of the enemy of infatuation; bow, oh lord of men who has done away with the desire for pleasures. Bow, oh partless, absorbed in final 10 beatitude; bow oh conqueror of Cupid, wrapt in meditation. Bow, oh remover of Karmas by pure meditation in a moment; I bow, with my mind, to your feet. Victory, oh Jina, the sun of omniscience destroying utterly the darkness of wrong faith". Thus having adored, worshipped and eulogized, the Khecaras looked at each other.

7. Seeing the images so beautiful they felt a great liking in their mind. They then said " In Vijayantha which has become the sporting ground of the Suras, we shall devoutly make images after these patterns. " Thinking so, with great devotion, they seized with both hands, this image 5 of Parasmi Jina, made up of many jewels. Lifting it up, they started off.
 In the sky it shone forth as if the digit of the moon was moving along; as if the lightning was flashing forth. They went northwards as if escaping the god of death. With their devotion aroused in the Jina, the two brothers, of muscular bodies, arrived here. Leaving the jewel-made image on the excellent mountain, they, the storehouses of virtues, who had removed the 10 shadow of worldly fear, went in front of the cave.

8. There, having finished their devout adoration, both of them came back to their own image. Having reached there, when they attempted to take it up, the image would not move from its place, as if it was arrested by some Khecara, as if it had stopped there finding the place so beautiful. Finding it immovable, they felt afflicted with sorrow in their 5 mind at the moment. " Out of enthusiasm for the next world, alas, what have we done this, sinful as we are ? The image of the Jina that we removed from its place, is going to be the symptom of our falling into hell.
 Out of the two places, not one could be secured ". Pure knowledge developed in them. Having made a box, they fear-stricken, put it into it 10 having dug the ground. Leaving it there, they, reduced in their bodies, went hastily to the temple of a thousand summits, having adored which, they saw sage Yasodhara who had conquered his mind and was absorbed in meditation.

9. Having adored him, they asked the ascetic " Oh excellent sage ! listen to us, pure-minded as you are. While wandering about, we obtained a Jina image which possessed multifold powers. While proceeding with it to our own town, we placed it on this mountain-peak. But when, after worshipping in the cave, we went back to fetch it, it would not move from the place. What shall we do ? Shall we live or shall we die, oh lord ? " Hearing that, the great sage told them " This shall be a great sacred place. Your brother, in his next birth, shall obtain the Right Faith of manifold virtues. " Hearing this, both the brothers, in half a moment, devoutly betook themselves to penances. Amitavega, having multitudinous Vidyās, abandoning his handsome body, went to heaven, having practised penances, and there became a pleasing god. 5 10

10. In the mean while, the younger brother, honoured amongst people, took, for a period of twelve years, in the presence of his preceptor and in a great hurry, the famous vow of eating on alternate days. Then one day, he felt very uneasy under the pressure of the twenty-two penitential hardships. Being afflicted by hunger and thirst, what he did was that he thought of going to another village. Going there, he ate and drank water but declared to the people that he had kept a fast. In another village, the next day, he declared a fast openly to the people. In this manner, he lived on for many days deceiving people by sweet words. Fraudulently did Suvega practise penance and having died, he became an elephant in the forest. Whoever observes religion with hypocrisy controlling his body after the manner of a crane, he, the hoarse yelling vagabond, foolish-minded, obtains the greatest miseries. 5 10

11. Then, Amitavega who had become an immortal, dwelling in heaven, thought in his mind " Where could my younger brother be born ? ". Then by clairvoyance it became known to him. Out of kindness for him, he started swiftly and in a moment came to the forest in which the elephant dwelt. Assuming the garb of an ascetic he approached the elephant and in very sweet words he spoke to the elephant " Oh listen Suvega; you have had troubles of many kinds. You practised penance with hypocrisy which has false belief for its root. By that powerful sin you have become an elephant ". Hearing those words of his, the elephant came to the feet of the sage, recollecting his previous life, turning his eyes up to his head, rolling 5 10 with distress and trumpetting loudly. The god then knew the heart of the elephant and spoke soft words " " Do not abandon the gem of Right Faith by means of which you would obtain pure knowledge ".

12. Then were given to him the Anuratas and the Ganauratas as well as the Sikshāuratas that give happiness to people, the highly meritorious abstention from taking food in the night and the avoidance of the five Udumbaras for all time. The fruit of worship was also preached to the excellent elephant which was trembling on account of the dangers experienced in past lives. Then he was informed about the beautiful image which they had long ago placed in the anthill. Whatever was preached by the excellent Sura, all that was accepted by the good elephant. Having so preached, the Sura went home and the elephant is living here in the forest. " On another day, having taken water and lotuses, as it returned to the anthill it did not see there the passionless Jina. Having dropped the water and the lotuses the good elephant betook himself to the Right Faith with determination; and with complete renunciation having concentrated himself upon Lord Jina with pure thoughts, that Khecara, the elephant, became a Sura in the third heaven. 5 10 15

13. " Oh king, whatever you inquired of me, I have told it all to you. You have done well after the wish of my heart that you renewed the cave, oh lord of men ! So now, you do this; make another cave above this cave ". Having said so carefully to the king the good, Sura sportively went home. Above the cave was built by Karakandila another cave, an excellent abode for Jinavara. Above it, again, he caused to be built a small cave exceedingly beautiful and removing lust. How beautiful the three caves looked ? They matched the mansions of the lord of Suras. The king, having made those Jina temples and having himself worshipped the beautiful ones, being exceedingly delighted at heart, went to his camp. 5 10 As king Karakandila, the destroyer of his enemies, stood in his camp, there came an elephant with strong and stout trunk and profusely rutting, in order to drink water in that lake.

14. As it stood on the bank of the lake, the smell of the army reached it. Raising up its trunk and shaking its head, the elephant, turning round its face, saw the army. Seeing it, the the great elephant became hostile and ran up greedy of the smell of ichor, taking its trunk in its mouth, trumpetting and crushing the earth by the weight of its steps. Seeing it so determined, the people made up their mind to capture it. They got up and instantly fell upon the elephant. But they all fled away for fear of the strokes of the elephant. Then the king ran, sword in hand, and the fighting elephant was checked. As he was going to strike it with his arms, the elephant became invisible. When the elephant disappeared, he became startled in his eyes for a moment. The elephant disappeared under his very eyes. The king stood astonished in his mind. 5 10

15. When the king returned to his camp he did not find Madanavali. He looked into the four directions absent-minded, and pitifully wandered about the land. Then the king became apprehensive with his pride gone. "Where has my wife gone, gracious in all her limbs? How could Madanavali who was the delight of my heart, become so perverse now?" Then good servants were sent out by the king "Look for your mistress in the directions." Having looked in the directions, they came back crying, with their hands stretched upwards. Then the king, seeing them crying, instantly shed tears from his eyes. "Oh virtuous lady! speak to me about the tie of love pleasing to the ear. (or, according to the alternative reading, oh tree! you are the friend of birds; tell me about the beautiful lady, the object of my love). Oh innocent lady, by whom have you been taken away? Are you hiding yourself somewhere? Oh elephant, were you the messenger of Death? Why did you become angrily perverse to me?" Then a certain Vidyadhara who had crossed the ocean of learning and was fair-looking, bearing in his heart old attachment, presented himself before him. 5 10 15

16. The good Khaccara called out "Oh king! why are you weeping bitterly? Why do you cause your body to decay for the sake of a woman? Woman is the house of a volume of woes to people. Woman brings about residence in hell; why should one live with a woman? She causes fever in a throbbing mind; who would follow her the cause of misery? The creeper of worldly existence grows by her company; a woman brings troubles to the person of man. Powerful persons are rendered powerless by her; wretched are they who serve a woman." Hearing such words and heaving a sigh, he looked about, uttering 'Madanavali!'. Then he saw 5 the Khecara and became downcast through shame in a moment. He was 10 addressed over and over again by the Khecara " Why are you here, bereft of your attendants ? " With tender expressions was the king, who was distracted in mind, consoled.

17. Hearing that speech, the heroic Karakandā, courageous in battle, became comforted in mind. He asked the Khecara " Where did you acquire such charming, sweet speech inspiring religion ? Did you serve some great sage free from all faults, who had left joy and sorrow far behind ?
My eyes have become attached to your sight; seeing you, they do not go 5 elsewhere. Are you some relative of mine of another birth delightful like the moon in the sky of family ? I ask you hesitatingly; are you some god ? Tell me definitely ? " Hearing those words, the courageous and deeply wise Khecara said to the king " Formerly, being born in the species of a dove, I became an object of amusement to your eyes. Once as I stood in 10 the cage dallying with my mate, a serpent, hissing sharply, advanced towards me.

18. Seeing me, it caught hold of my leg. Then you, gentle by nature, ran up in order to save me, kindly, from the serpent. I was delivered by you from it. From its terror, I became senseless; you kindly gave me the Navakāra. As a result of that, I was born a son to a Vidyadhara, an abode of multitudinous virtues. Seeing you fighting against the elephant 5 at great risk, I recognised you. Bearing (in mind) your great obligation, as I was playing with Vidyadhara princes, I came here hastily, thinking that I shall certainly be of some help to you. That serpent, on account of the Navakāra given by a sage, had soon become a Khecara. On that occasion, that Khecara, feeling humiliated, carried away your beautiful 10 wife Madanavali of large breasts, under the disguise of an elephant.

19. Seeing you weeping, with your face turned up, beating the chest with the hand and crying ' Oh darling, oh darling ', I have come here. Do not weep; abandon the grief of your mind. When you will return, having defeated the great and the mighty, and having conquered the earth, then this Khecara, realising that you were illustrious in virtues, 5 would bow to you as his master and you will then regain your wife whose face is like the full moon. " Listening to his sweet speech, Karakandā, of long arms, said in return " Oh graceful and virtuous Khecara, can women that have been abducted, ever return ? " Then the Khecara said in sweet tones " What of the rest, I tell you how the beloved of Naravāhanadatta, 10

pure and endowed with golden and imperishable excellences, was soon reunited to him accompanied by numerous Vidyās.

Here ends, in the life of the great king Karakanda, composed by Sage Kanahamara, which is an ornament to the ears of the holy and which presents the richness of the fruit of the desire-giving tree of the five auspicious rites, the fifth chapter called listening about Nīla and Mahanīla

SECTION V.

CHAPTER VI

1. Being asked by Karakanda, he narrated the story of Naravāhanadatta " You listen, with one mind, to what gave delight even to the assembly of the excellent Saras. Here, in Bharata, in the country of the Vatsas, there is the praiseworthy town of Kausambi. There was the king Vatsarāja who, day after day, had a pure attachment for religion. 5
His wife was Suvijā who remembered the feet of the excellent Jina in her heart. He got a son Naravāhana great in excellent virtues and pre-eminent in fame. He was the residence of all arts, and possessed a great splendour. By his beauty he ridiculed Cupid. Seeing him intelligent, his father, the king, soon coronated him and himself taking to ascetic-life, 10 spread his fame in the three worlds. Having performed hard austerities which banished Cupid, he reached the portals of the damsel Salvation. Feeling depressed by the bereavement of his father, Naravāhanadatta would not feel amused any where. Having his lotus face wet with the water of tears he wandered about distressed with his face turned up. 15

2. The unbounded fortune of royalty bestowed upon Naravāhanadatta gave him no pleasure. Bearing in his heart the grief of his father the handsome one did not like any bodily enjoyments. Being struck with sorrow for his father in mind, the king, one day, casually came to the Kalinjara mountain pleasant to the hearts of Suras, Khecaras and good men. Agreeable to the eyes of Vidyādharas and Kinnaras, he entered a pleasant flower-garden. There he saw a great ascetic who created love for piety in the minds of people, inspired mutual confidence in born enemies, attracted even the minds of persons holding false beliefs, meditated upon the words of the supreme self and had banished far away all defilement and anger. He instantly set his mind upon the lotus-feet of the sage and then adored, with great devotion, the teacher who had made all people bow to his feet. 5 10

3. " Oh foremost of the excellent sages, who has caused the lords of serpents, gods and men to fall at his feet, have compassion on me, and tell me the pure essence of religion by which I might cross over the cycle of existence." Then the worshipful one who was free from attachment and had firmly set his affection on the way to salvation, said " What is the good of talking much? Bear in your heart the excellent Jina. Have always a charitable disposition, oh king, and make your mind absolutely pure. Having the five small vows on the top of his head, and bearing the heavenly Sikshā vartas and Guṇa vartas, whoever gives the fourfold alms namely medicine, food, safety and knowledge, obtains, oh king, ample fortune abounding in all the fruits after the wish of his heart. Whoever, oh king, avoids eating by night and takes food observing silence, lives sportively in the heavenly mansions waited upon by hosts of nymphs. 5 10

4. Laughing, by your comeliness, at the lords of men and gods, you should not feel sorrowful in your mind, oh king. By sorrow, a great karma is contracted and one does not obtain human birth. By enmity come a heart-attracting, affectionate wife dear to the eyes, pleasant children and dear brothers. All these come by one's enemical desires. Not being able to trouble in one birth, they entertain a desire, with a feeling of humiliation, " May I be born in the next birth so that I might cause pain to him ". Listen, oh king, with steady mind, the story that was of old revealed by numerous sages. There is the famous and 5 delightful-to-the-eyes city of Mathurā where there are mansions decorated 10 with pictures executed in precious stones. There were two Brāhmana brothers, like elephants, named Mādhava and Madhusūdana. They bore great enmity in their minds and would not tolerate the manifold virtues of each other. As days passed by, the riches of Mādhava soon turned their face away from him. He could not even secure clothes for his wife and 15 all his strength and power had also melted away.

5. One day, his wife, in her misery, thought out some thing (and said) "Oh my dearest, listen to my words. Let us instantly go to Madhusūdana.
He will certainly provide food for us both hungry and poverty-stricken as we are ". Hearing her words, Mādhava made a reply in faltering tones " Setting aside the grandeur of self respect, how shall I enter the house 5 of another who is so disagreeable to me ? Better to eat morsels of poison and die than to be a servant in the house of a wicked person ". Then Mādhava was again addressed by his wife " What is the good of this voluminous grandeur of self respect ? " Hearing her words, Mādhava went to the house of the good Madhusūdana. Seeing Mādhava come to 10 his house with his wife, misery-stricken and distressed in mind, Madhusūdana, with folded hands and one mind, stood before him.

6. Modestly bowing his head Madhusūdana spoke to them " Oh my parents ! what anxiety have you ? I eat the food given by you. How is not a gentleman, kind and very honourable, adorable in this world ? "
But they, bearing jealousy in their heart, could not put up with his fortune.
One day, Mādhava, out of wrath, made a sudden exit for Prayāga. There 5 he saw an emaciated ascetic and stood at his feet for a moment. With his permission, Mādhava, cruel at heart, took to austerities. He wasted his body by abstinence and soon died with the desire " I should be born a dear son to Madhusūdana the Brāhmana of the town of Mathura, and having given him much pleasure, I should afterwards die ". 10

7. That Mādhava was, in course of time, born in the beautiful house of Madhusūdana. Favourite of all people and repository of all arts, he, while yet young, became pre-eminent amongst the people. Then, one day, the young son of the Brahmana was suddenly carried away by the messengers of Death. Madhusūdana, following the body of his son, fell 5 on the earth beating his head. He would not leave his neck but would go to death. He would not stop even for a moment in his lamentations. He would not be consoled by any consolations, poor soul, he had so set his feelings upon his son. The Brahmana, out of sorrow for his son, went to Prayāga for dieing, with his mind set on him. When about to die being scorched by the flames of grief, he was held back by a certain Khecara. The latter gave him an account of Mādhava who had died by entertaining a desire as a reward for his austerities. "He was born your dear son in the town of Mathura, oh Madhusūdana !"

8. Hearing the words of the Vidyādhara, he returned home abandoning sorrow. By sorrow have been bothered lords of men and gods. Therefore, do not give place to sorrow, oh king". Then, getting an opportunity, a Khecara who was there, inquired of the king, "Oh lord of men of super-human personality ! how have the vast dominions been acquired by you ?". Then the king told the Khecara whose head was adorned with a diadem of gems and jewels, "In youth I was strong-bodied. What proud woman would not have love for me ? Enemies trembled at my name and resorted to jungles being terror-struck in mind. As I lived with my people, my wife was carried away by a Khecara. In her separation, I felt despondent and distressed and could not be amused in any way. (I thought) ' shall I leave the country, or, going some where, shall I die ? '

9. Thus brooding in all sorts, I left my home and came to the bank of the Ganges liked by hosts of Suras. Near Paithan I saw the excellent Jina, the abode of happiness and destroyer of sorrow. Having bowed to the Jina I rested there where the shaft of the flower-weaponed would not enter. As I closed my eyes with heaviness of sleep, I heard a sound " Why do you sleep, oh prince, with indifferent mind ? You are soon to meet your wife. " Then love flashed forth on my face and I went out of the Jina temple. I looked in the four directions for the love of my heart but the beautiful one could not be seen. As I went out of the garden, I saw a certain beautiful woman with her lotus-face resting on her lovely hand and scratching the ground with her finger. With tender expressions I inquired of her all about it.

10. " Why are you in this forest, oh beautiful lady ? What are you thinking about in your mind with steadfast eyes ? " Oh Khagendra the hot sun for the lotus of knowledge, she then revealed to me (as follows)

 " In the southern part of the Vidyādhara mountain there is a town Jayanti at the top of the Sindhu. There lives Dhumaketu the supreme 5 lord of the Vidyas. He has in his home Sunandā for his wife. Of the two who love each other, I was born a daughter. One day, I came down here for sport in company of my friends. I played with my beautiful companions who indulged in all sorts of games. After the play, as we stood at ease, there arrived the Khecara Madanāmara. Seeing him I was shaken 10 like a plaitain tree struck by the wind. My companion, knowing my heart, approached the friend of the youth.

11. He was asked by the highly virtuous Nirmalamati " Tell me who he is. " He said " Here, in the beautiful Vijayārdha, in the pleasant Utpala-khedi, lives the Khecara Padma-deva. He is his son Madanavega.
 In the Northern Vijayārdha lives Pavana-vega the house of all virtues and son of Manavega. He was going there out of affection for him when 5 he has been seen by you ". Then inquiring about my high family and taking away my loving heart, both the Ahecaras, having told her so, went away. But Madanāmara came back again. Through shyness, I found no words in my mouth. I felt abashed even to talk to him. Then instantly my companion said to him " Oh handsome one, live with your 10 beloved ". Then taking the beautiful pearl-garland off his neck with his own hand, as he put it on my neck, a companion came to call me.

12. Then I was taken home by Ketumati. Distracted in mind, I remained sorrowfully at home. When once more I came back by the same way, I did not see Madanāmara. His (pang of) separation was narrated to me by a Vidyādhari the dispeller of woes. " Talking, over and over again, incoherent words, wandering distressed with his face turned up, 5 afflicted with the fire of separation and remembering you, he soon clung himself to an ascetic-girl. Instantly feeling disconcerted, she turned Madanāmara into a parrot. Her companion, being stirred by piety and feeling compassionate, told her ' Be pleased, oh goddess ! Do it so that he may sport with his wife '. Then the highly virtuous lady said " On the 10 day on which Naravāhanadatta marries the beautiful and renowned person named Rati-vibhrama,

13. on that day, oh friend, he would become a tender-bodied, handsome man again ". Oh handsome one, this is what she told me. Knowing this, I took my residence in the forest ". Hearing this, as I stood there, Lilāvati arrived there. She held in her hand a portrait which infatuated the minds of on-lookers. I readily inquired of her " For what purpose have you come here ? " Then she told me " Listen, oh great hero dear to all people, good looking and firm like Meru ! On the southern side of Sindhu in Vijayārdha where blows the wind excellently fragrant on account of the Suras and the Khecaras, there is the town of Kanakapura a mine of jewels and delightful to the eyes. There rules king Hamsaratha served by hosts of Vidyādharas. He is accompanied by Vimalādevi as a charming swan is by a female swan. 5 10

14. He has brought, by abduction, some woman who has no liking for him. She lives in his palace observing religion, a basket of love and delightful to the eyes. She would not talk to any body. With concentrated mind, she drew the picture of her husband. While she was feeling happy in her mind looking at it, the good Khecari Vegavati arrived there. Madana-manjusā was questioned by her " Who has been drawn by you in this picture ? Tell me, oh mother ! Is he a Khecara, a Kinnara, a god or a man, or is he Cupid with his shaft fixed to the bowstring ? " To Vegavati she told the truth " He is Naravāhana my beloved husband. " When she looked at it taking the portrait, she fell to the ground shaking her body. Knowing her to be Vegavati, Kanakavati cracked a joke with her " She did not use to like any suitor but has now fallen to the earth at the mere sight of a figure. " 5 10

15. Then Kanakamati took the portrait in her lap in order to see the praiseworthy picture. As she thought about it in her mind, she also, in a moment, fell upon the ground. Some how, with difficulty, she came to her senses and the shapely-armed one was asked by her friends " Why did you go into a swoon, oh friend ? Tell us the pangs of your heart. " She said " Oh sister, here is this picture on the board. It has baffled my mind. Is he a god or is he Cupid, oh mother ? Just think of his name ? " By the two distracted in their minds in his separation, I have been sent. What a wandering sage had once declared they considered in their minds " Whoever lucky one would marry 5 10

Rativibhrama, would become our husband". She was then immediately caused to be painted on a canvas in beautiful colours. I have come here taking that portrait. " When, taking that portrait in my hand, I observed the beautiful form, my heart was stunned, oh Khecara, and could not think of any thing.

16. Then I was taken there in the midst of those friends by the pure-minded Lilāvati. Reaching there, I married Rativibhrama with great celebrations as king. Along with Vegavati I also married Kancanamati as also Lilāvati. Another five hundred (maidens) also I married there where the very Cupid was residing. My beautiful wife who had been carried away by that Khecara, also joined me. I subdued hundreds of Khecaras and struck terror in the hearts of my enemies. The earth, right up to the ocean, where-in stood thickly populated big villages, came under my control. Then all the country-people were called together, oh Deva served by men, and the coronation was performed. This was the account given to the Khecara as you asked it all of me. People were established with lasting gifts of gold and I worshipped the pair of feet of the Jina.

Here ends, in the life of the great king Karakaṇḍa, composed by Sage Kanakamara, which is an ornament to the ears of the holy and which presents the richness of the fruit of the desire-giving tree of the five auspicious rites, the sixth chapter called listening to the story of Naravahanadatta.

SECTION VI.

CHAPTER VII

1. My good friend Karakunda, I tell you. Make a start immediately. A good and auspicious omen (forebodes) that you will obtain the happiness of wife along with many acquisitions. " Tell me, oh courageous Khacara warrior, as a result of what omen shall I obtain a wife ? " The Khacara told him " See the sage in front of you; the divine-eyed one is sure to give you the fruit ". " Tell me who has obtained the fruit of the omen ". Then the Khacara told him who had obtained the fruit. A certain Brahmana, hungry and decaying in body, started from his country, leaving his home. He saw an ascetic in the forest and great satisfaction entered his mind. Holding in mind the auspicious omen, he began to dance, stretching up his arms. A certain prince sporting in hunting soon reached there. He saw the Brahmana joyfully dancing alone in the forest. " Oh respectable Brahmana, I ask you, why are you dancing freely in the forest ? Have you obtained some thing beautiful or have you gone mad, my brother ? ".

2. The Brahmana then told him " Oh simple-hearted, I am not seized by the wind, my friend. By the passing of one devoid of ornaments and clothes and enjoying the great relish of bliss, I have obtained the auspicious omen here where the mighty lion dwells. As a result of this, I shall gain royal fortune and enjoy the green-bowelled earth. Then the prince quickly said to the Brahmana. " Oh master, I am your pupil. Give to me this omen, my respected sir, and take my ornaments and this divine-bodied horse. " Taking the horse along with the ornaments, the Brahmana went home, giving to him the omen. The prince, tender-bodied like fresh lotus-fibre, went forth full of joy. Then the Jina-tutelary-goddess, abandoning the body that she had put on formerly by means of her Vidyā, took up another by which the mind of the on-lookers may be attracted.

3. The fawn-eyed one came before him like the loving wife of Rāghava. "I am your attendant, oh prince, being the destroyer of your enemies." Along with her he went into the thicket inaccessible to men, Khecaras, Kinnaras and Suras. There they saw an old well, but no terror entered their heart. In it they saw a serpent fighting with a 5 frog. Seeing them fighting, he, with unkind hand, counting his body as straw, instantly cut off a piece of flesh with his sword and threw it between them. Knowing his courage, both of them came before him becoming men. One of them was in the form of a cowherd and another a boy. Adorned by the three persons that prince looked as if some god 10 had come down from heaven.

4. They were seen by some king who honoured them with felicitous words. Seeing the woman a box of beauty, he felt as if a destructive pestilence had set into his heart. Becoming desirous of that woman, he thought of murdering him (the prince). The king took the prince for hunting. There was a dry well in a secluded place. Having pushed the 5 prince down into it, the king came face to face with the woman. Being bitten by a serpent he died and the prince was then taken out by the frog. The royal fillet was then tied to the prince and a host of horses was presented to him by all. He enjoyed the royal fortune sportively. He then asked that Cakora-eyed lady "Oh beautiful one: tell me who you are". 10
Being honoured with overflowing affection, she told him the old story and went to her home the very moment.

5. Oh handsome one, ocean of virtues, you have listened to this story of an omen told by me". Saying so, the Khecara went to his own home called Satyulīkṣmīpara. Then one day, Karakanda ordered a quick march. King Karakanda, the foremost amongst men, halting on the way (or along with the princes), reached the Simhala island where young 5 ruddy geese attracted the mind, where Suras, Khecaras and Kinnaras indulged in sports, where women walked with the grace of an elephant and rendered ineffective the beauty of Rati by their own beauty, and where, seeing the luxury of the people, the gods lost the memory of the heavenly world. He encamped outside the city. The apprehension of an enemy 10 arose in that locality. Leaving his camp the immeasurable Karakanda, with his companions, went out for sport. There the king saw an extensive bunyan tree, big, full of hundreds of birds like the Kalpa tree protected by gods and laden with thick leaves. Seeing the large and very soft leaves of that Bunyan tree Karakanda taking up small balls and shooting them with his bow, pierced all the leaves. 15

6. As the Bunyan leaves were pierced with an arrow, the matter was reported by a messenger to the king " Who had been foretold by the excellent wandering sage, that suitor has come, oh king, with a retinue. I know not whether he is Varuna or the moon, a king or the lord of gods. Sporting in the forest in the company of princes he, in a moment, pierced 5 all the Bunyan leaves ". Then the king sent prominent persons who, being elderly, struggled their way to his military camp. The Campā king was told by them " Oh friend, frank-minded, the king is calling you. He has his affection fixed on you. You come to his house ". Hearing this, king Karakanda said " If your king comes before me then I go to your king's 10 palace beautiful being finished with jewels ". Hearing that, they returned home immediately and reported the matter to their king. " He would come to your home, oh king, if you go forth to receive him ". Hearing it the king went forth and presented himself before the king of Campā.

7. The king saw him of great lustre, as if he was Cupid incarnate. With attachment, the ocean of virtues took the king into the town with honour. While entering, he was seen by people like god Viṣṇu accompanied by cowherds. Causing affection in the minds of young women, king Karakanda reached the palace. He was shown to his daughter named 5 Ratavegā of tender arms. The youth was seen by the maiden as if the flower-shaft had entered her heart. In her distraction she could not mind any thing. She did not see nor hear any thing. She did not fight shy of her father. She trembled and her words faltered by the thrill. Seeing the flow of perspiration of his daughter the king instantly began the 10 marriage. A pandal was erected with arches of pearls, big chowries were made of gold and a very high, beautiful and bright altar executed with jewels, was made.

8. Soon her marriage was performed so that even the Khecuras felt enamoured. Big dowries were bestowed on her. Elephants with their temples wet with rut flowing incessantly, multitudes of excellent horses jingling with bells and garlands made of jewels, were given. Whatever else is pleasant to the eyes was given to her by the king calling out her name. With all these, being pleased in mind, he bestowed his daughter upon the son-in-law. Many jewels were soon given and the princes were dressed by the king. The foremost king was then sent off by the lord of men. The king got ready a boat. The doomsday of all vicious kings and protector of the earth got into the boat. It shone forth shaking with the fluttering banners. It sailed in water by the help of the wind. Thousands of other smaller boats were filled entirely with crowds of people. They moved like the celestial cars on earth, fulfilling the desire of moving in water. 5 10

9. As the boats sailed in water furnished with decorations and tents, the king saw a large fish as if he had come upon the essence of the sea, as if Visnu was sporting in that form, as if the sea was seeing the royal fortune. In height it was sixty Yojanas and in breadth half of this. Sixty-seven feet long it stood covering the ocean. Like the Mandara in water, immeasurable it shone forth jumping up and dipping in. Moving on slowly (at first), the monster came up running through wrath. Seeing it running the kings instantly stopped the boats. The kings being terror-stricken, stopped all the boats, as if they were rendered motionless by the the power of an incantation by some wicked deity. 5 10

10 Seeing that fish and setting aside his equanimity, irresistible and hostile, fastening the wrestling tie and drawing out the sword, leaving the boat and rushing forth with rage, the king in an instant furiously made a jump, and swimming, reached where the monster-bodied fish was. Placing himself inside its belly and killing the fish he cut off its protective parts and split its skin. Swimming on to clear water the hero became invisible. The king was taken away by an irresistible Khecara woman. Seeing him carried away and having thought about it, the good warriors instantly made a jump into the sea feeling distressed. The whole water was ruffled, the boats clashed against each other, piteous cries of woe went forth and all people were perturbed with sorrow on account of him. 5 10

11. When the lion amongst men, of blooming face fell in water, all people, with pervading sorrow, were very much alarmed. The good wife

Ratavega, resembling a Nāga woman, feeling disconsolate, trembled in all her body, was stunned at heart and fell senseless. By the sweet fanning of the chowries and with the help of water the virtuous and charming lady was made to rise up by lovely young women who could tame the mind of sages. She beat her bosom with tender and shapely, lotus-like hands and then with anxious eyes and faltering speech said " Oh hostile fate, sullied with sin, what have you done ? Why have you snatched away another's husband who had been made by me my own ? Oh adverse ill-luck, you have been unjust and evil-faced. Oh my lord, graceful and happily wise, where have you gone ? Have pity on me, oh my master, the best of the best men. I am falling in the ocean of grief and heading towards doom, oh lord, save me. I am your wedded wife. Now fallen in misery, whom shall I look to ? Being bereft of you shall I now live or die ? " Thus did the virtuous lady, overwhelmed with grief, lament in her heart " I shall now speak only when I meet my husband. "

The excellent minister feeling highly grieved but consoling all his people who were heavy at heart, went ashore with all his men there.

12. When the army was encamped there, Ratavega celebrated her vow. Then feeling uneasy, she soon invoked the goddess in soft tones. She drew forth a beautiful circle like guileless faith propounded by Jinen-dra. In the middle of it she installed firmly the divine goddess named Padmāvati. The goddess residing in the eastern quarter came as she was invoked. The goddess was made of red sandal-wood besmeared with camphor, sandal and saffron, worshipped with fruits, flowers and eatables and honoured with a fast on the first day. The incantation with the seed, which she obtained by teaching, was muttered along with an offering of fresh saffron and flowers. Drawing with red materials, wearing red garments she, having concentrated herself with devotion, thought of the goddess with a firm mind.

13. When thought of with worship and honour, the goddess Padmāvati came up with slow, graceful and tender limbs and putting on an indescribable, unprecedented look, being endowed with a richness of beauty, red in person and pure at heart, bearing in her four hands the meritorious book along with the gourd and the signet ring along with the lotus-fibre. Her cheeks were shining with the earrings and she wore anklets, bells and a girdle. She held over her head the fivefold hood of a serpent and looked joyful and pure exercising a mysterious influence. Placing her lotus-like feet on the ground, speaking something in charming speech, shedding lustre in all directions and wearing on her bosom a pearl necklace, the virtuous goddess stood in front of Rativega in an instant saying " I grant you a boon. Ask for what may be in your heart, oh lady of slender belly ! For your sake I have descended upon the earth. " 10

14. When she saw the lotus-face of the goddess, Rativega began to shed tears. " Oh worshipful goddess, all the dirt of my sins has vanished at your sight. Whoever spontaneously belauds you, does not experience a succession of woes. Whoever thinks of your face day after day, him you serve as a boat, oh goddess ! Have mercy upon me helpless. Save me from falling in the ocean of calamity. I do not ask for anything, oh goddess ! I only implore you for one boon. If you really confer a boon on me, oh goddess, reply to one question of mine. My husband has gone into the ocean; is he alive or is he dead ? " Then the goddess of the gods says " Your husband who fell from the boat, occupied, the very moment, the heart of Kanakaprabhā the daughter of a Vidyādhara. 10

15. Under the influence of infatuation, he was instantly taken to Tilakadvīpa by that Kanakaprabhā. She showed him to her father " See, father, I have obtained this divine-eyed one in the sea. He has been ordained to be my lord by the sages, even as Lakṣmī obtained god Viṣṇu ". Knowing her love the Vidyādhara married her with festivities. Then one day, Karakanda killed, in a moment, an enemy of his father-in-law. A gentle man who eats the food of another, does a good turn to him. What wonder is here indeed ? ' Whoever killed the enemy of Kanakaprabhā shall become our master, what else ! '. Thinking so, his service was immediately accepted by the *Vidyādhara*s with a show of respect. Loyally folding their pair of hands and bending the head they followed him carefully. No Vidyādhara was there who did not hold his service. 10

16. Your husband has performed great feats. Who can describe them, oh sister ? He married Anangalekhā the very streak of the bowman Cupid. Then he married sportively Chandralekhā the veritable sister of Cupid, of divine body. He also married Kusumāvalī of agreeable conduct and mind as well as Ratnavali resplendent like gold. He married 5 yet other seven hundred maidens; I tell you the truth. So, banishing sorrow, you observe piety. You would be united to Karakanda with the fraud vanished. Very quickly taking ample wealth, constantly make holy gifts." Hearing this, Rativega said "Does one who has gone into the ocean return?" The worshipful one makes a reply to her "Why do you enter- 10 tain a doubt in what I say. You cherish, day after day, the excellent Jina endowed with the immortal lustre of gold."

ornament to the ears of the holy and which presents the richness of the fruit of the desire-giving tree of the five auspicious rites, the seventh chapter describing the acquisition of the hand of a Vidyadhari by Karakanda.

SECTION VII.

CHAPTER VIII

1. Rativegā says "Oh goddess, listen! I have taken to heart your pleasant words. Be pleased to tell me whether any man having gone (in to the sea) has ever returned". Hearing this the worshipful one tells her whose mind was not steeped in sin. "Listen, oh beautiful lady, innocent--minded and highly devoted to the feet of lord Jina. Out of regard I tell 5 you some thing—the story of king Aridamana. There is a country by name Avanti as if a portion of heaven has broken and fallen down. There is a city, pleasant to the eyes, by name Ujjaini which wards off the rays of the sun. There was the famous king Aridamana of great might and abode of virtues. His wife was Vimalā delightful to the eyes, virtuous and 10 free from evil deeds. His minister was Varadatta who had created attachment in people and was liked by the king. That minister had a beautiful mare which went for grazing out-side the town. Seeing her hot-blooded a horse mated her on the mountain.

2. She returned to the town and was marked by the minister as endowed with all good signs and pregnant. He protected her, kept her in his mansion and fed her on oily eatables. On a pleasant and sweet day, a beautiful colt, swift like the wind, was born to her. Sky-coloured, tall, curved-faced, slender in the middle and broad in chest, with long sneeze and terrific neighing, fit for the harness, copper-like in palate, fickle in eyes and having soft hair in ears, it grew up in a few days. It appealed very much to the mind of the minister. It could not be matched by the heat of the sun or the wind. As it lived kept in an earthly house, a free parrot was watching it. As long as the young one of the mountain horse, mightily victorious, remained in the womb, a certain Khecara, assuming the form of a parrot, watched it day after day. 5 10

3. The Khecara become a parrot and established itself on the mountain-peak. With hundreds of pleasures as the wanderer of the sky, affectionately attached to its mate, as it lived happily and enjoyed pleasures for long, a good looking cowherd, virtuous, well-behaved, sportive like an infatuated elephant and having stout and long arms, came into the forest and sat there busy in amusement. He was seen by the parrot with its eyes possessing good qualities, and was wilfully addressed in soft words moving the heart, " You take me, oh cowherd, and carry me instantly to the town and going to the king give me to him for five hundred gold. " 5 10

4. Hearing that speech and thinking over it the wise one, with the parrot which was humble, submissive and respectable in mind, came quickly to the town. Throwing his sight, in a moment he saw there a prosperous merchant caught by a brothel-keeper who was telling him in sweet words, " You are a prince; do not become ignorant. Your eldest son, in dream, has slept with my daughter as she slept at home, at ease, unattached and in peaceful harmony. Give wealth to her setting aside your pride. " The great noise of this spread through the market. No man was able to extricate the merchant as he stood being caught. 5

5. Then the good and courageous parrot spoke affectionately. " Oh merchant, tell it to me so that I might avoid the quarrel. " Then the merchant told him the cause of the quarrel. Hearing that, the parrot who had reached the ocean of knowledge, said to the merchant " Give wealth to my well-dressed sister. " Hearing the divine words, his mind was struck with leniency. Having brought wealth as he began to give it all to the bawd, he was told by the parrot well-versed in the ways of policy " Bring also a mirror, oh merchant; I would give some unique wealth. " That also was brought by him. Instantly, the parrot threw the reflection (of the wealth) in the mirror (and said) " Take that wealth, oh sister ! " Her depth of mind was known to him and she was similar to the self-willed one*. Then the bawd said " Oh mischievous, crooked parrot, can a reflection be caught ? " Hearing this a reply was given to her " Can one get ornaments in dream, oh fickle one ? " 5 10

6. When the bawd was defeated by the parrot, the merchant justly said to the parrot " Count this wealth of gold and taking it do what you like. " Hearing this, the parrot spoke so that the merchant was astonished in mind. " What shall I do with gold ? I attract the minds of good people. " Hearing that purity of feelings of the parrot, he made the large gift to the cowherd. The cowherd was then told by the parrot " Take me to the royal gate. " In a moment he who was the home of rich wisdom was brought to the royal gate. The gatekeeper was addressed by the parrot " Friend, whose mind is broadened by a good pearl garland†, report me soon to your king, oh honest one ! I shall see his face delightful to the eyes and resembling the full moon. " 5 10

7. The gatekeeper told the king thus " Oh lord of lords, a parrot is waiting outside. " Hearing that, the king caused it to be brought in and with lotus-like face, accosted it. Then the parrot, lifting up its leg, greeted the king with a blessing " Oh king with arms long like the trunk of an elephant, live long, as long as the heavenly river flows. " Pleased in mind the king asked of the parrot " Who are you and why have you come ? Tell me truly. " The sky-wandering animal replied fabricating a 5

false account. The parrot said " Oh king, there were five hundred parrots in a silk-cotton tree. As I lived there, they were told by me " Let us cut quickly this creeper. " It was then eagerly bitten by them. In the mean while a multitude of Bhillas, with eyes red like Gunja and dark in colour arrived there. Mounting upon the tree they soon entrapped in a net the nests of the parrots. Then we all parrots were caught. I then thought of some plan in my mind. 10

8. Then all the parrots were told by me " Remain for a moment feigning to be dead. " Having mounted (the tree), a Bhilla saw them all and threw them down thinking them to be life-less. Then they flew away in all the ten directions. I turned my way to a hermitage. I learnt all the sciences and enjoyed life on the peak of the mountain. There I saw the horse of the mountain mating with the mare in heat. A very beautiful colt has been born of them. Its feet would not touch the earth-surface. I knew it, being a Vidyādhara and have told it to you being over-powered by affection. It is now grazing in the house of the minister. " 5
Hearing this the king immediately went there. Reaching the house of the minister, the king said to him " I have no purpose for gems and jewels; my desires will be satisfied by your horse. " 10

9. Bearing sorrow at heart, the minister gave it to him. Taking the horse, he went to his palace and put the saddle on the beautiful one. The king mounted it along with the parrot. The long-armed one took it on a round. The parrot warned " Oh lord, do not give any stroke; it will lose its temper. " Unnoticed by the parrot, the king gave a whip-stroke out of curiosity. Instantly, the horse flew through the sky and went far beyond the sea. The king, feeling fatigued, asked the parrot " Where can clean water be obtained, friend ? " Then the parrot, going into the sky, carefully looked for water. Returning, the parrot told him " Come quick to the sea. " Going there, he saw a hundred maidens sporting in the sea. By the words of the parrot the king worshipped the god of that place. 5 10

10. After finishing their bath and worship of the gods, the party of maidens returned home. At that time the parrot took the king after them. Reaching the Chohāra island and coming to the house of the maidens, bringing about the union of the hearts, the parrot said at that moment " Oh king, you marry instantly this Ratnalekhā of golden and 5

divine body. It has long been foretold by divine sages that she would be married by a person like you." Hearing that, the king told her of lotus-like large eyes, "Oh beautiful maid, do you grasp the words that the parrot is saying?" Hearing that, the maid said, her words faltering on account of love, "I have accepted your service in my mind. How can the words of the parrot go false, oh lord of men?" 10

11. Hearing those pleasing words, the king married her immediately. In love, they enjoyed a thousand pleasures. Then, one day, the wife said, showing excessive love "Oh lord of men, I would see your home." Hearing her pleasant words, the king prepared a boat. He filled it with attractive gems and decorated it with beautiful flags. Mounted on it with the parrot, the horse and his wife, the lord of men shone forth like the god of gods. That boat was drifted on by the wind to another island in the sea. When it touched a deserted island on another day, the king felt anxious in his mind. He then spoke to the parrot "How is the night to be passed here, oh friend?" Hearing that the parrot replied "Oh king, do not sleep very forgetfully." 5 10

12. The horse, the woman, the parrot and the king, all the four, with firm mind, established four watches. During the watch of the king, the boat, along with the horse, was quickly carried away by thieves. At sunrise when the king sees, he does not find the boat and the horse. Then the king reported the fact to the parrot "I know not which way the boat has gone." Bearing sorrow in mind, the parrot then told the king immediately "Cut logs of wood and tie them up soon so that you might easily cross the sea." Making that, the innocent king mounted upon it along with his wife and accompanied by the parrot. The ties of it were broken by the waves and the king wandered from land to land. Then the parrot flew to a banyan tree, the king was carried by the waves to Kokana while his beautiful wife, by dictates of fate, was carried to the town of Khambhāyacca. 5 10

13. There she was seen by a clever bawd Lambajhalambā. She took Ratnalekhā home and the tender one removed her watery smell. Then the innocent one was told by Lambajhalambā "Harlots do not become perfect without ornaments." Hearing that, the beautiful one said "Whoever would win me here in gambling, oh mother, shall sleep with me." 5

 This she said. Then men were defeated by the woman in gambling.
 Taking their wealth she gave it to the bawd and then put curds and boiled rice in the courtyard. The flock of parrots residing in the bunyan tree of the sea pecked at it and returned. Then that parrot inquired of them " Where had you gone whence you have returned with food, oh friends ? " To him 10 the parrots told everything. They were then again asked by him " Take me to that place where boiled rice has been offered by the young woman. "
 Then he was immediately taken by them to the house of the harlot where he was seen by her.

14. The parrot, as it pecked, shed profuse tears, seeing its young mistress. She, knowing it to be the old parrot, called it to her, pronoun-cing its name " Oh parrot, my brother, come here. Where is your master living ? " " I know not, mistress, where the king has gone. " Disappointment grew in her mind. She was dissuaded by the parrot " Oh mistress, 5 purity of heart is destroyed in those who give way to sorrow. My mind says, oh fawn-eyed lady, the master shall meet us having acquired prosperity. " Listening to the affectionate words of the parrot, she felt consoled with pure feelings. Her fame advanced like the sea. Young men were wrapped in good pearl garlands.* Some-body told Ariḷamana " In the town 10 of Khamblāyacca no man can play the game of dice; none can defeat the girl there. "

15. Listening to that with concentrated mind, the king immediately went to Khamblāyacca. Reaching there, he quickly went to the gambling house attracting the mind of all the gamblers. Sitting in their midst he shone as if bearing the beauty of the full moon. With honour, he won seven hundred gold from the kings. Giving wealth to josters and 5 loafers, he went to the house of the harlots greedy of richness. He sent a challenge to her whose fame in gambling had gone wide. He then himself went there at night, where the young woman was sitting with the parrot.
 He told her " Let us play the game of dice which is a harbinger of love, oh beautiful one ! " By the king she was defeated and she became perplexed. 10
 Then knowing him to be her husband she embraced him limb to limb.

* The line is more significant in suggesting that the Kadavaka is composed in Mauktikadama metre.

16. As the king lived there with her, a Takka came with horses. The king looked amongst them and made bargain with the Takka. The king called out by name and the horse looked at him turning its face. Whatever little price was settled, he gave the gold and bought it. Of the woman, the parrot, the king and the horse, the miseries, the union took place. Enjoying pleasures, they lived there, and then all the three (four ?) went to their own country. I have told you, friend, how that king, fallen into the sea, came back home. As he, great in multitudinous virtues, came back, even so your husband, oh innocent one, shall be united to you." Having told all this to her, the worshipful goddess, matchlessly tender in all her body, went immediately to her home, and, having her face like the moon, joined the gods. 5 10

17. Then Ratīvegā, depressed at heart, with face tender like lotus, followed instantly all that the goddess had recommended. Taking ample wealth, she, with body excellent like the fresh lotus-fibre, instantly divided it all amongst the poor, and gave good food to the hunger-stricken. As she lived there with devotion, meditating in mind upon the feet of Lord Jina, bending with the weight of the observance of Ratnāvali fast, bearing the pearl-garland in the form of the Muktāvali fast, shining with the flowers of the Kusumānjali, observing the powerful Palyopama fast, going by the Shastras in the form of the fast of the four scriptures, and steadying her mind upon the ritual of the Vasohāra, one day, Kanakaprabhā brought Karakanda there. Ratīvegā saw her husband; her tears grew through joy and the slender-bodied one flashed forth like lightning as if a cloud laden with water (had been seen) by the female peacock. 5 10

18. Ratīvegā then accorded all great honour to Kanakaprabhā. Satisfaction grew amongst all the attendants and amongst the feudatories and ministers who were astonished in their mind. Having lived there for some days with joy, king Karakanda started off. Touring upon the land, he came to the Dravida country, bearing hostility. There, somebody reported, in an instant, to the Coda, the Cera and the Pandya kings " An enemy has come upon you, oh lord. Let it be so arranged that he may go away from a distance." Hearing that they met in half a moment and going to Karakanda, fought with him. Elephants fell upon elephants, chariots upon chariots, horses upon horses and men upon men. Red with 5 10 rage, they engaged in a fierce combat. Banner-posts, umbrellas and heads fell down. Entrails shook, men stumbled and great warriors, greedy of fame, met. They put up such a great fight that even the gods in heaven were terrified. Karakanda caught them on the battlefield and rubbed their crests with his feet. But seeing Jina images on their crowns, Karakanda felt very remorseful. 15

19. " Alas, alas ! what have I, a fool, done ? I struck even a Jina-image with my foot. As a result of this sin, I know not in what evil form of life I shall have to live." Disturbed at heart, with eyes closed, he released the Cōla kings " That I vanquished you in battle, that I rubbed your crests with feet, forgive it all, my friends ! Reoccupy your hereditary kingdoms." Hearing that, they made a reply " Our sons will serve you." 5
Saying so to the Campā king, they instantly made their residence in the forest. Counting their bodies as straw, the tender-limbed, having performed penances, attained the highest heaven. Karakanda marched out thence towards the city of Tara. He reached that region of the forest 10 where the beautiful lady Madanāvali was abducted.

20. As he lived there honourably, the Khecara restored Madanāvali to him. The Vidyādhara then quickly narrated feelingly the events of past life. " I was a serpent in my previous birth. Wandering about, I crept into your house. Then I saw, in the cage, the pigeon accompanied by its mate. I caught it by the leg, struggling. You then arrived there casually walking. It was released by you instantly and was kindly given the Navakāra. 5
It became a Khecara as a result of it. I glided away from there, escaping you. One day, I was crushed under the hoof of a horse. A sage recited the sacred formula in my ear. As a result of that, I became a Khecara, I saw you, having come here. On account of the old quarrel, I took away your wife. I have told you this secret of mine. I am now fully your servant." He 10 then bowed to his feet with bent head, " Whatever crime I have committed, oh lord ! forgive it: I shall not leave your service." Having honoured the Khecara with a gift, the king went to Campā, conquering the earth. He lived there, ruling the kingdom for many days, in the golden, divine palace. 15

Here ends, in the life of the great king Karakanda, composed by Sage Kanakamara, which is an ornament to the ears of the holy and which presents the richness of the fruit of the desire-giving tree of the five auspicious rites, the eighth chapter describing the conquest of the earth by Karakanda and his entry into Campapuri.

3. Attached to the Jinendra Dharma, devoted to the feet of the great sage, splendid like the lustre of gold, having eyes like a lotus-leaf and arms long and stout, knowing all the Sāstras, having a body with faultless joints, as he passed by the market, he saw there a miserable woman crying "Alas, I am confounded", beating both the sides of her belly, weeping with profuse tears, causing grief to people, making the mind bewildered, bearing the dress of a mad person, rolling in a swoon and falling upon the ground. The king heard that sound like the roar of the sea. Karakanda asked a certain man "Why does this poor woman cry producing pain in the heart by her lamentations and herself dying in delirium?" 5 10

4. Then he told the facts to the king, "On account of which she became so miserable, listen to that cause, my good lord! As she enjoyed incessant pleasures, a son was luckily born to her. But it was snatched away from her by Death. For this, the woman laments woefully and throws herself through affection. She does not leave the side of her son. She does not forget him in mind. Hearing these words, the king of kings entertained feelings of detachment from the world "Fie, fie upon this ugly mortal world. The personal enjoyments of men are the causes of their woe. Like the ocean is the extent of misery here, while the happiness of enjoyments is only comparable to a drop of honey. Alas, where man dies with scorched body and crying hoarse, who, except a shameless voluptuary, would feel attachment there?" 5 10

5. Who is conceived in the womb through Karma, he is removed by the god of death to his own abode. The child which is fondled by a young woman, is marched off to his own town by Fate. Who attains fresh youth, him also the powerful god of death walks away with. The old man who is caught by a hundred diseases, is also mis-handled by the messengers of Death. Along with Balabhadra even Hari of matchless prowess, was stealthily taken away by Fate. Who conquered the earth divided into six parts, those emperors were led off by time. The Vidyādharas, the Kinnaras the Khecaras and the mighty Saras have all fallen in to the mouth of Death. The lord of the immortals as well as the lord of the serpents, none are spared by Death in taking its toll. It does not forego a learned Brahmana, 5 10 nor leave an ascetic devoted to penances. Neither the rich nor the poor escapes as when a conflagration is ablaze in the forest.

6. Whatever body fate creates, the beauty of man is not stable there. The charming youth that grows, is cast out, no body knows where, by destiny. Whatever other qualities dwell in the body, it is not known which way they go. If the qualities of the body were stable, sages would not practise detachment from the world. Not stopping anywhere like the ears 5 of an elephant, fortune vanishes under one's very eyes. As mercury held in the palm of the hand, oozes down, so a woman being disaffected soon walks away. Whose eyebrows, eyes, words and gait are all crooked, who can make her upright? She does not mind deserting her kinsmen and friends; she is fickle and mean like the friendship of the wicked. Whoever 10 meditates upon this idea of fickleness entertaining a feeling of detachment, becomes the ornament of the house of gods, having a very graceful and charming body.

7. Resting at night and subduing the Suras in battle, when the calamity comes and the heart goes to sleep, nothing in him throbs, rises or sits. Let him enter a cave, follow heaven, climb the heavenly mountain, place his body in a cage, be fully guarded by his kinsmen, friends and children wielding lances in their hands, be protected by Mantras and be 5 attended by a host of warriors, still he would not be saved by them all. Baladeva, the wielder of the disk, the leader of the gods, the Khecara in the sky, Yama, Varuna, the supporter of the earth, none can afford shelter. Whoever contemplates in his mind, day after day, this idea of helplessness, graceful in body and enjoying pleasures, is soon courted 10 by the heavenly women.

8. What happiness is there for one revolving in the cycle of existence? He gets various unpleasant woes. In hell he is tormented by many hellish beings with whom he contracted enmity of yore. There, he experiences great afflictions which can not be imagined by the mind. Being 5 born amongst lower animals opposed to each other by birth, they have to undergo the gagging, piercing, beating, splitting of the body and the like. Even in humanity, a man, being suppressed, pines uneasily in his heart. Born in the world of gods, he, being inconsiderate, feels woeful in his mind at the sight of others' prosperity. As the dancing girl assumes various forms, even so life takes various bodies. Whichever person studiously throws his sight on the world, tell me, what he did not obtain in the world being himself the mine of all high-class gems. 10

9. There is no good helpmate of the soul, who could save it from falling into hell. Friends, relatives, sons and dear brothers, these render no help to the departing soul. One's mother and father weep but do not go even a foot-step with the soul. Wealth does not go out of the house even a step; it alone experiences the fruit of piety and sin. The body falls in blazing fire; it alone mounts to the home of death. Where no happiness is found even for the twinkling of an eye there single-handed it suffers misery. Amongst serpents, ichneumons, lions and dwellers of the forest, the soul alone is born helplessly. In the beautiful towns of the Suras, Khecaras and Kinnaras it alone enjoys life as long as it lives. Whoever follows this view adorning his body with goodness, shines forth alone and free of the body, at the place of eternity which is the abode of happiness. 5 10

10. This is what the sage holding numerous virtues, declares. He declares it all alien to the soul. What is nourished with hundreds of drugs, even that body is separate from the soul. Eyes with beautiful pupils, large and pleasing, are no part of the soul. The tongue resembling the leaf of a tree, also stands apart from the soul. The richness of the body, touch, smell and ears, and the excellence of beauty, is all quite separate from the soul. The other qualities that are found in the body, all of them, go detached from the soul. The excessive fatness and fineness of the body are far removed from the soul. The four, anger and others, as well as virtue and vice, which are Karmic entities, are alien to the self. Which ever person meditates in his mind upon this idea with firmness, attains the highest status and becomes bright, absolved from body and excellent. 5 10

11. Tell me what quality shines forth in this body which has been given the ornament of impurity by nature? The fickle eyes that become sportive, are defiled by lots of evils. Tell me what purity is there in the cavity of the nose whose excreta is visibly impure. How do people imagine innumerable qualities in the lip which is flooded with a current of saliva ? What merit is seen in the breasts which, like wounds, are full of pus ? They are grown up balls of thick flesh; who would feel an attachment for them which are so defiled ? What do wise people say about the middle zone ? It sheds impurities at two points. Where fat, blood, flesh and bones are assembled, tell me, what cause of purity is there ? Tell me what man in the world would feel attachment for it, if he observes inner and outer purity ? Whichever person would think of this as impure by nature being produced by semen and blood, him this matchless idea would bring on to the path of salvation. 5 10

12. As water is collected in the ocean, even so a multitude of Karmas flows in. The soul contracts Karmas as an invisible point of iron is caught by a magnet. By the loss of the right faith, Karmas are contracted owing to the false belief. The guileless lord Jina declares that Karma comes in as a result of non-abstinence. The inflow of the Karmas takes place by falling into anger, pride, deceit and greed. If one forms the habit of controlling the mind, the enemy Karma can not be born. If one indulges in violent speech, who can prevent the Karmas meeting him ? Whoever uses his body for violence, makes love with Karmas. Having given rise to a slight cause for Karmas, if one contemplates in his heart upon this idea, he is blessed; that man, without delay, relishes the juice of eternal bliss. 5 10

13. Whoever, being firm-minded, holds up right faith, checks the wicked false sight. Whoever conducts himself with pure forgiveness, gets rid of the water of anger, the cause of misery. Whoever conducts himself with pure gentleness, his pillar of pride surely goes off. Whichever noble person sets his mind on straight-forwardness, becomes an antidote to the poison of fraud. Whoever is indifferent even towards a beautiful body, certainly vanquishes the lion of greed. Whichever good man shall follow religion with his heart, shall arrest the monkey mind. Whoever worships the passionless (Jina) with adoration, immediately destroys wicked desires. Whoever observes all the forms of religion, keeps pure at heart and practises meditation and concentration, escapes low birth. Whoever, being endowed with forgiveness and self-restraint and being an abode of virtues, visibly checks these (evil tendencies), he, having enjoyed the pleasures of heaven, bands his way towards perfection. 5 10

14. Nirjarā, which destroys attachment, is considered to be of two kinds, fruitful and fruitless. The multifold Karmas that are collected in the past and are created now, have to be borne in experience. Who emaciates his body by the rays of the sun during summer, passes the rainy season under a tree and bears the frost on his head during winter, he confidently gets rid of the Karmas. Who bears the unbearable weight of penance, wears out his body by fasts and checks irrelevant talk, he shatters all the Karmas. Who controls his mind from wandering outside, that man destroys the Karma in his mind immediately. Who regulates his meals according to the waning and waxing of the moon, who prefers sour gruel for food, who adopts various forms of physical austerities, who bears the twenty-two trials and who foregoes the two kinds of worldly possessions that man performs fruitless Nirjarā. Whose Karmas exhaust by themselves, in his case the Nirjarā is fruitful. Whichever person, being pure in mind, shatters his Karma by mind, speech and body, having enjoyed happiness amongst gods, does surely make his abode in salvation.

15. This universe is divided into three parts. It is fourteen chains (rajju) in height. The first (part) is the abode of hell in the shape of an overturned, shallow cup. The second is the abode of animals, which is immeasurable, and is like a bell. It is the animal world. Where the immortals have no self-restraint but have enjoyments, that is the world of the immortals resembling a drum. Above it is the well-known region of perfection where misery is not to be found even for the twinkling of an eye. It is described by the many highly qualified sages as held fast by three circles of winds. As the sun is poised in the sky, even so, this world is not supported by any thing. The sky is inactive, what else? Even so, no person has created the world. Having observed the five great vows, who applies his mind to this idea of the universe, that man, blessed and lucky, enjoys numerous heavenly pleasures.

16. May there arise devotion to the lotus-like feet of lord Jina. May I be born in the family of the faithful endowed with right faith, knowledge and conduct. In every life, may the five vows of the two kinds be mine. May the beautiful teachings of Jina by means of which the essence of existence is known, be available to me. May I have devotion for the ocean-like sages who hold peace, restraint, religious practices and observances in high esteem. May I have devotion for the beautiful tenfold piety which brings about the happiness of salvation. May the fourteen ' search- lights ' that remove old age, birth and death, flash forth in my mind. May the fourteen ' states of qualities ' be clear to me and may the qualities of the perfected be firmly fixed in my mind. Who brought into his heart, soon, this idea, having followed it with wisdom, he profusely adorned, in half an instant, the face of the lady salvation. 10

17. Dharma is characterised by the ten qualities. Fruitful is the birth of him who observes it. By dharma horses are obtained and excellent chowries are sportively waved over him. By dharma one would sport in celestial cars and move about in chariots, on elephants or by other conveyances. By dharma one would get ample richness which is the essence of the jewels obtainable from the great ocean-the world. By dharma various enjoyments become available and people do not transgress his orders. By dharma the goddess of speech stays at the tongue and one obtains the beautiful desires of his heart, oh brother ! By dharma seven-storeyed buildings and excellent gems giving various pleasures (are obtained). By dharma the gods worship the excellent Jinas; by dharma all may become great gods or lords of men. By dharma an accomplished woman, the doom of the infatuated young men, becomes yours. By dharma are born Damodaras, the excellent Jinas, Prati-Kesanas, Sankaras, and the Saras in heaven. By dharma all those good fortunes are born as also Haladhavas and Cakradharas. 5 10 15

18. Reflecting upon these ideas in his mind and making himself averse to sensual pleasures, counting a host of women as straw and speaking words pleasant to the ears, steadyling the fickle mind, he (i. e. the king) reached the pleasure-garden. He saw the extensive pleasure-garden resounding with the noise of the Kinnaras and Khecaras. In that garden he saw the repository of goodness, who was a shower for suppressing the fire of anger and the like, whose body was resplendent with the rays of knowledge, who was a dart in the heart of the huntsman Cupid, a wrestler to vanquish the warrior infatuation, the residence of the tenfold dharma, the fire to consume the fuel of antagonistic philosophies, who was attached to the face of the lady in the form of severe penance, and was free from the shackles of Karma, who was destructive to birth and death, the home of 5 10

the twofold austerities, and who was the excellent forehead mark on the face of the lady salvation.

19. At his sight, he was thrilled in all his limbs like lotuses at the touch of the sun-rays. Having gone round thrice and bowing to his lotus-like feet, he sang a hymn " Be victorious, oh hot sun to destroy the darkness ! You have brought the lords of gods, men and serpents to your feet. Be victorious, oh thunderbolt to the great mountain of pride; be 5 victorious, oh incomparable, full tank of salvation. Be victorious, oh axe to cut the tree of delusion; be victorious, oh boatsman in the ocean of the four forms of life. You remove the sin of those who bow even from a distance, as the sun is, by nature, the dispeller of darkness. Whoever recalls you to mind every day, soon attains to the town of salvation." Having 10 adored the lotus-feet of the excellent sage, he sat down in front of the home of penances. He then said " Oh master, reveal to me the highest religion which is free from deception. Tell me that, kindly, oh master, by practising which the multitude of woes be destroyed, the incomparable happiness of salvation may increase and which may give a right lead to well- 15 meaning, faithful people.

20. Hearing those words of him the sage who had shaken off Cupid spoke. He told him the excellent dharma which leads to good birth " The tree of religion, oh king, is divided into two parts. Being sprinkled over with the water of holy observances, it grows steadily. Having obtained a human birth, one should, with pure heart, worship the Jina and 5 hold the feet of sages in his mind. He should read the scriptures and observe the forms of restraint. He should pass the days in bearing the useful burden of rules and austerities. He should bestow the four kinds of charity upon the three kinds of deserving, holy recipients either going to the temple of the Jina and bringing him with devotion or receiving 10 him in the home as he happens to come to the house during his tour at the proper time. If a sage arrives at his house at noon, being devoted to the sages with pure mind, he should say ' Stay ' and receive him. Then offering him a wooden seat he should wash his lotus-feet and honour even that water (used for washing). He should then worship him with sandal 15 rice, flowers, eatables, lamp, frank-incense and nuts. He should adore his feet with a handful of water. Whichever person conducts himself by the six professional duties and whose body is covered with the six religious duties, he ridding himself of the inauspicious humours, applies his mind to the Jina image.

21. Why talk much, oh best of men ! Whoever holds right faith in his heart- the right faith which comes from the belief in the excellent Jina and which is spoiled by a false belief, the right faith which comes from a confidence in the realities and the remedying of the faults of doubt and the like, whoever, again, abstains from liquor, flesh, honey, butter, banyan, fig, pilli, khinni, phenphari and umbari, and the five udumbaris, whoever neither gambles nor drinks wine and has no desire for flesh, who shuns harlots charming to the eyes, and does not indulge in the sinful hunting, who does never steal others' wealth and avoids, from a distance, the women of others, who eschews the seven vices with all consideration like a large poison-tree- he enjoys unbroken happiness and is not feasted upon by the demon misery.

22. Nobody becomes great, oh king, without religious observances; with sacred vows, even a poor man becomes respectable. These are summarised into two classes-vows for the householders and those for ascetics. The anuvratas are said to be less rigorous while the same, observed very minutely, become Mahāvratas. Who protects the lives of the mobile animals, that man holds the first vow. Who does not speak false in a broad sense, that wise man wields the second vow. Who does not acquire wealth by stealing, he observes the third vow. Who regards the wife of another as mother, he maintains the fourth vow, oh king. Who sets a limit to his worldly possessions, he, oh king, keeps the fifth vow. Who abstains from eating at night as well as going into the directions (beyond a set limit) and shuns tying cattle with ropes, he, lessening the volume of his enjoyments and pleasures, easily gets delight in the heavenly home.

23. Who looks upon all creatures with equanimity, who reflects upon the religious observances in his heart, and who eschews distressful and violent feelings, that good man maintains the customary vow. Who observes the four grief-removing fasts in a month on the two eighth and fourteenth days, whichever good man gives alms of the four kinds, who bestows upon creatures compassion as well as knowledge and who affords medical treatment to the diseased, he surely follows heaven. Who at the meal-time, gives to the deserving, food and drink with affection, or gives food to the poor and hungry through compassion, and who, at last, gives up his breath in penance with a steady mind, who observes all these difficult Anuvratas, 10 Gunavratas and Sikṣāvratas, he, being covetous of the face of the bride eternally, shall obtain a succession of happiness.

24. The religion of the householders is like this, oh king ! This is what the great sages of yore have declared. Listen, oh king, to the five vows of the ascetics where not a single fault is admissible. Who gives protection to the mobile and the immobile creatures, he enjoys pleasures by innumerable lakhs. Who does not tell a false story even for amusement, 5 he out-wits the preceptor of gods in oratory. Who never misappropriates the wealth of others, he makes the mind of the lord of gods anxious. Who observes the ninefold celibacy, he attains the boundless happiness of salvation. Who avoids the two-fold worldly possessions, he crosses the great ocean of metempsychosis. Whoever holds the basic qualities, oh king, 10 is embraced by the bride salvation. The secondary qualities of the sages are so many that no one is able to survey them, oh king. I have told you, oh lord of men, the dharma, pleasant to the ears, which stands two-fold. Whichever person observes, according to his ability, these five vows, oh king, courts the golden and immortal, proud maid salvation, and 15 he, without doubt, becomes her lord.

SECTION IX.

CHAPTER X

1. Hearing that, the lord of Campā again asked the sage with bending head " Tell me, kindly, oh best of sages, what I ask you in a meek tone. If my body was so lovely, why this scab on my hand ? Tell me quickly. The husband of my mother was so much attached to her; by what Karma the separation took place, tell me ? By what Karma she was carried away by the elephant ? Why my wife was abducted by the Khecara ? " Hearing that, the sage revealed to him " Listen to what I say oh king ! Here, in the Bharata country, is the Vaitūḍhya mountain. On the southern side of it is the prosperous town of Rathanepura the circular. There, the Khecara Nila was the king. He was hard pressed by his coparceners; so he fled away to Terā-pattana. Residing there, he acquired a territory and built several Jina temples. There was a merchant named Dhanamitra who daily waited upon all learned men. A mine for the jewel of right faith, he had in his home for wife Dhanawati. He had a good cowherd Dhanadatta who did all that he was told to do; who, being virtuous, delighted her mind also, and whose body was adorned with gentle nature. 5 10 15

2. He, one day, at night, released the buffaloes and went towards the south with them. There, he saw a beautiful lake flowered with excellent lotuses like Dharma. The lotus-lake shone forth very brightly as if the sky with the stars had descended on earth. The white lotuses on the lotus-leaves looked like the royal parasols on the green earth. Or, being fully blossomed, they shone like rubies in a green receptacle. In the midst of it stood one lotus which looked like the moon adorned by the clusters of stars. Seeing it, a desire flashed forth in his mind and he entered the lake in order to fetch it joyfully. Entering into the water, he took the lotus as if he had, in a moment, plucked off the head of the lake. Taking it, as he came out, with his body excited with joy, his pure mind bloomed up by the possession of the full-blown flower. 5 10

3. As he walked away with that lotus, Nāgakumāra, the Sura, came there. The good Sura told the cowherd " I have been protecting this lake with great care. The flower which no body could take, not even a Khecara, a serpent or a Sura, has been taken away by you a man, oh fine fellow, I tell you with all respect. Now you shall obey these words of mine. 5
Whoever be great, with his feet worshipped in the three worlds, and at whose sight sin quickly flies off, at his feet you shall offer this flower. If you do not obey my words, oh friend, I shall certainly kill you, oh innocent-minded ! " Dhanadatta went away having accepted the words uttered by the lord of serpents. He thought " My merchant is great as he 10 is saluted by all good men. I shall worship his feet with this flower which has been guarded by the serpent-gods. "

4. So thinking, he went near the merchant and stood up humbly before him. The merchant then asked him " Why are you standing before me with folded hands ? " Dhanadatta said " Oh merchant, my father, I shall worship your feet with this lotus. " " Tell me the reason ? " Being 5 so questioned he said " I plucked this flower from a lake and a Sura has told me " Whoever is great in the three worlds, worship him. If you do not worship, I shall kill you. " Hearing this, I have come, thinking, oh father, that I shall worship your feet. You are great and adorable by the people and so deserve to be worshipped with this flower. " Hearing 10 this, the merchant said " Oh son, the king is greater than myself, oh good minded ! " The merchant then took him to the king's palace and saw the king in the Jina temple. Having repeated to him as before (he said) " You are great, as people bow to you. Therefore, I shall worship your feet with this flower obtained by me in the lake. " Hearing this, the king 15 replied " Greater than myself is the sage, surely. "

5. All of them went in front of the good sage Yosodhara in order to offer that flower to him. " You are great, oh passionless, excellent sage ! I shall worship your feet with the lotus. " " I am not great " said the sage, 5
" People esteem the famous god of gods, Jinavara as the greatest of all, who has become purified having destroyed the enemies- Karmas, who is bright with knowledge, and has achieved perfection. Worship Him, steeped in devotion. " Hearing his words, Dhanadatta, without washing his hands and feet, worshipped the Jina with that excellent lotus, as Indra did on the Meru of yore. People offered felicitations to him whose mind was bursting with the flood of devotion. As a result of that single flower, he was born as the son of the king of Campā in you. Who glorifies the Jina with purity, he takes the lady salvation by the palm of his hand. The excellent Jina, the forehead-mark of the world, was worshipped with hands and feet splashed in mud. Therefore, this scab has come on to your hands and feet. I have told you this pleasant story. 10 15

6. " Oh king, endowed with numerous virtues, friend, listen now to the story of your father. Here, in the Bharata country, is the town of Srāvastī where Khecarā women mostly sport for long. There was a famous, sweet-tongued merchant by name Nāgadattā. His wife was named Nāgadattā. She was an aruni stick for producing the fire of anxiety. The great merchant would not leave her side and would not sleep any where (else) day or night. The merchant adopted a son who was fondled by the tender hands of his wife. This son of the merchant, oh king, grew up and became very gentle with his virtues. One day, this Brahmana boy whose arms were long and stout like the elephant-trunk, was seen by the lotus-eyed Nāgadattā who felt attached towards him and the lovely-bodied one began to think in her mind. 5 10

7. She looked again and again at the youth as if he was visible Cupid incarnate. Like new gold in appearance, with eyes like those of a fawn, she soon became perverted in her mind. Being shot with the sharp arrow of Cupid in all her body, nothing appeared pleasant to her heart. She would shake her hands, bear horripilation, exhibit her line of hair to him, show her breasts and loosen the tie of skirt. Say what a person blinded by love, may not do. Being overpowered by the bunch of the arrows of the flower-armed, the wayward one did not feel apprehensive of any body, not even of the elderly gentlemen whose minds were prepared for the welfare of the next world. She did not fear her son or relatives, nor fight shy of her dearest mother. Was not that mine of all virtues, clever-minded and modest youth addressed by her in tender terms ? 5 10

8. Hearing those words, he shut his ears with his upraised, tender hands; and broadening his eyes and shaking his head, he, thinking her to be wicked, said " Alas, mother, oh mother ! what do you say this, as if you have been thoroughly intoxicated by wine ? I am your son and you are my mother. What grace is there in your telling me this ? Do you 5 not remember your high parentage which bears the excellence of the sky ?

 Respected as you are with honours and gifts, why have you resorted to this rashness, oh mother ? How is it that your intellect, which was the delight to the eyes and ears of people, has become so perverted ? " Interrupting his speech and grasping him by the hand, the love-stricken woman 10 made him quiet. A woman attracts the mind of even gods like Hari, Hara, Brahmā, and Indra; what can a poor, stupid man, fallen in to her clutches, do ?

9. By nature, every one has the feeling of love and thinks of woman in his heart with one mind. If he gets her consent, then, tell me, is the woman to be disregarded ? Whose mind does not shake in her company, he obtains the way to perfection, oh lord of men. So, in the mean while, the sun set. After many hours, even the sun went to sleep, 3 as it were. The multicoloured evening pervaded the sky; she was, as it were, the bride of the sky, dressed red. Thick darkness spread about where an adulteress can follow many men. Nāgadattā, infatuated with love, thought of the darkness in her heart and embraced that Brahmana who bit her lip. But, in the meantime, the moon rose up in a moment, 10 arousing sorrow in the mind of the unchaste woman. Then the merchant observed her conduct and instantly retired to forest. Having practised penance, he broke all ties and went to heaven, where, having enjoyed happiness, he died again, and, in course of days, came into the womb of Vasumati as the son of king Vasupāla in the town of Campā. 15
 That gracious Mādīvāhana, beloved of the people and foremost in the world, having stout arms, meditated upon the Five Teachers on the mountain, occupied the topmost heaven, and became immortal.

10. That Brahmana, as a result of adultery, wandered in to the cycle of existence. Having experienced misery in an inaccessible thicket of the forest, he was born an elephant in the country of Kalinga. Under the arrangement of some Karma, it became the best elephant of the king of Campā. Having cohabited with a stranger, Nāgadattā experienced misery 5 in the great ocean of transmigration. Here, in the Bharata country, is the town Tāmralipti, seeing which the lord of the gods does not feel satiated.
 There was the good merchant Vasumitra, who came to have Nāgadattā for his wife. As they lived in enjoyment, one day, two daughters were born to them. The first was named Dhanavati and the second Dhanasri. 10

In the town of Nālanda, there was the merchant Dhanadatta whose wife was Dhanamitrā. His son named Dhanapāla, a patron of panegyrists, became first the husband of Dhanavati.

11. In the town of Kausambi there was the merchant Vasupāla whose wife was Vasumati a source of pleasure. He got a son named Vasudatta, the vanquisher of his foes and devoted to the lotus-feet of Jina. Dhanasri, the basket of virtues, was given to him as Candi was given to Isa the lord of men. She passed many days in the enjoyment of pleasures and sports. 5
Then, one day, Vasumitra was snatched away by the cruel-humded messengers of Death. Out of sorrow, Nagadattā left Kausambi and went to the house of her daughter. Knowing her mother to be without any religious vows, the lotus-eyed Dhanasri, devoted to the lotus-feet of the sages, took her instantly to the Jina temple and gave her the vow of 10 abstaining from food at night, (saying) "Do not take your food at night, oh mother." Hearing that, the mother replied "Wonderful is this system of religious vows and practices." Having bowed to the feet of the sage with bending head, the excessively good woman took the vow in her mind. 15
Knowing it to be a means of getting over the cycle of existence, destroyer of all ills and giver of many excellences, the mother of Dhanasri took the vow of abstaining from food at night as it was revealed to her.

12. Then, Nagadattā, one day, went to the house of Dhanavati. As she lived there for many days, her elder daughter violated her vow of night. As it was violated once, so it was successively violated thrice. Then, for the fourth time, Nāgadattā went to the house of Dhanasri with pure mind. Here Nagadattā was, in course of time, carried away by the hurrying messengers of Death. 5
In Kausambi there was Vasumati the agreeable wife of king Vasupāla. Nagadattā was born her daughter exceedingly beautiful. At her birth, the mother Vasumati, by the ripeness of Karma, was overtaken by a serious disease. So, the king placed her in a box and threw it in the current of the Jumna. Being made of precious stones, it shone forth 10 brightly on the dark waters of the Jumna, like the brilliant jewel on the crest of the female serpent. It moved on from its place.

13. There was another (box) made of wood in which the first one was concealed. As it was beautifully made without any leak, it fell in to the Ganges being carried by the current. At places, it wavered by the waves, at places, it fell into a whirl-pool and at places it floated on very smoothly, thus exhibiting the beauty of a boat on the wide sea. After 5 some days, it reached Kusumapura where lived the gardener's wife Kusumadattā. She went to the Ganges for water and saw the box floating on. Taking it out, she went home with it. Both of them stood delighted with great expectations. As they opened it and looked in, they saw a female child wrapped in a jewelled shawl. In course of days, she attained 10 youth and fell into the sight of your father. She, who had become known amongst people by the name of Padmāvatī, charming by the lustre of her body and very smooth, was married by your father, and, in time, you came into her womb. On that occasion, she mounted on the great elephant and rode about the town. The elephant, bearing the old infatuation, carried 15 her off trembling with fear.

14. She escaped from it some how and went to the dreadful garden. A certain gardener took her home, but his wife soon quarrelled with her. Afflicted with grief, she went to the cemetery where you were born. I have told you the facts. Listen now to the account of Madanāvatī; mysterious is the destiny of creatures. Having obtained birth in the species 5 of dove, she became a female-pigeon pleasing to the eyes. Feedings on curds and boiled rice in the cage, as she lived sporting with her mate, there came a snake gliding, as if the dreadful god of death had arrived. Both of them were caught by the legs by it, but you kindly rushed and saved them. By the Navakāra, she has been born in her who has her 10 affections fastened on you. The pigeon and the snake became *Khecara*s on account of the Navakāra obtained from a sage. Out of jealousy did the snake Khecara carry away your wife to his own home.

15. Whatever you asked me, oh king, I have told you to my ability." Hearing that, the king was wonderstruck and thought in mind of practising austerities. In the mean while, Padmāvatī arrived where the sage was revealing the charming religion. She adored the sage devoutly bending her head and called out her son in sweet tone. 5

 Then she asked the sage who was the embodiment of knowledge " Tell me oh master, of some religious practice which may serve as a strong bolt to the house of misery and hell and by means of which my female sex may be changed. " To her who was afraid of the great ocean of existence, who had abandoned all pleasures and numerous comforts, and who was 10
 feeling miserable, the great ascetic compassionately preached the religious practice that may lead to happiness and prosperity. " Beginning with the first (of the month) whoever would observe fast always, oh daughter, would realise the happiness desired in his heart and enjoy sportively on the heavenly couch. 15

16. By fasting on the first (of the month) the first heaven is attained; by fasting on the second the second class of gods is achieved. By a fast on the third, residence in the third heaven is secured and by the fourth a happy abode in the fourth is obtained. The fifth gives happiness in the fifth, and the fast on the sixth leads to the sixth heaven. One goes to the seventh heaven by a fast on the seventh and to the eighth by one on the eighth. Then, by a fast on the ninth the ninth world of the gods is obtained and by one on the tenth, one gets enjoyment in the tenth. By a fast on the eleventh one goes to the eleventh heaven and by one on the twelfth to the twelfth. The thirteenth brings one into the thirteenth and the 10 fourteenth secures the fourteenth. The fifteenth shows the fifteenth and the sixteenth fast brings it to a conclusion. He, who takes his food and drink after this, having performed the pleasant worship of the Jina, he, having climbed by these steps, certainly follows up the lady salvation.

17. This ceremony should be completed devoutly with a pleased mind, dressed in a fine, red and bright garment. Having worshipped the path to happiness, and placing a jar in front, covering it also with a new and beautiful cloth, it should be worshipped with all the materials of worship by offering them into it. Then, placing a religious book there and observing sleeplessness by the trumpet, bestowing the four kinds of gifts on the 5 deserving recipients, the book, should be worshipped and the Jina bathed.

You should honour this (ceremonial). Sixteen canopies and flags jingling with small bells, should be presented to a Jina temple. By the fast of this beautiful vow you shall obtain all your desired happiness." 10

18. Again, she asked the great sage who had brought the lord of gods to his lotus feet " Oh excellent sage, has any one observed this anywhere and obtained the fruit of the vow ? " Hearing that, the lord of sages spoke so that the doubt of her mind might be removed " Sumitrā the young daughter of the king of Ujjaini took this vow in her mind. 5
At the first fast she died and was born in the home of a Brahmana in Ujjaini. By observing the fast for two Ghatikas only, she changed her miserable female sex. While the child was yet in womb, the father died. The mother looked after all his happiness. One day, the mother quarrelled and expelled her son from home. Feeling angry, 10 he went out of the town and lodged in an old temple at night. There came a multitude of Vidyādhara women, seeing whom he felt excited.

19. He caught the border of the garment of one of them. All of them fled away by his fear. But the garment fell into his hand. The hero then returned home. The mother welcomed him and took the cloth to a big merchant. The merchant purchased it for money and presented the excellent cloth to the king. The king asked him " Have you got another ? 5
If you bring one more I shall give you an elephant. " He said " The son of the Brahmana might bring another such cloth, oh lord ! " The king sent him out with money. The Brahmana went back to the forest. There he saw a Rākshasa woman sharpening a sickle with her hand. Knowing her to be a Rākshasa woman, the Brahmana stretched his stick over her 10 head. The Rākshasa woman, then, folding her hands, stood in front of the Brahmana, shaking with fear, and said--

20. " I have committed no crime; why have you got enraged with me ? " The Brahmana spoke unpleasant words to her " This stick devours hundreds of Rākshasas. " With scared eyes and trembling with fear, she clung to his feet at once. " Do not beat me, lord; hold back. I shall do all that you say. " He then made her assume a beautiful appearance and 5 brought her home. Having secured the cloth from her, he presented it instantly to the king. Seeing that, the king was pleased with him and bestowed a great favour upon him. Observing that, the minister- Brahmana thought of destroying his life. The minister went to the dear wife of the king and told her " Ask for tiger-milk. " Then she instantly took 10 her bed.

21. Hearing about the condition of the queen, the king immediately went to her. She told that to the king who commissioned the good Brahmana for it. The Brahmana went home and instantly turned the Rākshasa woman into a tigress with a rope fastened to her neck. He brought her to the palace and presented her to the king instantly. At her sight, 5 all people fled away. (The Brahmana said) " Your minister shall milk her well. " The minister, being terrified, told the king " There is no purpose of the milk; let it go away. " Then the minister, in secret consultation, told the queen soon again, " You ask for speaking water to be brought. Do it so, that, being gone, he may never return. " Then she said " Listen, oh 10 king; get soon speaking water. " Hearing that, the king told the Brahmana " It is for you to devise means for the accomplishment of this mission. "

22. He brought the Rākshasa woman turning her into water and made it to speak in front of the king. It said " I would eat away both persons, the minister and the queen, oh king ! " Hearing this, the king felt wonder-struck and asked the Brahmana about it all. He told the doings of the minister, and the king turned out the wicked one. The king then 5 made the Brahmana his minister and the people of the town were satisfied with it. On a subsequent day, the good Brahmana retired for austerities and entered the portals of heaven. He was reborn as Arjuna. This is the fruit of the ceremonial, oh daughter ! " She then accepted it immediately and observed it with devotion to lord Jina. As an inviolable fruit 10 of the vow, the lovely lady set aside her female sex, and then renouncing the world, died and soon entered heaven.

23. In the meanwhile, Karakanda, when he heard of this, felt highly grieved. He clung to the feet of the Jina, became afraid of the afflictions and felt detached from the world. " I have, for long, been devoured by the succession of sorrow, birth and death, the home of sin. " Then he said to the worshipful, compassionate sage " My foot has touched the Jina image. Prescribe some expiation for the sin and nullify the crime quickly. Release me, oh holy sir, so that I may practise penance and vanquish the great warriors, anger and others. The sage kindly accepted (his prayer). Karakanda transferred the kingdom to Vasupāla, and, being weary of the great miseries of the world, took to the practice of austerities. He plucked off his curly hair as if they were the gliding serpents the Karmas. Counting all the inmates of the harem as straw, he removed the clothes from his body. When he took the vow of austerities leaving aside the feudatories, ministers and the earth, the fact was reported into the town by some one who came in heavy with sorrow.

24. Then Maṇāvali got up restraining herself and abandoning the necklace. Ratnagā ran beating her breasts and regarding her camphor-box as straw. Kusumāvali threw away the flowers, and Ratnāvali ceased to wear the pearls. Anangulekhā left aside her jewels and walked away, while Ośndralekhā lost the lustre of her body in a moment. All the queens ran up and stood before the sage, being attached to the king. But seeing the king, they became peaceful and stood there folding their hands. They requested the sage " Recommend hard vows to us, oh master ! we shall practise austerities. The sage gave them the liberty and they who had suppressed Cupid, accepted the vow. Having practised hard penance, they all went to heaven; while Karakanda, thinking of the Jina in his heart, toured from country to country.

25. Then, he, who was disgusted with the pleasures of the senses and was weary of the ocean of metem-psychosis (practised the vow) famous in the world by the name of Panca-kalyāṇa-vidhāna in the presence of which ignorance vanishes, by practising which the mind becomes steady, by which people become mighty and religious like Balaḍeva and Nārāyaṇa, by performing which people become lords of gods, serpents and men and even passionless Jina, through which all good fortunes are attained, by means of which one advances to the stage of supreme knowledge.

by which people become heart-winning Kāmadēvas and cross over the entire ocean of virtues, by which unblemished faith is held and the damsel 10 salvation is easily achieved, which is a sheath (i. e. remedy) against the abode of miserable hell, by obtaining which one can obtain supreme knowledge, and which has been declared by the great sages enjoying supreme knowledge as the foremost of all forms and ceremonies.

26. He performed what the sole emperor had performed with bent head i. e. five baths to the Jina with hundreds of jars full of boiled butter, curds and milk, giving three baths during the day and two at night, along with the sound of trumpets and shouts of victory that filled the earth. He performed the auspicious rite of ' Coming into the womb ' with joy, on the 5 first of the dark fortnight of the month of Bhādrapada. He, of gentle conduct, observed a fast on that day for the sake of perfection. During night, the form called ' Devotion to the perfected ' was observed as well as the ' Devotion to right conduct. ' After that, he performed the ' Devotion to the Scriptures ' destructive of future worldly existence. Then the good 10 form of the ' Renunciation of the body ' was observed accompanied by the repetition of the sacred formula two hundred times. Then, on the fifth day, he observed the potent vow of the ' Holy Birth. ' The aforesaid, pleasant and virtuous ceremony was rehearsed. Having observed a fast on the misery-removing eighth day, the bright ceremony of ' Renunciation ' was 15 performed accompanied by the ' Devotion to Self-concentration. ' Again, on the tenth day, he performed the ceremony of ' Supreme knowledge ' as said above, together with the ' Devotion to Scriptures ' which is the abode of all happiness. Having devoutly observed a fast on the fourteenth, the ocean of virtues performed the ceremony of the fifth auspicious rite which 20 is resplendent with the eight foremost qualities and which holds numerous merits. The last muttering of the prayers was done two hundred and eight times. This foremost vow was observed by him bearing great delight in his heart. Whichever other wise man does the same, causes his fame to go round the earth. 25

27. Performing severe penance, the meritorious religious meditation was observed three times a day under different trees. Breaking off dishonesty, pride and attachment, he cast, at a distance, greed. Restraining the actions of the five senses, considering mind, speech and body as straw, observing self-restraint of the two kinds, setting his heart upon the highest status, consuming the tree of Karma in the fire of meditation so that misery may not become visible even in dream, valuing gold as a heap of grass and sandal as mud, he warded off his eyes that arouse passion by fixing them on his nose. Uniting himself to supreme knowledge which is devoid of parts like the clear sky, he found himself in himself, and, breaking the ties of Karmas, he soon attained to the region of ' All desires fulfilled ', by the fruit of the vow now recommended by Sage Kanakāmara. 5 10

28. By me born in an old Brahmana family, of the gotra of sage Candra, pure, become skylad through the growth of ascetic spirit, whose name has become well-known as Kanakāmara, the pupil of Buddhamaṅgaladeva, and who has caused satisfaction to the minds of people, has this life been published on earth for the training and pleasure of the faithful, out of devotion to the lotus-feet of the Jina, having arrived in the town of Asāi and living there. Whatever has been said by me, ignorant of the sacred books, wise people might proclaim with more beauty. I have expressed myself to those gentlemen whose mind is ever ready to help others. I ask with folded hands. Let all forgive me for my (boldness in) composing this work. 5 10
Whoever reads, listens to, reflects upon in mind and popularises among people, this life, that man, the ornament of the world, shall obtain the glorification of his own virtues.

29. Who, in course of days, attained fresh youth as if a god had dropped down from a celestial ear, who was golden in appearance and had charming limbs, to whom king Vijayāla was attached, who had nourished in himself the great tree of righteousness, who was, as if, the mouth-piece of Vijayāla, who vanquished invincible foes easily, who used to divert his mind with elephant sport, who was the supporter of his relations, dear ones and friends, who was a charm to the mind of king Bhūvāla, who removed the miseries of the poor and helpless, who amused the mind of king Karna, who perturbed kings by his speech, who charmed the king by his business-ability, who was extremely courageous in a great fight, who was well known to people as in no way a coward and 5 10

dullard, who was a shower of gold-bracelets, who fulfilled the desires of the panegyrists, who was a bee on the lotus-feet of Jina, who was beautiful to the eyes in his whole person, who was never forgotten by the minds of sportive women, who was addressed by people as a stream of good nature 15 whose fame was never tired of wandering about, and in recounting whose virtues the goddess of speech felt diffident, he had as his sons, Ahula, Balho and Rāhula who were eager for the feet of sage Kanakāmara. Out of regard for him I published this pleasant life amongst people. May he, along with his kinsmen, children and wife, enjoy long, as long as the sun and 20 the moon subsist.

Here ends, in the life of the great king Karakanda, composed by Sage Kanakamara, which is an ornament to the ears of the holy and which presents the richness of the fruit of the desire-giving tree of the five auspicious rites, the tenth chapter describing the achievement of Sarvarthasiddhi by Karakanda.

उप्पलखेदि VI, 11 2. A town in विजयार्ध or वेद्यर्ध, ruled by पद्मदेव (पद्मदेव) विजयधर

कनकपुर (कणयउर) VI, 13, 8. A town on the bank of Sindhu in Vijayardha, ruled by Hamsaratha Vidyadhara.

कलिंग II, 2, 11; X, 10, 2. According to Uttarādhyayana Sutra XVIII, 460, Karadanda ruled here. It is identified with the Northern Circars, a country lying on the south of Orissa. Its capital was Dantapur or Dantipur.

कलिंजर I, 12, 9; °गिरि VI, 2, 4. Probably identical with Kalangala mentioned as the eastern boundary of the middle country in Vinaya II, 38. (Cunningham's Geography P. 723). Our Kalinjar might be identified with Keunjar of the maps in Orissa on the Baitarni river and close to a mountain range, an offshoot of Mahendra. It is near Puri with which Dantipur is identified. The name is at present borne by a celebrated fortress in Bundelkhanda, in the Badausa subdivision of the Banda district of U. P.

कान्यकुब्ज (कणउज्ज णयर) II, 10, 4. Modern Kanouj. It was the capital of the southern Pancala during the Buddhist period. (Rhys David's Buddhist India p. 27). Harshavardhana ruled there when he was visited by Hiuen Tsang in 636 A. D. It was the birth-place of Visvamitra (Ramayana, Balakanda)

कालिंदी III, 9, 4; etc. Another name of the river Jamna (Yamuna)

कुसुमपुर (°उर) I, 6, 1; X, 13, 5. Another name for Pataliputra which was the capital of Magadha under the Nandas and the Mauryas. In the Sanskrit drama Mudra-rakshasa, it is mentioned as the capital of Chandragupta Maurya, and as situated on the river Sona. It is also described by Megasthenes. It was built by Ajatasatru in 480 B. C. (Mahavagga VI, 28).

कौकण VIII, 12, 9. The country between the Western Ghats and the sea from about Bombay southward to Goa. Hiuen Tsang makes mention of one Kong-pien-na-pu-lo or Konkanpur, probably identical with Annagundi on the northern bank of the Tungabhadra river (Cun. Geo. p. 632, 745).

कैलाश (कश्यास) visited by Bharata (son of the first Tirthamkara Adinath) who also built temples there. IV, 4, 10; V, 5, 5. It was once lifted up by the king of Lanka (Ravana) IV, 11, 1. A celebrated mountain of Pauranic fame. It is identified with the Kangrin-poche of the Tibetans, about 25 miles to the north of Manasa lake, and to the east of the Niti pass (Dey. Geo.) It is also called Ashtapada. The first Tirthamkara Rshabha is said to have practised penance there and his son Bharata visited it during his journey of conquest (Jinasena's Adipurana).

कौशाम्बी (कउसंबि) I, 7, 9; X, 11, 1; X, 12, 6. The capital of the Vatsas ruled over by Naravahanadatta VI, 1, 3. Founded by Kusamba the son of Kusa (Ram. Balakanda XXXII, 6). Fa Hian locates it 13 yojanas N W of the Deer Park (modern Sarnath near Benares). It is identified with Kosam a village on the Jumna 30 miles S W of Allahabad, which is still called Kausambi by the Jains. Ancient coins are frequently discovered here and an ancient Jain inscription of the Kushan period has been found (Arch. Re. 1913-14; Ep. Ind. II, 240).

खंभायश्च पट्टण VIII, 12, 10. Modern Cambay, being at the head of a gulf of the same name, was an important trade port in ancient times, but has now lost its importance owing to the silting up of the gulf.

गंगानदी (°णइ) I, 3, 3; III, 12, 5; III, 20, 7; IV, 14, 6; X, 13, 2. The river Ganges.

गगनतल (गयणयल) V, 3, 9. A town in उत्तरवेष्टर्ध, where lived the two Vidyadharas Amitavega and Suvega.

गिरिनगर (°णयर) III, 5, 7. In Saurashtra (सोरठ्ठुदेस) ruled by king Ajavarma. It is represented by modern Junagadha in Gujrat, the old name being transferred to the hill about ten miles east. The 22nd Tirthamkara Neminatha practised austerities here and the hill is even now held sacred to him and is a place of pilgrimage for Jains. The inscriptions of Asoka, Rudradamana and Skandagupta are found engraved here on a single rock.

गोवर्द्धन (गोवर्द्धन) IV, 11, 2. A hill 18 miles from Brindavana in the district of Muttra. Krishna is said to have taken it upon his little finger and held it as an umbrella over the heads of his cattle and townsmen to protect them from the deluge of rain poured upon them by Indra. (Mbh. Udyoga, chap. 129).

चम्पा 1, 3, 12; II, 5, 2; X, 9, 12. Capital of Anga country, ruled by Dhadi-vahana son of Vasupala and father of Karakanda. It was the birth-place of the twelfth Tirthamkara Vasupujya. It is mentioned in the Ramayana, Mahabharata and other Puranas. Hiuen Tsang mentions it as Chenpo and locates it at a distance of 300 li or 50 miles east of Monghyr, on the strength of which Cunningham identifies it with Patharghata, 24 miles east of Bhagalpur. But N. L. Dey identifies it with Campa-nagar four miles to the west of Bhagalpur. (Cun. Geo; Dey Geo.)

चेर IV, 1, 5; VIII, 18, 5. In Dravida country whose kings did not at first submit to Karakanda but were subsequently overpowered. Mentioned in Asoka inscriptions as Keralaputra, and by Periplus as Cerobothra. The country, at one time, comprised the present kingdom of Mysore, Coimbatore, Salem, South Malabar, Travancore and Cochin. According to Ptolemy (2 nd Cent. AD.) its Capital was Karour or Karur, also called Vangi. The Pandya country lay to its south.

चोड II, 10, 5; IV, 1, 5; VIII, 18, 5. In Dravida country. Its king did not at first submit to Karakanda but was subsequently overpowered. It is mentioned in the Varttika of Katyayana, inscriptions of Asoka and the epics. Identical, probably, with Hiuen Tsang's Choliya (Chu-li-ye or Jho-li-ye) which he describes as a small district 2400 li or 400 miles in circuit and 1000 li or 167 miles south-west from Dhana-kataka. It is the modern Coromandal Coast. Its capital was Uraiur on the Kaveri and later Kanchipur, Combakonum and Tanjore. During the time of our author the Caudas seem to have been the leading power of the South.

ओहारद्वीप VIII, 10, 3. King Aridamana of Ujjain, after crossing the sea, reached there and married Ratnalekha. Seems to have been some island off the western coast.

जंबूद्वीप I, 3, 1; V, 1, 3. etc. The continent surrounded by the briny ocean (लवणार्णव) and one hundred thousand yojanas in extent; in which the Bharata kshetra is situated; so called because it is characterised by a Jambu tree.

जयन्ती VI, 10, 3 A town in the southern part of the Vidyadhara mountain (Vediardha), where Dhumaketu Vidyadhara ruled. (see वेद्यधे).

ताम्रलिप्ति (ताम्रलिप्ति) X, 10. 5. A town mentioned in the Mbh., the Puranas and the Buddhist works. It was celebrated as a maritime port (Kss XII, 14.) It was from here that Vijaya is said to have sailed for Ceylon. Fa Hian describes it as being at the sea mouth, 50 yojanas east of Campa. It was the capital of the Sumha country. Formerly, at the mouth of the Ganges, but is now situated on the western bank of the Rupanarain in the district of Midnapur in Bengal and is called Tamluk.

तिलकद्वीप (°दीव) VII, 15, 1. While returning from Simhala by sea,

Karakanda was carried away to this island by a Vidyadhari. It may be one of the few flat islands off the Jaffna peninsula which forms the extreme north of Ceylon, and was the gateway by which the hardworking Tamils of South India entered Ceylon. It is also mentioned in the Bhavis-yatta-kaha of Dhana-pala

दक्षिणापथ (दक्षिणवह) IV, 2, 4; Ancient name of Deccan i. e. the part of India to the south of the Narmada. The name occurs in the Pali books of the Buddhists. It is the Dakkinabades of the Greeks. It is defined in Bh. Nat. XIII, 26, as follows:—

महेन्द्रो मलयः सहो मेलकः पलपिञ्जरः

एतेषु संश्रिता देशाः स ज्ञेयो दक्षिणापथः॥

दंतीपुर I, 14, 4; II, 5, 4; II, 19, 3; III, 1, 2; III, 11, 9. Here Padmavati was taken by the elephant running away from Campa. Karakanda was born in its vicinity and later was crowned king of the city. It is identical with Dantapur, the ancient capital of Kalinga, mentioned in Pali books in connection with the tooth-relic of Buddha (see Dattha vansa). It is probably the Dandagula, °guda or °pula of Pliny. Cunningham identifies it with Rajamahandri while N. L.

Dey identifies it with Puri. Danti being a synonym for Hasti (elephant) later writers have mistaken it for Hastinapur.

द्रविडदेश IV, 1, 4; VIII, 18, 4.

The land of the three kingdoms, Coda, Cera and Pandya. Damirica of Periplus and Damirike of Ptolemy. Acc. to Mbh. Vanaparva, 118, its northern boundary was the Godavari. Later, the southern part of the Peninsula bounded on the north by the Krishna and the Tungabhadra was called as such. It is otherwise known as the Tamil country. It was also called Coda (Vikram. Intro. P. 27 Note)

नालन्द् (°नालंद) X, 10, 9. The most famous seat of Buddhist learning. Fa Hian places the hamlet of Nalo at one yojana or seven miles from the hill of the isolated Rock (Giryeka) and also the same distance from new Rajagriha. It is now identified with Bargaon or Badgaon (Vatagrama or Vihara-grama) which lies seven miles to the north west of Rajagriha in the district of Patna. Excavations carried on at the place have revealed traces of the vast Buddhist monastery.

पाण्ड्य (पण्डि or पण्डिय) IV, 1, 5; VIII,

18, 5. Mentioned in the epics, the Varttikas of Katyayana and the inscriptions of Asoka. Megasthenes refers to Pandoe as the only Indian race ruled by women. The country corresponded roughly to the Madura and Tinnevely districts, Travancore and parts of Coimbatore and Cochin. Its capital was Madura (Mathura or Dakshina Mathura). In the seventh Century A.D. the Pandyas conquered the Cola and Cera territories, but were subdued by the Colas in the middle of the ninth century.

पूरी (सिरि पूरी) V, 4, 6; V, 5, 3. A mountain in the Malaya (Malabar) country on which stood the temple of the 24 Tirthankaras reputed to have been built by the lord of Lanka, a descendant of Ravana, from where the Vidyadharas picked up the image of Parsvanatha on their way to Simhala. It is probably identical with the Podyil hill in the Western Ghats, south of the Palaghat gap and west of Tinnevely (see SIJ.)

प्रतिष्ठान (पट्टण) VI, 9, 2. Going to the Ganges from Kausambi, Naravahanadatta came to this place. So it can not be the Pratisthana on the Godavari. It is probably identical with Jhusi opposite to

Allahabad across the Ganges which is still called Pratisthanapur. It is mentioned in the Mahabharata and the Kurma and Agni Puranas. It was the capital of king Pururavas of the Vikramorvasiyam. Acc. to Ram. Uttara kanda 90, 22, it was founded by king Ila प्रयाग (पयाग) VI, 6, 5; VI, 7, 7. Two Brahmins Madhava and Madhusudana of Muttra go there one after another to terminate their life through sheer disgust. Compare this with the description of the place given by Hiuen Tsang " In the city there is a Deva temple beautifully ornamented and celebrated for its numerous miracles. Before the hall of the temple, there is a great tree with spreading boughs and branches and casting a deep shadow. There was a body-eating demon here who, depending on the custom (of committing suicide) made his abode here. Accordingly, on the left and right one sees heaps of bones. Hence, when a person comes to this temple, there is everything to persuade him to despise his life and give it up; he is encouraged there to, both by promptings of the heretics and also by the seduction of the evil spirit. From very early days till now this very false custom has been practised." Ravishena in his Padma P. III, 281, mentions it as follows:-

प्रयाग इति देशोऽसौ प्रजाभ्योऽस्मिन्नातो यतः ।
प्रकृष्टो वा कृतस्त्यागः प्रयागस्तेन कीर्तितः ॥

It is identical with Allahabad

भरतक्षेत्र (भरहक्षेत्र) I, 3, 3; II, 2, 1; IV, 1, 3; V, 1, 5; X, 1, 7; X, 6, 2. same as Bharata-varsa, by which name India is mentioned in all ancient books.

मलय (विषय) V, 4, 5; V, 5, 4. The Malayalam or Malabar country including Cochin and Travancore, the Malayagiri and the southern part of the Western Ghats. Famous for its sandal. It included the Pudi mountain.

मथुरापुरी (मथुरापुरी) VI, 4, 8; Modern Muttra in U. P. The capital of the ancient Surasena, the habitat of the Sauraseni Prakrit. Hence also called Sauripura. It was the birth-place of Krishna. Many Jain remains have been excavated at Kankali-tila (J. Stupa.) It had trade connections with the south in very ancient times (see stories of Mahilaropya in Panchatautra.)

मेरु I, 16, 3; II, 3, 8; V, 3, 6. A mountain of Pauranic fame, also called Sumeru. Identified with the Rudra-Himalaya in Garhwal where the river Ganges has its source near Badarikashrama (Dey. Geo; Mbh. Santi 335, 336). It is also called Pancha-Parvat, for boundaries of which see Matsya P. 113; Padma P. 128. In sound at least, it agrees with Meros mountain which was ascended by Alexander (Mac Crindle: Invasions of India, P. 338) and which is identified with Marhoh near Jalalabad in the Punjab.

यमुना (जमुना) X, 12, 9 The river Jumna.

रथनूपुर (रथनेतर) V, 2, 1; X, 1, 8. A town in south Vediardha from where came Nila and Mahanila who established themselves at Terapur and excavated the first cave there.

लंका V, 4 5; V, 5, 1 Amitavega and Suvega had to cross the Malaya (Malbar) to reach it. The king of Lanka, a descendant of Ravana had built a Jina temple at Pudi in Malaya. It is described as Trikuta or three peaked in the Ram. Sundara kanda chap. I. It is believed by some to be identical with the present Mantotte in Ceylon. Others think it to be a town now submerged in to the sea (Mutu Coomar Swami's Datha vamsa p. 97). Sardar Kibe has tried to locate it near Amarakantaka in the Central Provinces. Dr. Jacobi located it in Assam, while Mr. V. H. Vader places it some where at the equator (IHQ. II, 345; IV, 339, 694.)

वत्स (वच्छ) VI, 1, 3. The country round about Kausambi which was the capital. King Udayana of classical fame and his son Naravahanadatta of the Kathasarit-sagara and of the present work, belonged to it.

वाणारसि II, 16, 3. Modern Benares in U. P. It is sacred to the Jains being the birthplace of their 7th and 23rd Tirthamkaras. Close to it is Saranath which is so called because it was the birthplace of the 11th Tirthamkara Sreyamsanatha. Benares is one of the most sacred places of the Hindus. It was the capital of Kasi (Ram. Uttarakanda 48) which, at the time of Buddha, formed a part of the Kosala kingdom. According to one account, it was founded by Kasa or Kasiraja, a descendant of Pururavasa king of Pratisthana. It was visited by Huen Tsang who has recorded a description of it.

विजयार्ध (विजयद्वंद्व) II, 2, 1; V, 1, 6; V, 7, 2; VI, 11, 2; VI, 13, 7. A mountain in the north of the Bharata Kshetra, so called because it marks half the conquest of a cakravartin. Same as Vediardha.

विद्याधर पर्वत VI, 10, 3. Same as Vediardha.

विद्युत्प्रभ (विजृम्भ) II, 2, 5. A town in Southern Veditardha.

विन्ध्य (विंक्ष) I, 12, 8; II, 2, 11. The Vindhya mountain. It included Kalinjar, and is said to lie between Andhra and Kalinga.

वेद्यर्ध (वेयड्ड) गिरि V, 3, 9; X, 1, 7. The mountain of the Vidyadharas. According to the Kss, XIV, 3, 65-66, ' On the Himalaya mountain there are two Veditardhas of Vidyadharas, the northern and the southern. On the other side of the Kailasa is the northern Veditardha and on the lower side is the southern Veditardha.' (See Intro.) According to Hemacandra's TSP. Vaitadhyia mountain was 400 miles long touching the rivers Ganges and Sindhu on either side. It was given as dominion to Nami and Vinami by Dharanendra the protecting deity of the first Tirthamkara Adinath. Nami occupied the southern Vaitadhyia and founded fifty cities in it including Jayanti and Rathanupura Cakravala, and Vinami occupied the northern Vaitadhyia and similarly founded another fifty towns.

श्रावस्तीपुरी (श्रावस्थिपुरि) X, 6, 2. Modern Sahet Mahet on the Rapti river in the Gonda district of Oudh. It was the birth-place of the 3rd and 8th Tirthamkaras Sumalinatha and Candraprabha on account of which it is also known amongst the Jains as Candrapuri. It was the capital of Uttara Kosala (Ram. Uttara kanda 121). It was founded by Sravasta the king of the solar race (V P. IV, 2, 13). Rama, when dividing his kingdom, gave it to Lava (Vayu P. Uttara, 26). At the time of Buddha, Prasenjit was the king of Uttara Kosala with his capital at Sravasti. His son Jet built the Jeta vana-vihara close to the town where Buddha resided for 25 years, and out of the 498 Jatakas (birth stories) 416 were told at this place. (Cun. SB. p. 90; Arch. Re I, 330.) Excavations carried on at the place have revealed numerous Jain images mostly of the 11th century. (Arch. Re. 1907-08).

सहस्रकूटभवन V, 8, 9. Name of a temple at Terapur. May refer to the first cave built by Nila and Mahanila which is said to have had a thousand pillars (Sahasa-khambha). On inquiry Mr. Nemchand Balchand Gandhi of Osmanabad wrote to me to say that in Dhara Siva there was a Sahasrakuta-Jina-laya which is now ruined. Some pillars are traceable in the mosques and other buildings of the place. Some images of that temple were lying in the compound of Kazi Mahal, but they have now been removed from there to another house." (Letter dated 11-9-31).

सिंधु I, 3, 3. The river Indus.

सिंहलद्वीप VII, ६, 4. Modern Ceylon. Karakanda visited it, married the daughter of the king of the island and returned by sea.

सुरसरित् III, 9, 4; VI, 9, 1; VIII, 7, 4. The river Ganges.

सौराष्ट्रदेश (सोरठ् देस) III, 5, 6. The peninsula of Gujrat and Kathiawad; the Syrastrène of Ptolemy and Sula-cha of Hiuen Tsang who locates its capital at the foot of Mount Yeuchen-ta (Ujjanta SK. Urjayat.) which is also mentioned in the inscription of Rudradaman and Skanda-gupta. It is, thus, the old city of Junagadh which is the same as Girinagara mentioned by our author as the capital (see गिरिनगर).

हिमवत् गिरि III, 12, 7. The mountain Himalaya where the Ganges has its source.

NOTES

CRITICAL AND EXPLANATORY,

NOTES

After a complete translation and glossary together with indices of personal and geographical names with notes, as well as the material reserved for the Introduction, what remains to be given under this head is elucidation of technical terms of Jaina religion and a discussion of the few difficult and obscure expressions. The necessity of lengthy explanations of technical terms has been avoided by giving full references to standard works.

I.

I, 2, 8. For सिद्धसेन and others mentioned here see Introduction.

I, 2, 5. तरे व्व ई—तरितुम्. See also I, 5, 5 देवए—दातुम्, and वदेव्वई—वधितुम् (दन्तुम्).

I, 3, 7. जहिं हालिणि etc. cf. Nayak. I, 13, 7-8; Jasa. I, 21, 7.

I, 4, 2. It is difficult to say what कउसीस exactly means here. The tippana on the word is कोसीसा which in Hindi is equivalent to कासीस = green vitriol or sulphate of iron. (For construing the line in this sense of the word see translation). We could also dissolve the word as कउसी+सअ = कौशी+सत hundreds of silk (banners). In this sense cf. Jasaharacariu I, 3, 17 ' चलचिधहिं मिलियहिं णहयलि धुलियहिं छिवइ व सगु सयं भुअहिं । But silk banners are separately mentioned further on in line 5. If कउ could be equated with some word meaning a house or mansion then the word could be taken to mean इम्ब+शीर्ष (शिखर) which would suit the context excellently.

I, 4, 10. धाडीवाहन literally means 'leader of an assault' धाटी+वाहन. The name is given as दहिवाहन in Prakrit and दन्तिवाहन in Sanskrit versions of the story. (see Appendices) At one place Subhacandra also gives पात्रीवाह (दन्तिवाहन इत्याद्यो धात्रीवाहापराभिधः II, 38).

Subhacandra goes on to say that Padmavati requested the sage to give her Diksha, the latter refused saying that she had broken a vow three times in her past life as a result of which she had experienced separation from her father, husband and son in this life, and that she would be fit for Diksha when the sin is completely pacified when her son would be crowned king. (For her breaking a vow in her past life, see X, 12, 3).

II, 7, 7. जलमल्लेण विलितगत—Neglecting the body altogether and allowing dirt to settle on it was a form of penance and those ascetics who practised it were given the title of मलधारिन् (see Jaina Silalekha Samgraha, Index.) जल meant perspiration and the dirt settled on it, while मल meant the excretions of the nose, eyes, ears, etc. See प्रतिष्ठापाठ of जयसेन p. 223—

II, 9. Compare similar passages in Jasa. I, 24; Naya. III, 1; Bhavis. II, 2.

II, 15, 2. As the line stands it should be construed as अस्य राज्ञः बर्दिणीर्मासेन निश्चयेन जीवामि (तत्) मह्यं दीयताम् ।

II, 18, 3. For the translation of this line substitute ' Two crimes more I shall still forgive '. Subhacandra's translation is एकोऽयमपराधस्तु क्षान्तो द्वावपराधकौ । सोढव्यौ मयका (? मया) श्रीत्या मंत्रिणोऽस्य सुखेषिणः ॥ IV, 57 .

II, 20, 7. चचरवत्तु has been translated and explained in the glossary as an adjective of गजः It is, however, also possible to take it as an adjective of पट्टन being equivalent to चत्वरवत् full of squares. Subhacandra has—

NOTES

V.

V, 8, 5. परमुद्र एहि has been taken by me as equivalent to परमोत्तुकैः It is also possible to take it as equivalent to पर+मोषकैः = stealing others' property.

V, 10, 3. परोषह is thus defined—

शारीरमानसोत्कृष्टबाधहेतून् क्षुदादिकान् ।

प्रादुरन्तर्बहिर्द्वयपरिणामान् परोषहान् ॥

For exposition of the twenty two Parisahas see अनगर-धर्ममृत of Asadhara VI, 84, onwards

V, 12, 1-2. For the five अणुव्रत, three गुणव्रत and four शिक्षाव्रत, see सावयधम्म दोहा 59-72. The five उदुम्बर are वट, पिप्पल, पर्कर, उदुम्बर and काकोदुम्बर.

V, 12, 4. The Pratimas or stages of a house-holder's religious advancement are eleven, namely, दर्शन, व्रत, सामायिक, प्रोषधोपवास, सचित्तत्याग, रात्रिभोजन-त्याग, ब्रह्मचर्य, आरम्भत्याग, परिग्रहत्याग, अनुमत्तित्याग and उद्दिष्टत्याग. For exposition see सागर-धर्ममृत, अध्याय ३ and onwards.

VI.

VI, 6, 8. सल्लेखना is thus defined in the रत्नकरणश्रावकाचार of समन्तभद्र—

उपसर्गे दुर्भिक्षे जरसि रुजायां च निःप्रतिकारे । धर्माय तनुविमोचनमाहुः सल्लेखनामार्याः ॥ १२२ ॥

अन्तक्रियाधिकरणं तपःफलं सकलदर्शिनःस्तुवते । तस्माद्यावद्विभवं समाधिमरणे प्रयतितव्यम् ॥ १२३ ॥

आलोच्य सर्वमेनः कृतकारितमनुमतं च निर्व्याजम् । आरोपयेन्महाव्रतमामरणस्थायि निश्शेषम् ॥ १२५ ॥

शोकं भयमवसादं क्लेदं कालुष्यमरतिमपि हित्वा । सत्त्वोत्साहमुदीर्य च मनः प्रसाद्य श्रुतैरमृतैः ॥ १२६ ॥

आहारं परिहाप्य क्रमशः स्निग्धं विवर्द्धयेत्पानम् । स्निग्धं च हापयित्वा खरपानं पूरयेत्क्रमशः ॥ १२७ ॥

खरपानहापनामपि कृत्वा कृत्वोपवासमपि शक्यता । पञ्चनमस्कारमनास्तनुं त्यजेत्सर्वयत्नेन ॥ १२८ ॥

निर्दीन or looking forward to the reward of the penitential act is one of the transgressions (अतिचार) of सल्लेखना as—

जीवितमरणाशंसे भयमिदं स्मृतिनिदाननामानः । सल्लेखनातिचाराः पञ्च । भिनेन्द्रैः समादिष्टाः ॥ १२९ ॥

VI, 7, 8. For प्रयाग as the place where people went to end their life prematurely, see Index of Geographical Names, under प्रयाग. Also see अग्नि पुराण, अध्याय १११;

III.

III, 2. Compare this passage with Nayak. V, 8, 10-15.

III, 4, 1. For the history of the bamboos see II, 7-8

III, 7, 7. We could take the whole of the first foot as one compound and make it an adjective of हउं (अरिदुःसह-मोटन-भट-सहायः अदम्). But from the context it does not appear that he was accompanied by any other person.

III, 19, 2. बइसा हधा णु वैशाखस्थानं is an attitude in shooting in which the archer stands with the feet a span apart. Apte: Sans. Eng. Dictionary.

IV.

IV, 1, 4. The three old Dravidian kingdoms of the South are conceived here as still very powerful and forming a confederacy with the Colas at the head.

IV, 12, 4. For the mechanical skill of a सूत्रधार see Mudra rakshasa II p. 130 Telang's edition.

IV, 13, 9. The tippana on सणराल is ' मोरा पाद्माण घालावणु '. Now मोरा or मोरी in Hindi, Marathi and Gujrati means a little channel to carry off water. This suggested me the Sanskrit equivalent सनालीक (see glossary). In Sanskrit नरा means the earth. From this we might interpret सणरालहि पत्थरहि as ' With stones masoned with earth '. नर also means water in Sanskrit.

IV, 17, 1-4. Compare this boast of the Sura, with that of Bhairavananda in Rajasekhara's Karpura-manjiri I, 25—

दंसेमि तं पि ससिणं बसुहावतिष्णं
धम्मेमि तस्स वि रबिस्स रहं णहदे ।
आणेमि जक्खसुरसिद्धगणंगणाओ
तं णत्थि भूमिबलए मह जं ण सज्जम् ॥

VII.

VII, 1, 2. For the sight of an ascetic regarded as an auspicious omen, see श्रीशकुनसारीद्वार by माणिक्यसूरि, प्रकरण २ —

दर्शनं श्वेतभिक्षुणां सर्वोत्तमफलप्रदम् । किं पुनः सूरिसंयुक्तं राजयोगोऽयमुत्तमम् ॥ १० ॥

VII, 5, 4. णि व स मा णु = निवसमानः = or नृपसमानः like ह्यसमाणु in VIII, 12, 2. Karakanda was accompanied by other princes as is clear from VII, 6, 4.

VII, 5, 13. Commenting on उत्तराध्ययनसूत्र V, 8, Devendra tells a short story of a certain shepherd who, during his midday-rest, pierced all the leaves of a nyagrodha tree with his arrows. (Charpentier's edition p. 298). Also see Jacobi's Maharastri Tales, the story of Bamhadatta, and its translation by J. J. Meyer in his Hindu Tales p. 61, where we read "He wandered about in the wood and saw a goatherd who was making holes in the leaves of a fig tree with peastones (by throwing them at the leaves)." From this it appears that this was once a favourite pastime.

VII, 9, 4-5. The measurements of the sea-monster are thus given by शुभचन्द्र in his version—

षष्टियोजनमूतुंगं तदर्धायतिसंगतम् ॥

सप्तषष्टिमहास्फीतयोजनैर्दार्ढ्यतां गतम् ।

निरुध्यान्धि स्थितं मध्ये मेरुबल्लघनातिगम् ॥ ११, १५-१६.

VII, 13. The description of the goddess in this Kadavaka is thus reproduced by Subhacandra:—

कोमलांगी सुलावण्या लीलया सहितामला । ललामलक्षिता कम्पकुण्डलाभ्यां विराजिता ॥ १४२ ॥

सपुस्तककरस्फारभृंगारपरिभूषिता । सुमुणालकरारम्भरक्ताभरणभासुरा ॥ १४३ ॥

किंकिणीकलरावाद्यमेखलामंडितोत्कटा । सनूपुरपदा दिव्या प्रसन्ना गुणमालिका ॥ १४४ ॥

VII, 15. With regard to the practice of capturing husbands which is exemplified in this Kadavaka, I quote the following from ' Tribes and Castes of the Central Provinces' by Russel and Hiralal, Part II, p. 521—

Kolams, a Dravidian tribe residing principally in the Wun taluka of the Yeotmal district of Berar " had the practice of capturing husbands for women who would otherwise have gone unwedded, this being, apparently, a survival of the matriarchate. It does not appear that the husbands so captured were ever unphilosophical enough to rebel under the old regime. "

VIII.

VIII, 5, 5. The word अक्का has been discussed by Mr. A. N. Upadhye in his article ' Kanarese words in Desi lexicons' published in Bhandarkar ORIJ (1931). The word occurs in various languages, Aryan, Dravidian and Scythian, and, according to Dr. Caldwell, " the ultimate base of all these words is probably ' Ak ' old. "

VIII, 5, 13. वले according to Vararuci VIII, 12, is a term of address ' अइवले संभाषणे '.

VIII, 7, 8. I find this line a bit obscure. Subhacandra's version is as follows:—

शतपंचप्रमाः कीरा वयं तस्थिम चोन्नते । अनेकहे सदैकस्मिँल्लभमानाः फलावलिम् ॥ ॥ ३४ ॥
तद्बुधे वद्धिता वल्ली क्षिता म्याता मया शुक्रान् । कृतितुं नैव केनापि छिन्ना सा पक्षिणा पुनः ॥ ३५ ॥
कलेन वद्धितां वल्ली किराता वीक्ष्य चागताः । (सर्ग १२.)

We can get the substance of these lines in the original if we include the additional line of D given by me in the foot notes.

VIII, 16, 1. टकु—an inhabitant of the टकुदेश which embraced the whole of the plains of the Punjab from the Indus to the Bias, and from the foot of the mountains to the junction of the five rivers below Multan. (Cun. Geo. p. 171.)

VIII, 17, 6-8. रत्नावली, मुक्तावली, कुसुमाञ्जलि or पुष्पाञ्जलि, पत्त्योपम, चतुःशास्त्रविधि and

IX

IX, 6. The twelve kadarukas, beginning with the sixth, deal with the twelve Bhavanas or pious thoughts namely अनित्य, अज्ञान, संसार, एकत्व, अन्यत्व, अद्युचित्व, आश्रय, संवर, निर्जरा, लोक, धर्म and बोध. For an exposition of these, also see बारस अणुवेक्खा of Kundakundacarya.

IX, 16, 3. The five vratas are अहिंसा, अचौर्य, सत्य, व्रतचर्य and अपरिग्रह (see IX, 22, 3-8)

IX, 16, 6. The ten characteristics of Dharma are क्षमा, मार्दव, आर्जव, सत्य, शौच, संयम, तपः, त्याग, आकिञ्चन and व्रतचर्य.

IX, 16, 7. The fourteen मार्गणा or soul-quests are गति, इन्द्रिय, काय, योग, वेद, कषाय, ज्ञान, संयम, दर्शन, लेख्या, भयत्व, सम्यक्त्व, संज्ञित्व and आहार. For exposition, see गोम्मटसार, जीवकाण्ड, गाथा १४० onwards.

IX, 16, 8. The fourteen गुणस्थान or spiritual stages are मिथ्यात्व, साधन or साधन, मिथ, अविरत सम्यक्त्व, देशविरत, प्रमत्तविरत, अप्रमत्तविरत, अपूर्वकरण, अनित्यविरत, सूक्ष्म-साम्पराय, उपशान्तमोह, क्षीणमोह, सयोगकेवली and अयोगकेवली. For exposition see गोम्मटसार, जीवकाण्ड गाथा ८-६९.

IX, 20, 3. The two divisions of Dharma are that of the householder and that of the homeless ascetic (साधार and अनगर). see IX, 22.

IX, 20, 9. The four kinds of charity are औपध, शक्य, असय and आहार, (see IX, 23, 4-7), and the three worthy recipients are the sage, the Jaina householder observing vows and one who is faithful but not observing the vows. see सावयपम्मदोहा—

उत्तमपत्तु मुणिदु जगि मज्झिमु सावउ सिहु । अविरयसमाइहि जणु पभाणिउ पत्तु कणिहु ॥ ७९ ॥

IX, 20, 20. The six occupations of life are असि, मषि, कृषि, शिल्प, विद्या and वाणिज्य. The six compulsory daily duties (षड् आवश्यक) of a faithful Jaina householder are देवपूजा, गुरुवास्ति, स्वाध्याय, संयम, तपः and दान

IX, 20, 21. लेख्या or thought-paint is thus defined:

जीवकाण्ड.

They are six कृष्ण, नील, कापोत, पीत, पद्म and शुक्ल of which the first three are regarded अशुभ. For exposition see गोम्मटसार, जीवकाण्ड, गाथा ४८१-५५६.

NOTES

IX, 21, 3. The tattvas are seven जीव, अजीव, आश्रव, बन्ध, संवर, निजैरा and मोक्ष. For exposition in English, see 'Practical Path' by Champat Rai. For the eight qualities of Right Faith, निःशंकित etc., see रत्नकरणश्रावकाचार of समन्तभद्र ११-१८.

IX, 21, 9. The seven व्यसन are enumerated in the following verse:—
 शृतं मांसं सुरा वेदयाखेटं चौर्यं पराङ्मना । महापापानि सप्तानि व्यसनानि त्यजेद् बुधः ॥

IX, 23, 2. ध्यान is of four kinds आर्त, रौद्र धर्म and शुद्ध. Of these the first two produce evil and the last two good—

आर्तरौद्रविकल्पेन दुर्ध्यानं देहिनां द्विधा । द्विधा प्रशस्तमप्युक्तं धर्मशुद्धविकल्पतः । २० ॥
 स्यात् तत्रार्तरौद्रे द्वे दुर्ध्यानेऽत्यन्तदुःखदे । धर्मशुद्धे ततोऽन्ये द्वे कर्मनिर्मूलनक्षमे ॥ २१ ॥ etc.
 ज्ञानार्णव, प्रकरण २५.

IX, 24, 2. The five vows of the ascetics are the same as those of the householders, differing from the latter in their rigour and thoroughness of observance.

IX, 24, 6. Celibacy observed by मनः, वचः, काय, and कृत, कारित, अनुभोदन constitutes the nine kinds of ब्रह्मचर्य.

IX, 24, 7. The two kinds of परिग्रह are अन्तरङ्ग and बहिर्गङ्ग. i. e. the inner passions and material belongings.

IX, 24, 8. The मूलगण of ascetics are twenty-eight, five Mahavratas, five Samitis, five sense-controls, six obligatory duties and seven other observances. For an exposition of these, see मूलचार, अध्याय १.

IX, 24, 9. The number of उत्तरयुग is given as eightyfour lakhs, for a classification of which, see मूलचार, गाथा १०२३ and onwards.

X, 9, 4. There is double-meaning in the second part of the line बहुप्रहैरैः ननु सूर्योऽपि सुप्तः and बहुप्रहैरैः ननु शरोऽपि सुप्तः ।

X, 9, 6. On पुण्णाय (पुत्राया ?) the tippana in S is पुंश्चली स्त्री and in N दुश्चारिणी.

X, 19, 8. I am not sure whether I have interpreted the first foot of this line quite correctly. But I could not find any other meaning which would suit. Subhachandra does not help here. His version is—

यावदास्ते बने रात्रौ भवने देवनिर्मिते । तावत्तत्र स आयासीद्राक्षस्युत्क्षिप्तमत्करा (मत्सरा) ॥

X, 26. In this kadavaka is described the method of celebrating the five kalyanakas गर्भ, जन्म, तपः, ज्ञान and निर्वाण of a Tirthamkara. Subhachandra's version of it is as follows:—

मासे भाद्रपदे कृष्णे प्रोषधः प्रतिपत्तिथौ । गर्भकल्याणकाल्यः स कार्यः सत्कार्यकोविदैः ॥ १११ ॥
 सिद्धचारित्रसच्छांतिभक्तिभिः क्रियसक्रिया (?) । तद्दिने मुनिभिर्मुक्त्यै महद्भिर्निर्मलाशयैः ॥ ११२ ॥

TRANSLATION.

Once upon a time when Brahmadatta was reigning in Benares, the Bodhisatta was born in a potter's family in a suburb of Benares : when he grew up he became a householder, had a son and daughter, and supported his wife and children by his potter's handicraft. At that time in the Kalinga kingdom, in the city of Dantapura, the king named Karandu, going to his garden with a great retinue, saw at the garden-gate a mango tree laden with sweet fruit: he stretched out his hand from his seat on the elephant and seized a bunch of mangoes: then entering the garden he sat on the royal seat and ate a mango, giving some to those worthy of favours. From the time when the king took one, ministers, brahmins and householders, thinking that others should also do so, took down and ate mangoes from that tree. Coming again and again they climbed the tree, and beating it with clubs and breaking the branches down and off, they ate the fruit, not leaving even the unripe. The king amused himself in the garden for the day, and at evening as he came by on the royal elephant he dismounted on seeing the tree, and going to its root he looked up and thought, " In the morning this tree stood beautiful with its burden of fruit and the grazers could not be satisfied: now it stands not beautiful with its fruit broken down and off." Again looking from another place he saw another mango tree barren, and thought, " This mango tree stands beautiful in its barrenness like a bare mountain of jewels; the other from its fruitfulness fell into that misfortune: the householder's life is like a fruitful tree, the religious life like a barren tree: I too would be like the barren tree." So taking the fruit-tree as his subject, he stood at the root; and considering the three (impermanence, suffering, unreality) properties and perfecting spiritual insight, he attained pacceka-buddhahood, and reflecting " the envelope of womb is now fallen from me, rebirth in the three existences is ended, the filth of transmigration is cleansed, the ocean of tears dried up, the wall of bones broken down, there is no more rebirth for me," he stood as if adorned with every ornament. Then his ministers said, " You stand too long, O Great King ! " " I am not a King, I am a Pacceka-buddha." " Pacceka-buddhas are not like you, O king. " Then what are they like ? " " Their hair and beards are shaved, they are dressed in yellow robes, they are not attached to family or tribe, they are like clouds torn by wind or the moon's orb freed from Rahu, and they dwell on Himalaya in the Nandamūla cave; such, O king, are the paccekabuddhas. ' At that moment the king threw up his hand and touched his head, and instantly the marks of a householder disappeared, and the marks of a priest came into view:—

Three robes, bowl, razor, needles, strainer, zone,
A pious brother those right marks should own.

The requisites, as they are called, of a priest became attached to his body. Standing in the air he preached to the multitude, and then went through the sky to the mountain cave Nandamula in the upper Himalaya.

Kalinga's king Karanḍu, Gandhara's Naggai, Pancala's ruler Durmukha, Videha's great Nimi,
Have left thrones and lived the life of Brothers sinlessly.

Here the godlike forms they show
Each one like a blazing fire:
Bhaggavi, I too will go,
Leaving all that men desire.

Here Karakandu. In the city of Campā there reigned a king, Dahivāhana. His queen was Paumāvai, the daughter of Cedaga. One day this longing of a pregnant woman came upon her: "How can I divert myself riding through the parks and groves on the most excellent back of an elephant, attired in the costume of the king, having the royal parasol held over me by the great king?" She became sick and was questioned by the king. She told him matters as they were. Then the king and she mounted his elephant of victory, the king held the royal parasol, she went to the park. It was then the beginning of the rainy season. When the elephant was touched by the odour of the fragrant-smelling earth he remembered the woods and went out of the path. The people could not keep up with him. The two entered the woods. And the elephant started towards the woods and went out of the path. The people could not keep up with him. The two entered the woods. The king saw a fig tree. He said to the queen: "He will pass under that fig tree; then you are to take hold of a bough." She promised but could not take hold. The king was prompt, he seized the bough. Joyless he descended, and perplexed as to what to do he went to Campā.

And this Paumavai was carried into a desolate wood. When the elephant was thirsty he saw a lake which had a very great basin. Then he descended to it and amused himself. But she softly dismounted from the elephant and ascended from the pond. She did not know the directions, affrighted with fear she looked at the wood on all sides. Then overpowered with distress, she began to weep: "Alas for the issue of one's acts (in a former existence), since all unexpected I have fallen into such a disaster? Now what shall I do? What refuge is there for me?" In a moment she gathered strength of mind and reflected: "One doesn't know something might happen in this dreadful wood swarming with many, many, vicious, wild beasts. Therefore I shall be careful." Thereupon she made the fourfold refuge her protection, repented of her sins, asked the forgiveness of the whole host of living beings, and engaged in abstinence from delicate food.

APPENDIX B.

" If any carelessness be mine with regard to this body and this time, I have now renounced food, the clinging to the world, and the body. Then the fivefold formula of worship is my refuge, for that brings welfare in this world and the next. And it is said :

" Dangers from disease, water, fire, robbers, lions, elephants, fights, and poisonous snakes vanish instantly by the supreme charm which consists of the formula of worship. And no danger from female imp, vampire, goblin, or Lamia prevails against it. And by the power of the formula of worship all calamities vanish. Thus it is said : " The assault of the elephant, the eight fetters of karma on those in whose innermost hearts continually abides the lion ' formula of worship ', is frustrated."

Then remembering the formula of worship she pushed ahead in one direction. When she had gone far, she saw an ascetic. To his feet she went. She saluted him. He asked her : " Whence have you come here, good lady ? " Then she related : " I am the daughter of Cedaga and have just now been brought here by an elephant. " And that ascetic was one of Cedaga's own subjects. He comforted her : " Do not grieve. Just such is this unsubstantial samsāra, the cause of union and separation, full of birth, death, disease, and sorrow. " With the fruits of the forest he made her sustain life against her own will, took her to his hermitage, and said to her : " From here on, the ground is tilled with the plough; we do not set foot on it. This is the territory of Dantapur; and Dantavakkha is king here. Therefore go you fearless into this town; from here again set forth most cheerfully to Campā. " The ascetic returned. The other entered Dantapura. She went enquiring for a Jaina convent of nuns. She saluted the lady superior. She was questioned : " Whence comes the lady disciple ? " She told how matters stood. Crying bitterly, she was comforted a little by the superioress. " Illustrious lady, do not give way to distress of mind. The development of one's fate can not be averted. For :

" As we know, it tears apart even what is united, and some things it unites although they are separated. Extremely dexterous is this fate in working weal and woe for beings. And, there is no happiness in the samsāra, where greatness is seen one moment and disappears the next, where various pleasures and sorrows change in a moment, where union and separation are only matters of a moment. Because this samsāra is a storehouse of manifold sorrows, just for that reasonwise men here betake themselves to the path of final beatitude. "

Bing comforted in such and similar manner she was stirred to the depths of her soul and renounced the world on the spot in their convent. And although she was asked at her consecration, she did not tell of her pregnancy, for fear they might not grant (her ordination). Later, when the matter was found out she told the truth to the abbess. Being kept in concealment she gave birth to a child and exposed it in the cemetery, together with a ring bearing a name and a jewel of a blanket. And afterwards the child was taken by the guardian of the cemetery and handed over to his wife. They named the boy Avakinnaya (Castaway). And this noble lady became a friend of this Candala woman. And this noble lady was questioned by the nuns : " Where is your child ? " She said : " It was stillborn and therefore left (in the cemetery) by me. " The boy grew up there. He played with the boys. He said to the children there : " I am your king: pay me taxes. " He was seized with the dry scab. He said to them : " Scratch me. " Then they gave him the name of Karakandu. And he was very fond of this nun. And she gave him sweetmeats or whatever delicate alms she obtained.

When he had grown up he guarded the cemetery. For some reason two ascetics passed by there. At once they saw at one place a stick in a coppice. One of them knew the signs of sticks as follows: A stick with one joint they praise; those with two joints cause quarrel; those with three joints are fraught with profit; those with four joints entail death. A staff that is five-jointed wards off quarrel on the way; a six-jointed one is disease; a seven-jointed health. A stick that has a base of four finger's breadth and rises half a finger's breadth and has seven joints wards off mad elephants. A staff of eight joints is failure, one of nine productive of fame, but one of ten joints truly is all prosperity. A stick that is crooked, worm-eaten and spotted and bunched and burned and dried up at the top is to be carefully avoided. Having massive joints, shining with colour, and of one colour, a staff provided with such marks is to be considered an excellent staff. "

Thereupon he said : " He who will take this staff will be king. But one must wait for it till it grows four inches more: then it is serviceable. " This was heard by that Candala lad and by a Brahman. Then that Brahman dug out the four inches of the staff that had not yet shot up (out of the ground) and cut the staff. And that lad saw him and snatched it away from him. He was taken before the Court by that Brahman. He said: " Give me my stick. " He answered: " It has grown on my cemetery; therefore I will not give it. " The Brahman said: " Take another. " He did not want to. The boy did not give it. The boy was asked by them: " Why do you not give it ? " And he said: " By the power of this stick I shall be king. " Then the people of the Court laughed and said: " When you do come to be king, then you shall give this Brahman a village." He agreed. The Brahman spoke to other Brahmans as follows: "Let us kill him and take the stick." That was heard by his father. The three fled and straightway went to Kancanapura. There the king had died sonless. The deputed horse came to Karakandu's feet while he slept outside (of the city), circumambulated him with its right side turned towards him, and stood still. In the meanwhile the people of the city saw with great respect that he was endowed with the marks (of a king), the cry of "Victory" was raised and the drum of rejoicing beaten. But he got up yawning. With perfect composure he sat on the horse and was taken into the city. "He is a Candala", said the Brahmans and would not grant him entrance. Then he seized the jewel of a staff. It began to blaze. They were terrified. Then he made the Candalas of Vādahāna Brahmans. And the saying arose: By king Karakandu, the son of Dahiāvhana, the Candalas who lived in Vādahāna were made Brahmans. And they too disregarded the name given him: at home, Avakinnaga, and established the name given him by the Candala boys, Karakandu.

Then that Brahman came: "Give me the village." "Take the one that pleases you." He said: "My home is in Campa; therefore give it to me in her territory." Then he gave him a letter to Dahivahana: "Give this Brahman a village. I shall give you any village or city that pleases you." He was enraged: "The wicked Candala does not know his own self." The messenger returned and reported this. Karakandu was incensed. He besieged Campa; fighting was going on. Then the nun heard of it. Saying: "Let there be no destruction of people", she took leave of the abbess and went to the city. She took Karakandu aside and disclosed the secret to him: "He is your father." He questioned his mother and his father. They told him the real state of affairs. From pride he did not march away. Then she repaired to Campa, went into the king's house, she was recognized, the female servants fell down at her feet and wept. The king too heard of it; he too came, greeted her respectfully, gave her a seat, and enquired about her child. She said: "It is he by whom the city is besieged." Delighted, he went out and had a meeting with him. Giving him both the kingdoms Dahivahana renounced the world. And Karakandu became a mighty monarch.

Now he was very fond of herds of cattle. In the meanwhile, at the time of autumn, he saw a bull calf, strong-limbed and white. He said: "Do not milk the mother of this one. When he has grown, then let him drink the milk of other cows." The cowherds promised. When his horns had come out and he had become a powerful bull, the king saw him. He became solely intent on fighting. Again in the course of time the king came and saw a big-bodied, old, bull that was being harassed on all sides by the young bulls. He asked the cowherds: "Where is that bull?" They pointed him out in such a condition. And they said: "This very same bull here, by the sound of whose lowing in the middle of the yard of the cowpen even all the proud, overbearing bulls with very sharp horns were subdued, now suffers being harassed on all sides by the young bulls as his pride has departed on account of old age, his eyes drip and his distorted lip quivers."

When the king saw him in such a plight he fell into despondency. He pondered on transitoriness: "Alas, this bull who was such a splendid fellow has now come to this? So all subjects in the Samsāra are short-lived. For thus it is "Wealth, which is indeed the basis of enjoyment and the cause of great delusion, is impermanent." And it has been said: "Perishable by its very nature is wealth, evanescent as the rainbow, unstable as the streak of lightning, like unto dust that clings to the feet. Riches the thieves rob, the princes snatch away, the Vyantara demons hide, the kinsmen seize. Fire burns every thing, a deluge of water destroys it and angry Yama (the god of Death) is engaged in carrying off all. Likewise union with beloved people, the cause of supreme joy, is transitory. How so? As many birds meet in the evening on a tree, as travellers, who come from other countries (meet) in a traveller's lodging house and in the morning all go away, every one in a different direction, so also the many beings that have come together in one family home, at the time of the blow of death, all go in different directions, accompanied by their karma, to births as men, gods, animals and other beings. A man strolls along the streets of the city, wanton and heedless, engaged in crushing and pushing, surrounded by many men. That same resplendent man, who perishes in a moment, is soon, dried up by old age and disease, that thus make him a goblin. Likewise, in the womb during birth, in childhood, in youth, in old age, in all states, living beings go to pieces like earthenware vessels."

Reflecting in such and similar manner he experienced the spiritual awakening he became a pratyekabuddha. Having torn out his hair in five handfuls, and having been presented by a deity with the distinguishing tokens of a monk, he wandered about. And the saying arose: Having seen the white, noble bull with wellformed horns, in the middle of the cowpen, the king of Kalinga saw prosperity and ruin and perceived the true religion.
